'You just can't stop the winds of change'

Selkirk's longest standing MLA loses seat to PC candidate

By Lindsey Enns and Dave Baxter

Selkirk's longest-standing MLA was unable to withstand the winds of change that whipped through Manitoba on Tuesday night.

After 26 years, NDP MLA Greg Dewar lost his seat to Manitoba PC candidate Alan Lagimodiere who also beat out Liberal candidate Stefan Jones to come out on top during Tuesday night's provincial election.

Lagimodiere got a total of 3,587 votes, while Dewar had 1,803, and Jones took 1,085, according to poll results late Tuesday night.

"I'm excited, ecstatic and honoured," Lagimodiere said while surrounded by family members and supporters at the Selkirk Golf and Country Club on Tuesday night."I am very proud of my campaign and my team because they helped pull it together for me."

It was a huge night for the Manitoba PCs, taking a majority government, and ending 16 years of NDP rule in Manitoba.

During his "door knocking" Lagimodiere said he had heard from many in the Selkirk constituency that "Manitoba was ready for change."

"Now we're going for a brighter future for Selkirk," he said.

Dewar, who has served as Selkirk's MLA since 1990, said he was proud of his campaign team and is looking forward to starting a new chapter in his life.

"We thought we would do better, we thought we ran a good campaign," Dewar said shortly after thanking his family members and supporters at his campaign headquarters along Selkirk's Manitoba Avenue on Tuesday night. "Ultimately there's a wind of change happening across the province and we were captured in that.

"Sometimes you just can't stop the winds of change."

Dewar congratulated Lagimodiere and said it's "been a great honour" to represent the Selkirk riding for 26 years.

Dewar said "it's too early to say" what he has planned now.

"Right now I'm just going to sort of take some time off and we all need to decompress from the campaign."

Dewar said although he heard at the door that the NDP's PST increase hurt the party, he said he still supports it.

"It was the right thing to do, it allowed us to invest in infrastructure," he said.

"We have a great record of accomplishment and I'm proud of that record," he said.

Dewar said he will miss all of the people he has met and worked with over the years and said he was "glad that he ran."

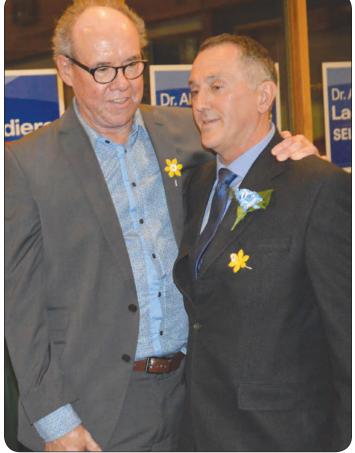

"I certainly enjoyed the position ... most of all I'll miss the people I met along the way."

Now, at the age of 60, Dewar confirmed he has no plans to run again.

"It's certainly not my intention to run again, no."

Dewar won his first race in 1990, at the age of 35 and then went on to win another five elections in Selkirk.

election, but in November of 2014 the so-called 'rebel five' ministers demanded Premier Greg Selinger resign, after saying they had lost confidence in his ability to lead.

Later all five of those ministers resigned after Selinger refused to step down, and Dewar was named finance minister, replacing Jennifer Howard.

Dewar showed up at Lagimodiere's headquarters to personally congratulate him on his victory on Tuesday night.

Lagimodiere was named PC candidate for Selkirk back in February, following the party's ousting of David Horbas, who originally defeated Lagimodiere for the Selkirk nomination in November of 2014.

Lagimodiere spent 30 years running a veterinary practice in Selkirk, and said his skills and the reputation he built up during his career are what he can "carry over into the politic arena."

Incumbent PC candidate Ron Schuler, who has sat as a provincial MLA since 1999, won another term as MLA for St. Paul Tuesday night, beating out NDP candidate Andrew Podolecki, and Liberal candidate Pete Sander-

Marking a milestone

Community gears up to celebrate Knox Presbyterian Church's 140th anniversary

By Lindsey Enns

Nestled behind a large evergreen tree along Eveline Street stands Selkirk's oldest church.

Knox Presbyterian Church members along with their friends and family members are gearing up to celebrate the church's 140th anniversary next month.

The church's minister Anthon Bouw and his wife Jaime were married at the historic site at 341 Eveline St. in 1979 and are looking forward to marking this milestone.

"I think we're alive and kicking," Jaime said, adding the church continues to be involved with various events and organizations within the community. "The church still has a place in Selkirk and it's committed to putting things out there ... and I think that just says we're alive and kicking and up to the challenge."

Knox will celebrate its big anniversary over a three-day period starting on Friday, May 6 with a wine and cheese gathering at Knox Centre from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

On Saturday, May 7 there will be an anniversary high tea and vintage fashion show put on by the Costume Museum of Canada. This event will take place inside the Comp's cafeteria. Doors will open at 1 p.m. and the high tea will start at 1:30 p.m. followed by the fashion show.

Anna Badenhorst and her daughter Jana of Ubuntu Café and Bakery are catering the tea and Lesli Malegus of Marlin Travel is sponsoring the fashion show.

Sharon Moolchan, a member of the church for about 25 years and the organizer behind the high tea and fashion show, said she got the idea for a historical fashion review from a Winnipeg church's anniversary celebration.

"I was just really impressed," Moolchan said. "The organizers of that fashion show were able to touch on periods of time when that church was active ... and show how ladies would come to church dressed on Easter Sunday."

The three-day celebration will wrap up on Sunday, May 8 with a worship service at the church beginning at 10:30 a.m. Special music and memories of the church will be shared during the service and after the service lunch will be served at the Gilbart Reception Centre and will be catered by Mary-Jane Feeke of Benjamin's Gourmet Foods.

Don Gowryluk, Knox member and the anniversary ticket chair, said they have members from across western Canada attending the events and some rooms have been set aside at the Canalta Hotel.

"Now we're opening it up to the public," Gowryluk said. "The fashion show will interest a lot of people in town here as well as the Sunday service."

Tickets for all three events can be purchased starting Wednesday, Apr. 20 and range from $35 to $10 depending on the event. All of the funds will help cover the costs of the events and anything left over will go back into the church, organizers said.

For tickets and more information contact Don Gowryluk directly at 204-482-3716 or via email at dndgowryluk@mymts.net.

erected on the west side of the property, according to the Manitoba Historical Society.

In 1903, architect Samuel Hooper drew up plans for a new church building, which also incorporated the old one. Construction for that building began in June 1904 and the church was in use by the end of that year.

Among the original features the church is known for are its stained glass windows by artist Leo Mol.

The two windows in the choir loft are dedicated to Clifford Morrison and were designed by Mol. One window depicts the story of Daniel and the Lions, which was one of Morrison's favourite hymns. The other window depicts a choir of angels to symbolize his love for singing in the choir. Both windows were installed on Apr. 29, 1962.

The windows, which line the hallway to the minister's office, are from the original 1880 church. The church's interior woodwork, pews, bell tower and spire are also all original.

Along with some upgrades to the building, Anthon said since 2008, the church has made some changes to its traditional worship style.

"We're using overhead projectors now and the minister comes to church in blue jeans," he said with a smile. "It's more invitational."

The church currently has around 136 members, which are mainly from the Selkirk area, but attendance is about half of that for their Sunday service, Anthon said.

"The struggle is I think in our society is to make nurturing a soul a high enough priority," he said. "It's interesting that in consumer society that is so dissatisfied because we can never get enough that people don't recognize that it's a different hunger that they need to feed."

Former St. Andrews club treasurer faces theft charges

RCMP have charged Sharon Wasny with theft over $5K, falsifying documents

Bv Austin Grabish

RCMP have charged a former St. Andrews Community Club volunteer with fraud after finishing an 11-month investigation that spanned back more than a decade.

Court records obtained by the Record on Monday morning show Sharon Wasny of St. Andrews has been charged with theft over $5,000 and falsifying documents.

Police arrested Wasny last Friday.

Wasny, 53, is the former St. Andrews Community Club's treasurer, current board member of Selkirk and District Handi-Bus, and president of SMW Accounting Inc.

She is presumed innocent and none of the charges have been proven in court.

Selkirk RCMP Cst. Paul Human said police believe several hundred thousand dollars were stolen from the community club during Wasny's tenure as club treasurer.

"They were losing money (and) they should be making money," said Human, who said he couldn't give an exact dollar figure of the alleged fraud.

Court records show Wasny's alleged offences occurred between January 2005 and July 2012.

As the Record reported last year, fraud investigators with the RCMP started investigating alleged financial irregularities at the club last May.

Volunteers with the community club say they were unable to complete financial reports for the 2011 and 2012 fiscal years and couldn't account for how roughly $90,000 in credit card purchases that were made in 2012 alone.

"There was lots missing," said club president Kurt Procter when reached by phone Monday.

In 2013, alarm bells went off at the club after Manitoba Hydro phoned threatening to cut the power to the club after the building's utility bills had gone unpaid.

Human said RCMP investigators aren't currently investigating allegations of financial irregularities within the Selkirk and District Handi-Bus organization, but that could change. "Very likely from this case other doors will be open," he said.

The Motor Transportation Board shut down Handi-Bus in January after a joint funding cut to the organization by the City of Selkirk, and RM of St. Clements and St. Andrews.

The move came after the three municipalities stopped funding Handi-Bus after allegations of financial mismanagement were raised.

The organization's board maintains it's done nothing wrong and has hired a lawyer to address the allegations.

The Record's attempts to contact Wasny went unreturned on Monday.

Wasny has been released on a promise to appear in court and is scheduled to appear in Selkirk court on May 27.

Selkirk senior sounds alarm over possible telephone scam

By Dave Baxter

A Selkirk senior is warning residents about a telephone scam making its way into Selkirk and across Manitoba.

Robert, who lives in Selkirk but did not want to give his last name, said he got a phone call last week from a person who claimed they were from Revenue Canada and that he owed money on his income taxes.

He said the person who called used "threatening language," claiming they would send a collection agency to his house, or put a lien on his house if he didn't give them his credit card information immediately.

"I'm a senior in my late 60's and I got enough smarts to figure out what was going on, but at first it scared the heck out of me," Robert said. "I just want to let people know, because I would hate to see someone fall for it, or see a senior fall for this and lose their money.

"They are targeting everyone, and it's very threatening phone calls."

Robert said the person on the phone spoke quickly and tried to get him to hand over information quickly.

He said he believes if they talk fast they can get someone to do whatever they ask without even having time to think about what is going on.

When Robert called Selkirk RCMP he said they told him they had 10 reports of similar phone calls last week.

Selkirk RCMP spokesperson Cst. Paul

Human said the only way Revenue Canada contacts people is via mail so anyone calling on the phone saying otherwise is likely trying to pull off a scam.

"It is very likely fraud," Human said.
"The only time tax people get a hold of us for any reason, they do it by sending you a letter."

Human said phone fraudsters typically talk quickly and threaten as a way to get people scared into handing over money or personal information.

"If someone calls you, you should never give any personal financial information over the phone ever," Human said.

Human said anyone that receives what they believe is a fraudulent phone call can call Selkirk RCMP at (204) 482-1222, or the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre at 1-888-495-8501.

New LED fixtures at the Comp set to save school division $40K annually

By Lindsey Enns

The Lord Selkirk School Division is embarking on a $200,000 lighting project to help transform the Comp into a more energy efficient building.

St. Andrews Electrical has been tasked with removing 1,900 lights at the Comp and replacing them with 900 Light Emitting Diode (LED) fixtures.

LSSD Supt. Scott Kwasnitza said the massive project is estimated at around $200,000. The school division will cover half of the cost while the other half will come from Manitoba Hydro PowerSmart incentives.

Kwasnitza said $100,000 was set aside as part of their 2016-17 budget and he predicts they will make it back in less than three years through energy savings.

He added with this project alone they estimate their annual savings will be around $40,000.

"This is obviously a huge project, this is our biggest school and this is probably the biggest project that we're going to undertake as a PowerSmart incentive," Kwasnitza said in an earlier interview with the Record."As you can imagine, it's going to take a while."

Kwasnitza said the project started in mid-March and he hopes to eventually switch over other schools throughout the division.

"Wherever we can retrofit and be more energy efficient and be more responsible in terms of stainability we're going to do that and certainly having the ability to access PowerSmart incentives is a wonderful thing for us," he said. "We're always looking at ways to reduce that energy use and our carbon footprint.

"WE TAKE PRIDE IN BEING AS GREEN AS WE CAN."

"We take pride in being as green as we can ... and this is one great example of how we're being energy efficient and we're also saving a ton of money as a result."

Kwasnitza said the division has been involved with PowerSmart incentives for a long time.

As part of their past energy saving projects, from 2003 to 2014 the division has dropped their kilowatt usage by nearly one million kilowatts. Over that 11-year period, the division has saved $624,000 through PowerSmart incentives, he said.

Kwasnitza added they aren't the only school division taking advantage of this program in Manitoba.

"Every school division is involved in some shape or form ... to the extent in which they do it is determined by their budget."

Kwasnitza said the Comp was built sometime in the early 1970's and some of the lights are likely originals.

"So you're looking at lights that are 40 plus years old,"he said, adding they aren't nearly as energy efficient as the news ones they are installing.

In an email to the Record, John Geall of St. Andrews Electrical said the local school division "is really making a huge effort to lower its carbon footprint with making the switch to LED lights."

"This is now the fourth project we

Drug trafficking investigation leads to 2 arrests

A Selkirk man and Winnipeg woman have been arrested following a drug trafficking investigation in Selkirk.

In a release on Monday, Selkirk RCMP stated that on March 20, 2016 at about 9:00 p.m. members of the Selkirk RCMP and Selkirk Child and Family services attended a residence on Sophia Street in Selkirk.

"The investigation revolved around the abuse of prescription drugs and the welfare of a young child in the residence," the release stated. "With a child being involved the assistance of Child and Family services was requested."

RCMP found two adults and one child inside the residence.

A 34-year-old male from Selkirk and a 26-yearold female from Winnipeg were arrested for possession of drugs for the purpose of traffick-

A one-year-old girl was removed from the residence by Child and Family services as the residence was deemed unsafe for children.

Session aims to help adults deal with childhood anxiety

By Dave Baxter

An upcoming event in Selkirk will teach adults about ways to help children living with anxiety.

Family Connections and Nova House Inc. have teamed up to host the Fears, Doubts, Blues, and Pouts Lunch and Learn at Selkirk United Church 202 McLean Ave. on Tuesday, Apr. 26.

The session will focus on helping parents, caregivers and other adults deal with childhood anxiety.

Children who deal with anxiety or panic attacks often don't understand what is happening to them and that is why it's important for parents to be able to help them, Pazdzierski said.

Although mental illness issues and anxiety can be passed on through family, Pazdzierksi said children deal with these issues for many reasons.

"It can be a combination of all kinds of things," she said. "If adults have it their kids are more likely to, but that's not necessarily the reason."

Where was the election forum advertised?

I was very surprised at the article "Low turnout upsets candidates at West St. Paul" forum in the April 14th, 2016 edition of The Selkirk Record.

I knew nothing about this forum, even though Sheri Skalesky (Selkirk Biz executive director) said "the event was advertised for months."

My husband and I receive both the Selkirk Record and the Selkirk Journal and we read them.

We also get regular newsletters from the RM of West St. Paul, both in paper and email form.

We don't recall any advertising of this event. There are also community notices posted by our mailboxes and we also receive notices (by email and on paper) from Sunova Centre.

There was no mention of the forum to our best recollection. If the event was advertised "months" ago, perhaps it was advertised too soon in the aftermath of the federal election and a more current reminder would have brought more citizens out to the event.

I take issue with the explanation that "some snowflakes on the ground" kept people away.

Church members hit the stage for comedy production

Shows to benefit Selkirk United Church

By Dave Baxter

Local actors and actresses are pulling out their knickers for a comedy production this week in Selkirk.

The Selkirk United Church will put on four shows of the comedy production "Knickers" at the Comp starting on Wednesday, Apr. 20.

The show on Wednesday is $15 and doesn't feature a dessert, but shows on Apr. 22 and Apr. 23, at 7 p.m., and Apr. 24 at 2 p.m. are $20 and feature "cheesecakes and decadent desserts."

Canadian playwright Sarah Quick wrote the comedy, which takes place in a small Northern Ontario town.

Selkirk United Church member and "Knickers" director Pat Bird said the show features lots of "British references and humour."

"The town loses their paper mill and it becomes a crisis with unemployed and underemployed people," Bird said. "A tourism expert comes up with an idea to sell custom knickers, and everyone in the town has a role they can play."

The amount of big and small roles in the play is giving lots of church members a chance to get on stage, some for

"This is our 15th year of doing a play and we are finding more and more community members are looking for opportunities, so we are happy to do community and area members the chance to perform for the first time.

"They are usually terrified and then once they get off the stage they want to do it again next year."

Selkirk United Church allows notfor-profit groups to use their space for free, so Bird said the funds made from the shows will go back into the church.

"What we want to do is operate our church, but also share it with others."

She said they typically do a comedy production fundraiser because they want to make it a"fun evening."

"We have a faithful following but lately with word-of-mouth we have more people coming out."

First cases of Zika virus confirmed in Manitoba

The first two cases of Zika virus have been confirmed in Manitoba.

Both individuals recently travelled to an area affected by the current outbreak.

The current overall risk to Manitobans is very low as the species of mosquitoes that can carry the virus are unable to survive the cool weather in Manitoba or Canada, according to Manitoba Health, Healthy Living and Seniors (MHHLS).

Travellers to areas affected by the current outbreak and those areas at risk of an outbreak can protect themselves against Zika virus by taking individual protective measures to prevent mosquito bites including using insect repellent, wearing protective clothing, using mosquito nets, and ensuring that doors and windows are screened.

It is recommended that pregnant women avoid travel to areas with a current Zika virus outbreak or areas at risk of an outbreak. If travel cannot be postponed, then strict mosquito bite prevention measures should be followed to protect themselves against bites.

As research continues regarding the potential role of sexual transmission of Zika virus, caution is strongly recommended. Women should avoid becoming pregnant during travel to an affected area by the current Zika virus outbreak or an area at risk, and for two months after return from these areas. It is recommended that men returning from an affected area or an area at risk, who show symptoms or are diagnosed with Zika virus consider using condoms or not having sex for at least six months after symptoms begin.

Dip netting, bow fishing till mid-May

Welcome back friends.

Even though fishing is stopped until May 14, dip netting and bow fishing for certain fish goes on all year long. Let's experience this activity because in the spring, with thousands of ditches and creeks throughout Manitoba filled with suckers, folks like to dip net them for canning.

Old red's windshield wipers were hard put to clear the slapping rain last weekend as I drove westward on Highway 415 to Shoal Lake, a mecca for netters and bow fishers.

The rushing waters in the wide ditches on either side of the road were full of suckers rolling over each other. I saw a fellow in a sideways stance down beside the water aiming a compound bow with a spooled cord attached to an arrow. I stopped the truck and quietly slipped down the ditch slope to his side as he shot. The twang of the bow string rang out as the arrow split the water. Waves and muddy silt boiled as the archer drew in his cord with a large sucker on the end of the arrow. Then this spritely young chap turned to me with a big smile saying, "hi Arnie, remember me, we met on the Red River by Selkirk three months ago."

Looking at his face, it came back to me; this was Kenton Funt from Pansy, Manitoba. As we chatted, Kens' eyes darted between me and the dark wavy lines of fish beneath the water. Knowing he wanted to get back to his unique combined pleasure of fishing and archery I left him to his fun and drove further west.

In a shallower ditch I came across a chap who was doing something quite unusual. I pulled over and watched as he dragged his net in the water against the current. Then he saw a sucker swimming ahead of him and tossed a stone further upstream of it. The plopping sound turned the fish around right into his net. I got out of my truck and jokingly called out,"that was pretty smart fishing".

Our new fishing brother, Jeremy Wolf of Winnipeg said that he had gotten that tip from a cattleman who also liked dip netting. We talked of the best dipping spots here, our faces dripping with cold rain, then I said goodbye and drove on to within sight of the lake.

The ditches here opened up into a grassy clogged, wide, shallow channel. I saw three men in "slicks" with dip nets about to go into the water. I approached them for a quick talk. These guys, Sam Bennet and Shawn Reimer were from Steinbach while buddy Athen Heibert was from Blumenort. They said this was their favorite yearly trip. The catch was enjoyable and the ladies at home canned the suckers with a special recipe. I watched with interest this teams' dipping method as Sam spotted himself upstream facing the other two who had entered the water maybe a dozen car lengths downstream. As Shawn and Athen held their nets like hockey goalie sticks, Sam walked toward them disturbing the undergrowth and driving the fish to the nets. I heard Sam call out, "I can feel the suckers bumping against my legs." Drive them he did, because he hadn't even reached his buddies when the nets were so full they knew they couldn't lift them. They let some fish go and struggled up the embankment with the nets full of writhing captured fish pouring them onto the musty grass. Then they went for more.

Now let me take you back to ice fishing for a moment on Lake Winnipeg north of Belair. I remember a local by the name of Lindsay Horrox who told me of a guy who was frantic having got stuck with little kids in the truck. Lindsay went home and got the guys in his family who went back and got him out. A week later back on the ice in the same place, the same guy came around trying to find his good Samaritan. Lindsay saw him and went over to him identifying himself whereupon the guy gave him an expensive Christmas gift and a grateful handshake. Anglers, summer or winter, we help each other out.

So long for now-see next week.

'We need to be recognized as a Métis nation'

Local woman has 'mixed feelings' after Supreme Court rules to back Métis rights

By Lindsey Enns

A local Métis woman says she has "mixed feelings" following last week's Supreme Court of Canada's decision that Métis and non-status Indians now fall under the federal government's responsibility.

"When we talk about becoming status that means we would fall under the jurisdiction of the Indian Act ... and that puts a lot of limitations on us," Jacqueline Bercier said. "As a Métis woman with this ruling ... I don't want it where I have to assimilate to what the federal government wants us to do.

"I believe that we need to be recognized as a Métis nation ... I don't want to be attached to that Indian Act at all."

Last Thursday Canada's top court ruled that non-status Indians and Métis are now considered Indians under Section 91(24) of the 1867 Constitutional Act.

The ruling extends the federal government's responsibilities to approximately 200,000 Métis and 400,000 nonstatus Indians in Canada who are not affiliated with specific reserves.

The landmark case dubbed "Daniels vs. Canada" was launched in 1999 by prominent Métis leader Harry Daniels, but it did not go to trial until 2011.

Bercier said Métis people define themselves as Métis and don't appreciate the term "Indian."

"We don't use that term to define us," she said. "It's so derogatory and it's not a true representation of who we are or a representation of First Nations either."

Bercier is the Comp's Aboriginal Student Centre teacher and runs a transition program specifically for First Nation and Métis students, which helps introduce cultural literacv into the classroom.

The program also monitors how students are doing academically as well as offers cultural, academic and counselling supports for all First Nation

Manitoba Métis Federation Minister of Energy and Infrastructure Jack Park told the Record in an earlier interview that this is a very important time for the Métis nation.

Park said if things went well last Thursday, "we'll be able to sit down with both governments and start discussing how that will roll out."

Worlds collide at international student gathering

Meet-and-greet brings students, families together

By Dave Baxter

Matheus Garcia Mariano didn't let snow and cold temperatures ruin his first trip to Canada, and he's had such a good time he plans to come back.

Garcia Mariano of Brazil is one of nine students who have come to the Selkirk area from another country this school year, to study through the Lord Selkirk School Division's International Student Program (ISP).

The 17-year-old Grade 12 student had never seen snow before coming to Selkirk, but the Manitoba winter actually became one of his favourite things about being here.

"When I first got here it was fall so it was wet and grey, but then the winter came and it was really surprising with all this snow and wind and cold," Garcia Mariano said. "But actually the part I liked the most was to experience the snow and cold."

Garcia Mariano was among a group of international students at last Thursday's ISP meet-and-greet at the Comp, which brought students, homestay families and other residents together to learn more about the program.

ISP director Denisse Parra said they are expecting 25 international students next school year.

One of the reasons for the meet-andgreet was to let families know what is involved in becoming a homestay family and taking in an international student, she said.

Parra said they work to find out the characteristics of homestay families and ISP students, so they can place students into homes where they would feel the most comfortable.

"We don't just pop a student with a family," she said. "We talk with the student and the family, and that can help with the transition when they get here

Grade 10 ISP student Nour Pudal of France is the third student to stay with Jackie Doucet and her husband and two kids in East Selkirk.

"We do this because we want kids that are coming here to feel they are part of a family," Doucet said. "We want these kids to have a safe and loving place.

"And it's a great experience for our two boys to know they have to share their life with somebody else."

The Doucet family treats ISP kids the same way they treat their own children.

"We don't treat them any different," Doucet said. "They follow rules and do chores. Whatever my kids are doing, it's the same way."

Parra said if families are interested in details about becoming a homestay family they can contact her directly via email at ispdirector@lssd.ca.

For information on the Lord Selkirk School Division's International Student Program visit isp.lssd.ca.

Garcia Mariano said he credits community members with helping him feel welcome.

He will leave at the end of June, but plans to come back to Manitoba in January of next year to study aircraft maintenance at Red River College.

"All the people I have met here are really good and really receptive, and these teachers are the best teachers I have ever met."

Factory farms poisoning rural communities

Will Manitoba suffer similar consequences as North Carolina, where rural communities are literally under attack and defenceless against a hog industry, that threatens their health, their well being and quality of living? Surely, this is a crime against human-

I often wonder if people realize just how saturated our province is with hog factories? Manitoba is a province with a large area and over 100 thousand lakes.

However, considering the "majority of people" live, work at industry and farming for nearly 300 miles along the US border and north for generally about 200 miles, the populace is more or less concentrated in about 15% of the province area, for obvious

Regarding a letter dated March 16, 2016 from Ministers Ron Kostyshyn and Tom Nevakshonoff, responding on behalf of Greg Selinger.

While I thank you for your response, offered on behalf of the Premier, it gives me no encouragement whatsoever, as to what is taking place in Manitoba at this time, with neither the hog industry nor the pilot project underway to increase slaughter hog production in western Manitoba.

There is mention made of Manitoba's stringent regulations, yet we know from the past and the auditor generals conclusion that enforcement was lacking,.... in other words, regulations do not meet the intent if enforcement is being ignored. Interlake MLA Tom Nevakshonoff agreed with the report and openly stated to the public, "the government of Manitoba doesn't do enforcement, that's up to the bureaucrats to do."

We know there are better ways to raise hogs, and Agriculture Minister Ron Kostyshyn has assured us that "morally the province doesn't agree with sow stalls." What we need in Manitoba is for government to take the next step, past morally, and get on with the job of eliminating those stalls.

The water resources are being poisoned in North Carolina and the effects on rural communities is devastating their lives. Will more of the rural communities in western Manitoba be the next victims to this Industry, as they already are in other areas of the province? - John Fefchak

Mother's Day Walk to raise funds for Syrian refugees

By Dave Baxter

Residents will gather on Mother's Day in Selkirk to walk, run and raise money to help support Syrian refugees starting a new life in Canada.

The sixth annual Mother's Day Run/ Walk in Selkirk will take place on Sunday, May 8 at the Selkirk Waterfront at 12:30 p.m. and will continue down Eveline Street and River Road.

Registration is at 10 a.m. at the Selkirk Waterfront with the walk starting at 12:30 p.m.

The event gives participants the option of walking either two, four or 10 kilometres, and those who take part can make donations of any amount.

Every year the event gives all proceeds to a charitable organization, and this year it will go to the Red River Churches Refugee Team, which has seen dozens of volunteers from more than 15 churches from Selkirk and surrounding areas sign up to help support three Syrian refugee families.

This it the first year the Kiwanis Selkirk and District organization has gotten involved in organizing the event.

Carol Manlow the president-elect of the Selkirk and District Kiwanis Club said they now hope to get involved every year and make it their "signature

The day will start with a pancake breakfast starting at 9:30 a.m.

"We want people to bring their mom and their family out for breakfast," Manlow said.

She also said the walk and run is casual and if someone doesn't feel comfortable walking two kilometres or more, they can walk as far as they feel comfortable with, or even just come and volunteer.

There is no minimum donation to take part, Manlow said.

"The more the merrier, and every little bit helps," she said.

All money raised will go to the Red River Churches Refugee Team, and Manlow said she is proud to be involved with an event that "will support people in need coming to Canada."

The Mother's Day Walk is still looking for volunteers, cash donations, silent auction prizes and participants.

Message from the Mayor and Council

YOUR RM COUNCIL UNDERSTANDS THAT it's more than our semi-rural lifestyle, friendly people and year-round recreation that make our municipality a great place to live. It's also local services that residents can rely on, and an RM that listens to citizens and acts on their priorities.

Spring is municipal budget season, and Council has prioritized investments in the areas that St. Clements homeowners have told us are most important.

As you'll read in this newsletter, we're again increasing spending on local road improvement and renewal. We're exploring service improvements such as of curbside garbage and recycling pickup. And, we're continuing to strengthen investments in recreation and leisure.

The RM's strategic plan sets out five core priority areas – transportation and roads; recreation and tourism; protective services; water; and the environment. These core priorities focus on improving services and quality of life for today's families, while also ensuring our RM can meet residents' needs for generations to come. Council will continue to focus investments in each area through the remainder of our mandate.

As a Council, we also remain committed to strengthening municipal services while keeping life affordable. This year is a reassessment year for all municipalities in Manitoba. For a growing community like St. Clements, property values are increasing, and a higher assessed value of local homes translates into higher property tax

Council has responded by lowering the property tax mill rate, which will help keep more money in homeowners' pockets. Assessments affect all properties differently, but the mill rate reduction will translate into a reduced tax bill for many homeowners, while for others it will mean a more modest increase than if the mill rate had not been lowered.

We've also allocated an increased portion of the taxes the RM collects to our road reserve, which means that we can reliably continue to increase funds earmarked for road improvements for years to come.

As always, we welcome your questions and feedback, whether about the RM's budget priorities or any other issue. You can connect with us on Facebook, send us an email to info@ rmofstclements.com, or call us at the RM office.

Be fire smart

The life you save could be your own

After a long winter, spring is a time when we want to spend some time outdoors cleaning up our yards, which for some means burning, and having bonfires.

Outdoor fires in the RM of St. Clements are regulated by the RM of St. Clements By-Law No. 5-2012. This bylaw encompasses all outdoor fires including fire pits and the burning of crop residue, grass, stubble, and Fires in breach of this by-law may result in a fine to the property owner or person setting the fire. If fire fighters have to extinguish the fire, the cost of this may be charged to person who started the fire.

Heading to a grass fire near Lockport in April 2015

Grass burning myths and facts

Burning grass is a tradition, almost a rite of spring, however, the reasons for spring grass burning are largely unfounded and rather than being beneficial, grass burning is destructive and dangerous.

Myth: It's safe to burn grass when there is still some snow on the Fact: Within hours of snow melting, dead grass becomes flammable; especially if there have been drying winds. Grass fires burn hot and fast and spread quickly around, and over snow

Myth: Spring grass burning controls weeds.

Fact: Weeds deposited their seeds into the soil last fall. Burning creates an ideal bare soil bed for the seeds to germinate.

Myth: Burning improves the new grass crop.

Fact: Burning actually reduces grass yield up to 70 per cent.

Myth: Burning makes the new grass come in greener.

Fact: It just appears greener due to the contrast against the bare, blackened ground. In fact the new grass will be the same color whether burning took place or not.

Myth: I can burn grass without threatening any animals. Fact: Burning destroys the habitat of species you don't normally

If the fire gets out of control larger animals can be caught by the flames and many species will lose habitat crucial to their survival

Myth: Lost habitat will grow back in a few months and the wildlife

Fact: It may take several years to replace what was lost. Vegetation is often multilayered with higher growth protecting undergrowth. Different species depend on different layers for food or shelter. Loss of the lower layer and its occupants will impact species that prey upon those lost species.

Myth: Spring burning is an easy way to get rid of last year's vegetation.

Fact: Easy perhaps, but not good for the soil. Burning results in most of the old plants' nutrients going up in smoke or remaining in ash that is washed away. Burning also releases CO2 into the atmosphere and ultimately contributes to greenhouse gas emissions. Ploughing old plants under, or allowing them to decompose, allows carbon and fertilizing elements to go back into Myth: It's pretty safe to burn grass in the RM of St. Clements. We have great fire departments.

Fact: Under the Wildfires Act and the RM of St. Clements By-Law 5-2012, if you light a fire, you are responsible for it. If your fire gets out of control you may be liable for the cost of fighting the fire, the destruction of other's property, and face penalties for violating burning regulations.

Harlem Globetrotter mixes basketball with anti-bullying message at St. Andrews School

By Lindsey Enns

Looking up at Harlem Globetrotter Julian "Zeus" McClurkin, it's hard to believe he was ever bullied.

Standing tall at six-foot-eight and 225 pounds, the 29-year-old says students today should never be afraid to tell on a bully because that's exactly what he did when he was their age.

"A lot of people get ... labeled as tattletales but I want to show them that it's cool to be a tattletale, I was a tattletale," McClurkin said moments before surprising students at St. Andrews School on Day of Pink as part of the Harlem Globetrotter's anti-bullying tour "The ABC's of Bullying Prevention" last Wednesday afternoon. "We tell the kids how systematically you can take action, be brave and also have compassion for kids who have been bullied in the past."

McClurkin, who is in his second season with the world famous basketball team, which pays visits to hundreds of schools every year, says bullying is still a big problem.

"I'm able to share my bullying experience with the kids and they're able to see this guy who plays for the world's most famous team ... and I was bullied when I was their size," he said. "Kids look up to professional athletes. Off the court we're great people at the same time and we're known as ambassadors of good will."

Along with sharing his own personal experiences with bullying, McClurkin also showed off some of the Harlem Globetrotter's signature moves.

Students decked out in pink shirts packed the St. Andrews School gymnasium to watch McClurkin spin a basketball on one finger, attempt a half-court shot and of course complete a slam dunk.

McClurkin said he hopes the main message local students took from his presentation was "don't be afraid to tell on a bully."

He also encouraged students to make friends for a day with someone they might not usually spend time with.

Comp students were also wearing pink last Wednesday for Day of Pink.

Day of Pink is an international day for creating awareness about bullying, discrimination, homophobia, transphobia, and transmisogyny around the world.

Students Amy Campbell, Jordy Miller, Alexa Bunn, and Nicole Kulchyski were selling cookies and cotton candy at the Comp, while also handing out information about bullying, homophobia, transphobia and other forms of discrimination last Wednesday afternoon.

Campbell said she believes celebrating days like Day of Pink are important because they help raise awareness.

"It symbolizes togetherness and even though we are all different we can come together as a community," the Grade 10 student said. "We should accept people for who they are.

"It is raising awareness and it is helping. If some people in our school can show that awareness, maybe it will trigger an effect in others, and they will start to follow that lead."

Library to host rare book donation, heritage collection unveil

Submitted

The Gaynor Family Regional Library and the Red River Regional Heritage Group are teaming up to unveil a collection of materials in the Robert Jefferson Heritage Room this week.

The launch will take place on Friday, Apr. 22 at 2 p.m. inside the library's theatre and will include refreshments, stories and readings from Selkirk and area's past and will be marked by the donation of a rare book.

John Macoun's "Manitoba and the Great North West" had the impact of destroying Selkirk's chance at becoming the "new Chicago," the capital of Manitoba and the railway hub of Western Canada.

Macoun's findings, which he presented to a Parliamentary committee and then recorded in this book in 1882, inspired thousands of Ontarians to emigrate to Manitoba bringing their straight-laced morality and institutions with them, thus changing Manitoba society forever.

Macoun's views on climate and the fertility of the southern Prairies allowed the transcontinental railway to shift its route through Winnipeg rather than Selkirk and made Selkirk an almost ghost town.

Beginning the heritage collection with Macoun's book is a way"to prime the pump"for donations to come from the public.

Individuals and groups who want to add to the local history materials can bring them to the library staff for evaluation.

The material will be either included in the Robert Jefferson Heritage Collection or sent on to other museums or collections.

Donations of old books or documents, as long as they pertain to the history and culture of the Red River North region, will be welcomed. Donors will be achnowledged with a bookplate in the book, a citation and a listing on our heritage "Wall of Honour."

New Interlake Youth Choir seeks local singers

By Jennifer McFee

Young vocalists will be singing a happy tune thanks to a new choral opportunity in the Interlake.

A brand new Interlake Youth Choir is seeking singers who will be in Grade 10 to 12 in the 2016-17 school year.

The youth choir is a project of the Interlake Choral Association, which falls under the umbrella of the Manitoba Choral Association.

Kendra Obach, chair of the Interlake Choral Association, said three regional youth choirs are already established in Manitoba as regional subsections of the Manitoba Choral Association: Eastman, Central and Westman, which recently celebrated its 35 anniversary.

"These are all well-established and well-respected programs. This is our first step in establishing something similar for the singers in the Interlake. Part of the concept is that singers in small towns do not get a full choral experience the way that a lot of big high schools can in the city," Obach said.

"So this is a chance for us to create a full choir with really strong singers and create that experience for singers no matter what their background or what their community is like. This way, we can create something a little bit bigger for the whole region."

Obach hopes to undertake the audition process in May with singer selections to take place in June. Live auditions will likely take place in Stonewall, Teulon and Selkirk. As another option, singers can also submit video auditions online.

Then the fun really begins in fall with a weekend intensive rehearsal camp at Camp Arnes starting in the morning on Friday, Oct. 14 and wrapping up on Saturday, Oct. 15.

Then on Sunday, Oct. 16, the youth choir will bring music to the masses through two concerts. The first is tentatively set for Arborg in the afternoon followed by an evening finale show in Selkirk.

"It's an exciting project," Obach said.

"THIS IS A CHANCE FOR US TO CREATE A FULL CHOIR WITH REALLY STRONG SINGERS AND CREATE THAT EXPERIENCE FOR SINGERS NO MATTER WHAT THEIR BACKGROUND OR WHAT THEIR COMMUNITY IS LIKE."

"We want to keep them busy. It will definitely be intense."

The timing couldn't be any better since the Manitoba Choral Association is celebrating its 40th anniversary this year. To mark the milestone, the organization will host a gala concert at the Centennial Concert Hall in No-

"It's going to feature lots of choirs from the province and lots of different types of music, including a massive youth choir with representation from all regions of Manitoba," said Obach, who is also involved in that project.

"We've been asked to put together representation for the mass youth choir representing the Interlake. We thought it was the right time to connect and to have our new Interlake Youth Choir be our representation, so that's the added bonus this year. That was part of the kickstart as to why this was the right year to do it."

Group raises over $6K for Kidney Foundation

RECORD PHOTO BY LAURA TUTLIES Organizer Gloria Zirk and her surprise guest "Selma," share a moment during the 35th annual Kidney Foundation fundraiser in Thalberg on Sunday, Apr. 10. The event attracted about 150 people and helped raise $6,390. Over the years the group from Thalberg has raised more than $100,000 for the Kidney Foundation. Zirk, who in 1989 when kidney transplants were in their infancy, was herself a donor when her son Jason was threatened with renal failure due to his kidney disease. Community helps celebrate Teulon pastor's retirement

By Natasha Tersigni

After 12 years of serving Teulon's Anglican Parish of St. Cyprian and St Peter Lutheran Church, parishioners and community members gathered on Sunday to celebrate Pastor Claire Speary's retirement.

While Speary will remain active in the community, she has decided to step down from her daily duties with the community congregations. During her Retirement Tea on Sunday, Speary reflected on her work in Teulon and her career as Pastor, something she had never set her sights on.

Following high school, Speary went to university for nursing and became a psychiatric nurse. After working in the field for many years, she took time off to raise her family. When she came back to nursing after 17 years of being away she found that the field wasn't what it used to be.

"Nursing had changed so much and I found that I enjoyed school as an adult learner. It was time for a change so I stopped nursing and went to university for theology. After I finished my first year of university I felt the nudge to attend seminary school, but not as a pastor," said Speary who was 48 yearsold when she entered seminary school

Speary enjoyed working with churches, but with not having a strong background in scripture she was not comfortable working as a full-fledged pastor and opted to work in other ministries including as a pastoral grief and loss counsellor. After she completed seminary school she went to work alongside a pastor in Steinbach.

After a year and a half in Steinbach, where she was not able to conduct many services, Speary decided it was time for a change and that she wanted to be a pastor of a congregation after all.

Speary grew up in Riverton and had lived in Arborg and Gimli. So with her knowledge of the Interlake it seemed fitting for her to take the position as pastor with the St. Peter Lutheran Church in Teulon.

The move would be an adjustment for both Speary and the community who had never had a female pastor before. Before moving to Teulon, Speary was asked if she would also be the pastor for the Anglican church, something that was not too common yet.

"When I was looking for a church I would tell people 'It didn't have to be a rich church as long as it was active and ecumenical' I was called here as the Lutheran Pastor and then when it came closer to when I would arrive I was asked if I would take over the Anglican as well; that sealed the deal for me," said Speary who added in time the parishioners adjusted to a female pastor.

"Most people in Teulon seemed okay with it. Some people here did have trouble accepting it, but most were just glad to have a Pastor. It turned out to be a good fit for me here."

It did not take long for the community to accept Speary and her style of ministry. With her own experiences in loss and grief counselling, after losing both her husband and daughter at young ages, Speary was able to provide loss and grief support.

"Funeral ministry has become an area of strength for me and people have recognized that in the community, often because I try not to be too traditional in the services I give. I find often that church language goes over my head, so I figured if a good two-thirds of the people that come to a funeral have little to no church background, which has come to be the reality now, then why should I use this church language that people don't necessarily understand," said Speary. "People seem to be fine with the ecumenical service. Most times I get the gift of the family sharing their story, I take what they give me and use it in the service."

After being diagnosed in the fall with deteriorating vision in both her eyes, Speary felt at 68 years old it was time to step down from her congregations.

Speary performed her last service on Christmas Eve. and has being enjoying retirement. She will set off to the east coast on vacation at the end of April and will return to Teulon where she will remain active in the community.

Trail riding club welcomes new members

By Jennifer McFee

For many trail riders, wild horses couldn't keep them away from the anticipated activity.

And the Manitoba Trail Riding Club welcomes new members to participate in the enjoyable pastime.

For member Linda Gillies, the club creates a sense of confidence and camaraderie in its members.

"I got into riding later in life. Sometimes, you want a group of people you feel confident with. The benefits are definitely having fun and riding in places that you wouldn't normally ride," said Gillies, who lives in the Grosse Isle area. "If you like a little bit of competition and a reason to be out there two or three times a week training your horse, for me that's what it was. It's nice to be a member of a club and it certainly is a lot of fun."

Once a month, club members meet to discuss rides, with five planned for this year. The first ride is scheduled for May 14 in Sandilands Provincial Forest, followed by a May 28 ride in Pembina Valley, June 18 in Birds Hill Provincial Park, and Sept. 10 in Bel Air Provincial Forest. This year's events wrap up on Sept. 18 at the MHC Manitoba Equestrian Championship in Birds Hill Provincial Park.

Royals shut out at women's hockey awards gala

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals' girls' hockey team suffered just two shutout losses the entire 2015-16 season.

But in one night last week, they were shut out twice more.

Selkirk had a pair of players – Courtney Sorokopud-Jones and Kaitlyn Seed - up for major awards at the Winnipeg Women's High School Hockey League's annual Excellence and Leadership Awards Gala at Canad Inns Polo Park on April 13.

Sorokopud-Jones was one of three nominees for the Winnipeg Free Press Division "B" most valuable player award while Seed was nominated for the top rookie award.

Sorokopud-Jones had an outstanding season, finishing in a three-way tie for third place in points leaders during the regular season. She scored 29 goals and added 16 assists for 45 points in just 20 regular-season games.

In the playoffs, she had three goals and an assist in three games.

Seed, meanwhile, was very good in her rookie season with the Royals. She finished second on the team in points with 37, scoring 20 goals while adding 17 assists.

Hallson ends high school bball career at All-Star game

The Selkirk Royals' varsity girls' basketball season ended several weeks ago but Danielle Hallson had an opportunity to play one final high school game on Saturday.

Hallson was the lone Selkirk player selected to play in the annual MHSAA "AAAA" Graduating All-Star Game at St. Paul's High School in Winnipeg.

"It was really fun," said Hallson, 17, Monday afternoon."It was a nice showcase game. I knew the players from club teams, so it wasn't too bad. We all got along very well and it was a good game."

The all-star game was a fast-paced affair with plenty of skilled players on the court. Hallson enjoyed playing with - and against - those talented

"It wasn't anything that I, or anyone on my team, weren't used to," said the 5-foot-10 Hallson.

Hallson plays the guard position and is comfortable at the point or shooting guard position. She played one season of junior varsity with the Royals and then two more at the varsity level.

"I'm more of a shooting guard but I do get placed in the point guard (position) a couple of times throughout the season," noted the Royals' captain. "But I like to make plays happen and have the team moving within different areas on the court."

The Royals had a decent season in Hallson's senior year. Selkirk struggled in the ultra-competitive KPAC league but did well at a couple of tourna-

"It went OK," Hallson noted. "We had a couple of tournaments where we came in second and, overall, we had a really good group of girls. We weren't the strongest team out there but we were up there with some of the top teams."

Hallson, who lives in Selkirk, started playing basketball back in Grade 1 when she was just six years old. She has played club basketball and in a senior women's league. Both have made her a better player against stiff competition.

What has also made her better, though, is her past two years with the Royals' varsity team, which was coached by her mother Trisha and sister, Amanda.

"My mom has been coaching me since Grade 5," Danielle said. "Me, and all of the seniors on our team, have been playing together since Grade 5 and we've all been coached by my mom.

"So, we're used to it. We know her really well and we know how she likes to run things and we know each other really well."

ANNOUNCEMENTS IN MEMORIAM

Cornell Hoogervorst January 6, 1953 – April 20, 2015

God has taken you away from us, taken you to rest;

It's not for us to understand, He only takes the best.

What you suffered you told so few;

You did not deserve what you went through. Tired and weary you made no fuss,

But tried so hard to stay with us.

Though you left us with your thoughts unknown, We have memories we are proud to own.

With the family chain now broken, nothing seems

But as God takes us one by one, that chain will link again.

Until then, you speak in sunlight, with love from the grave.

-Remembered always with much love, Cindy, David, Ali (Lloyd) and Gabe, Adri (Josh) and your brothers and sisters

As a ship leaves the shore, we weep and wave goodbye,

And look as long as our eyes can see as it fades from sight.

As the ship gets closer to the other shore,

There is joy and much rejoicing!

Tears of joy, as old loves and friends meet again And welcome him home.

"Dad. You'll never walk alone."

OBITUARY

Joyce Sheila Armstrong (nee Ostwald)

It is with great sadness that we announce that peacefully and on her own terms, the passing of Joyce Sheila Armstrong (nee Ostwald), our mother, wife, auntie and granny, on April 8, 2016 at the Selkirk General Hospital.

Joyce leaves behind her loving husband and best friend Paul after 52 years of marriage, sons Derek (Chris) and Dean and grandson Brandon. Joyce also leaves behind sisters Corry (Peter), Arlene (Bernie), Lorna (Walter), Christine (Keith), Candy (David) and brother John (Betty) as well as many other loving extended family members including numerous nieces, nephews and cousins. Joyce was predeceased by her mother Cornelia and her Joyce was born on July 7, 1942 in Winnipeg and grew up in a large close-knit family whom she loved and continued to have an unconditional strong relationship with. She grew up in St James and went to both Bannatyne School and Silver Heights High School where she made many lifelong friends. After completing her education, Joyce worked at the Grace Hospital for many years as a lab technician and continued to add many more lifelong friends.

Joyce met her Paul as kids in the neighborhood and began courting as young teenagers where they would begin their life-long journey as partners, culminating in their marriage in 1964. They were a power-couple who shared a common interest in science, nature, history and travel. Their family continued to grow when their two sons joined their adventure. We were a strong family unit growing up with lots of laughs. Mom took great care of us and looked after our every need. Joyce was an amazing cook (birthday cakes were a highlight) and an incredibly talented pianist who greatly enjoyed classical music. Summers were spent at the cottage where she loved being with her immediate and extended family and she enjoyed the sights and sounds of nature around her.

Joyce was an inspiration to many and we are so proud of her accomplishments. She never let the stroke she suffered 25 years ago get in the way of what she wanted to do. She was always determined $\frac{1}{2}$ to push past her limitations so she could harness and express her creative spirit. Beginning at an early age. Joyce was proficient with arts and crafts and even after the stroke, she continued to do some of her best work on cross-stitching as well as creating beautiful stained-glass pieces - all with the use of one hand. When Joyce and Paul moved into their complex in Selkirk, the residents were amazed by her determination, talents and accomplishments. Although we will miss Joyce dearly, her artwork has made its indelible mark and will continue to live on for others to enjoy and inspire to and make the world a brighter place. Mom was someone to admire.

As per her wishes, cremation has taken place and there will be a private gathering of family and close friends to celebrate Joyce's life.

In lieu of flowers, if you wish, please make a donation to a charity of your choice.
