First Nations school board a dream come true for BON principal

By Lindsey Enns

When Rhonda Michaud started teaching nearly 18 years ago, she dreamed of a school system in Manitoba run by First Nations.

"It was a dream for us to have our own First Nations school system," Michaud said.

Earlier this year her dream became a reality with the historic launch of the Manitoba First Nations school board.

"I think it really hit me as an educator that our kids are getting that equality, that same funding, during the official signing in Winnipeg," she said.

Michaud, who is currently the principal at Sergeant Tommy Prince School in Brokenhead Ojibway Nation (BON), says since the board's launch in July, more supports are already being made available for their nearly 115 students.

In September, their students returned to school to find fresh school supplies and more books for their school's library. The school was also expected to host an official launch of the First Nations school board on Wednesday.

"With this new system, there's more available to the students," Michaud said. "We're looking at land based education, we're looking at having the elders in the school and getting our Ojibway language teacher back full time."

They are also hoping to overhaul their physical education program and help their students attend more out of town sporting events.

Michaud said she believes as time goes on, the new school system will help inspire her students to stay in school.

"Just to inspire them and keep their dreams alive," she said. "I think it will take some time but I think some of them will see the difference within themselves too."

The First Nations-led school system, created through the Manitoba First Nations Education Resource Centre (MFNERC), means the school is now able to teach more culturally relevant material and more funding is flowing to the 10 Manitoba First Nation schools which have signed on for it so far.

The board is being operated completely by Manitoba First Nations, with the province having no jurisdiction over it, and funding from the Federal Government goes directly to the First Nations school board.

BON previously received roughly $6,000 per student per year but under the new school board and funding model, that increased to nearly $17,000.

"We're still underfunded, but it's all about the kids," Michaud said.

Although better funding will lead to more opportunities for their students, Michaud admits it won't solve all of their problems. She says space is currently one of their biggest challenges at their school. Their current school was built in the early 1970s.

"Our population is increasing," she said. "The more off reserve students that come here, we're not going to have anymore space. We've already changed our computer lab to a classroom.

"If we get a portable, it will have to come from our budget."

Michaud said they are also working with parents in the community to ensure their students finish school.

"We would like to increase the parental involvement in the school, we're working together with the parents to help the child," she said. "Building those positive relationships also with the community."

Michaud said measuring the success of the new school board will be dependent on student assessment data along with graduation rates.

Community shows support for Las Vegas shooting victims

By Jennifer McFee

The community is banding together to show their support for two local women who were wounded during the mass shooting at an outdoor concert in Las Vegas.

Jan Lambourne of Inwood remains hospitalized in Las Vegas as she recovers from a gunshot wound to the abdomen and a fractured pelvis. She recently met with the hero who saved her life after he discovered Lambourne hiding under a wheelbarrow in a merchandise tent.

She had been at the concert with her friend Jody Ansell of Stonewall, who was also hospitalized due to a gunshot wound through her arm. Ansell has been discharged from the hospital and is recovering with her family.

Now efforts are underway to show support for the two injured women after the harrowing experience.

Chicken Chef restaurant at 3770 Portage Ave. is hosting a Super Hero and Princess Breakfast fundraiser for Ansell and Lambourne on Saturday, Oct. 14 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Pancakes will cost $8 plus taxes, and $6 from every pancake breakfast will go towards the two women.

Owner Lori Lucas said that she decided to organize the event as a way to show support.

"When I found out about the shootings, the stories that were coming out were just heart-wrenching. And then when you find out there's someone from your area, that's when the floodgates opened and I thought that we need to find a way to help these people and these families," she said.

"The reason we're doing this is because they need love and support. They need to know that we care and they need to feel that. We've all got problems and issues and struggles in our lives, but when you have something to this degree, we have to put that aside and life these people up and let them know they're not alone."

The theme of the event focuses on superheroes, since many real heroes stepped up to help throughout the incident. So far, she has confirmed that someone will be dressing up as Captain America and her staff will be dressed up as well. She hopes to find other people willing to dress up as a superhero or princess for the breakfast.

"We're also doing the superheroes and princesses for the kids. They've seen so much dark in this world, and I don't know how many fully understand what's going on, but let's remind them that there are happilyever-after stories. There are superheroes like the people who saved these victims. They're real life," Lucas said.

"I want to create a feeling of family. Maybe we're strangers, but we can still pull together as a community."

The pancake breakfast will also feature a 50-50 draw and a silent auction. Lucas is accepting prize donations until 8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 12. She also welcomes anyone who would like to volunteer for a shift at the event. The best way to reach her is through the Facebook event page entitled "Fundraiser for Jody Ansell and Jan Lambourne."

In other community efforts, a fundraising campaign has been set up at the Teulon Sunova Credit Union.

Local volunteers pitch in for annual Perogie Bee fundraiser

By Justin Luschinski

The Gordon Howard Centre's Perogie Bee fundraiser brought rows upon rows of volunteers together to pinch perogies for a good cause.

More than 50 volunteers worked together to create nearly 500 dozen perogies last week.

Doreen Typliski has been volunteering at the Gordon Howard Centre since she was 55-years-old. After 10 years of helping run the Perogie Bee, she still comes back to help make perogies every year.

Typliski said she loves making perogies for people to enjoy.

"It's a good feeling, and it's a very good fundraiser ... You get to see people you don't normally see. I like talking, my mom always said I talked too much,"Typliski said with a smile.

She was among the nearly 50 volunteers who came together last Monday and Tuesday to take part in the Perogie Bee fundraising event. The Gordon Howard Centre basement turns into a perogie making factory for two days, afterwards, and people can purchase the results from the front desk.

Last Monday, the volunteers peeled five bags of potatoes cooked them, created the mashed potato centre, and created 22 bags of dough. On Tuesday, they used a dough flattening machine, which allowed the dough to be cut into smaller circles, and moved over to the rows of volunteers who pinch the outer layer of dough over the inner mixture.

The perogies cost about $5 for a dozen and by press deadline last week the centre had already sold out of them.

Normally, volunteers produce 500 dozen perogies and in the past, the fundraiser has helped raise $1,500 for the centre.

Lee Hansen, the centre's executive director, said that it's a great opportunity for volunteers to work hard while making new friends.

Volunteers were all smiles while pinching perogies for a Perogie Bee fundraiser at the Gordon Howard Centre last week. The annual fundraiser helps raise hundreds of dollars for the local centre.

They're pinching perogies as you can see, but they're also socializing with each other ... Some seniors are on their own, they've lost their partner, any time they can come here, see people they know already, or meet new people, that's a bonus for us," Hansen said.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Selkirk support group helps local, area women feel less alone

By Lindsey Enns

For a woman who has just been diagnosed with breast cancer, finding the emotional support she needs isn't always easy.

With that in mind, Wendy McLeary, who is a 19-year breast cancer survivor, helped start the Selkirk and District Breast Cancer Support Group 18 years ago. The group works to provide emotional support for women struggling with their diagnosis and help them feel less alone, she said.

"When I was initially diagnosed, I didn't know a lot of people who had had breast cancer and so it was very important to relate to one another," she said.

The peer support group for women whose lives have been touched by breast cancer meets every fourth Thursday of the month at 7 p.m. on the second floor boardroom located at 18 Main St. in Selkirk.

"We can share with them our own experience which may make it easier for them to help cope with their situation," McLeary said. "It's sharing, it's enjoyment ... we try to keep it light and upbeat."

McLeary said they started out as a small group of women. Today, they have roughly 10 to 15 members that attend their monthly meetings in Selkirk and about 55 on their monthly newsletter mailing list.

"That's to other people who have breast cancer but do not want to attend meetings or live farther away," she said.

With October being Breast Cancer Awareness Month, McLeary said she wants to remind those living in Selkirk and area that new members are always welcome.

The group meets every fourth Thursday of the month at 7 p.m. on the second floor boardroom located at 18 Main St. in Selkirk.

Those seeking more information about the support group can call Wendy McLeary directly at 204-785-2456.

Along with hosting monthly meetings and offering telephone support, the group also stays active within the community. Some of their members recently took part in Selkirk's Relay For Life, the Terry Fox Run and a few members participate in the CIBC Run for the Cure in Winnipeg. They also host a women's wellness event for Nova House.

"We are pretty active and I think that's part of the reason why we do maintain our membership," she said. "It makes it exciting."

As part of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Selkirk's Bella Ragazza Lingerie and Swimwear Boutique will be hosting a Bressanté Prosthesis pop up on Wednesday, Oct. 18 at Bella Ragazza from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. To book an appointment, call the store at 204-785-1802. stories to enjoy. Don Schilling was a man of average size with a wide smile, searching eyes behind heavy glasses and straight dark hair that fell over a broad forehead. I met him by chance on the Red last week and he told me of a once in a lifetime experience he and fellow anglers were part of at Horseshoe Lake some time ago. The area was full of wildlife; and as they trudged up shore to their camp after a day of fishing, a loud flapping and screaming stopped the men in their tracks. Huge long feathered wings, some black some grey flailed upward from a depression in the roof of one of their tents. The stunned anglers saw before them a bald eagle on top of a pheasant attempting to tear it apart. The group began shouting and clapping their hands; which made the eagle break from it's task.

With a parting screech, whipping the air with it's massive wings, it disappeared westward while the distressed pheasant fluttered off in the other direction! Wow!

The smell of wood smoke drifted from the fishing camp as Dave Thorlakson stood on the shale shore of Humbug Bay looking east toward the faint light of the rising sun in 1959. Tall and wiry with tufts of light hair under a cap, dressed in heavy clothes and rubber boots he loped down to his wooden skiff. It sat cradled on the railroad track-like structure he had built which ran from under the shore water to high dry land.

The water of the west shore of Lake Winnipeg was flat now but soon the wind would kick it into high waves. The skiff loaded, he pushed it to free water, jumped in, started the small motor and pointed her bow toward the sunrise.

Checking land points he made for his nets and started lifting. There was no time to waste; if he didn't get his fish out of the water, they would spoil. He worked methodically under dark clouds taking the fish out of the nets and tossing them into wooden boxes. With his nets cleaned and back in the lake, he leaned over the side of the boat washing the fish slime off his hands in the cold restless water. He shifted to the transom seat beside the motor and pulled the starter rope bringing it to smoky life, and headed for camp through choppy waves.

As he came up to shore, pointing his skiff at the railing, he tensed; he had to time this just right. Allowing for the sideways current, the stiff wind and the waves that one second were five feet up the rail landing then next were receding back to bare shore, he timed it, aimed his boat and gunned it.

The skiff shot forward hitting the greased skid rails on a high wave, carrying it upwards on the tracks. Dave with perfect timing pulled the motor up and the skiff came to rest one more time undamaged. As he threw a leg over the side of the boat, the blood ran fast in him and he knew he loved this life.

The cool wind was pushing me around pretty good as I walked down the long steps at the Lockport pier early last week. Though the sun was out, Dale Julius of Winnipeg had a thick jacket on. He was one of the few on the pier who had caught fish and although he didn't have a story, he held up his catch for us.

Later, downstream past Selkirk; I met Barry Bourne a thin, chiseled featured, quiet, easy talking chap who used to live on St. Peters Road and offered a story.

Years ago he had a neighbour who asked him to come ice fishing so Barry asked what time to which his friend said,"Oh, about five."Barry exclaimed, "five, that's pretty early for me!""Not five in the morning, five in the evening, the fish start biting in the winter when it gets dark," Barrys' friend (let's call him Fred) declared. So, away they went the next day and sitting in Fred's ice shack he announced,"they should start biting in about ten minutes."

Like clockwork Fred got a bite and when it seemed snagged he asked Barry to have a look. Barry kneeled; peering down the hole then turned his head sideways looking at Fred saying, "all I can see is a pair of gigantic pickerel lips too big for the hole and your jig."To which Fred responded,"I can always catch another one, get my jig it's my luckiest."

Bye till next week friends.

Trio teams up to bring indoor beach volleyball to ESP

By Lindsey Enns

With the idea in mind that "everything is better at the beach," three East St. Paul residents are teaming up to bring an indoor volleyball centre to their community.

Construction on The Beach Volleyball Centre, located at 2600 Wenzel St., began in August and they are aiming to open in early January of 2018.

Bill King, who will be the centre's general manager, says the facility will offer something for everyone.

"Although it is called The Beach Volleyball Centre and volleyball will be a focus, our intention is to offer anything and everything that you can do or play in the sand," King said. "Soccer, frisbee, badminton, sand games, relay races, dodgeball, walking laps for exercise, dryland training or just kids playing with shovels and pails – it will be open for anything you can imagine for all ages."

King added the 20,000 square foot facility, which he is helping open along with his business partners Kelly Crerar and Daryl Didyk, will house four full-size beach volleyball courts, more than 15 palm trees, several hundred tons of sand, a fully licensed tiki bar as well as a concession stand.

"The goal is to have it as tropical and inviting as possible," King said, adding they will also be able to host kids birthday parties as well as company team building events.

King said they chose to set up shop in East St. Paul to offer rural residents something different.

"Just to have the opportunity in Winnipeg in February to go throw your shorts on and hang out in the sand I think is going to be super cool," he said, adding they plan to employ four or five full time staff members and roughly 20 part time employees."Our goal isn't to be super competitive our goal is to be very engaging, active, social and community oriented.

"We all live in East St. Paul, we love the community and we love the atmosphere."

King said he is looking forward to welcoming Selkirk and surrounding area residents to the facility.

"The Royals have an incredible volleyball program and tradition of volleyball so Selkirk's kind of a community we're definitely looking forward to being involved with," King said.

East St. Paul Mayor Shelley Hart said she's been in favour of the multimillion dollar project since she was first approached about it in October of 2014.

"They knew we wanted them here in East St. Paul and it was that relationship and our ongoing communication with them that ultimately sealed the deal," Hart said. "We look forward to adding this recreation option and restaurant to our community."

For more information about The Beach Volleyball Centre visit thebvc. ca or contact Bill King directly by calling 204-797-3318 or via email at bill@ thebvc.ca.

Construction of East St. Paul's legacy project, in recognition of the RM's 100th anniversary in 2016, is also starting this month.

Centennial Plaza, which will be located on the west side of the parking lot at the RMs municipal office, is expected to be completed before the end of this year.

The project will include a pavilion, open spaces, gaming tables, the bell from the former St. Catherine Anglican Church and interpretive signs that the RM collaborated on with the Artists of East St. Paul.

Former volunteer facing jail sentence

By Lindsey Enns

Prosecutors are now seeking a twoyear jail sentence for a former St. Andrews Community Club treasurer who stole nearly $300,000 from the local recreation centre.

Sharon Wasny previously plead guilty to theft over $5,000.

Former club president Kurt Proctor said in court last Tuesday they learned that Wasny wrote cheques on the community club's credit union account to pay $208,000 in personal credit card bills. She also used a community club credit card to steal another $77,000 and wrote cheques totalling $14,000, which she then deposited into her own personal account.

In April 2015, RCMP arrested and charged Wasny, 53, of St. Andrews, with theft over $5,000 and falsifying documents in relation to alleged fraud at the community club that dates back to January 2005 and ends in July 2012.

Selkirk RCMP began their investigation in May 2015 after the club's board members raised suspicions of a large amount of its money being mismanaged.

Court documents show that Wasny said she was going through financial difficulties at the time following a house fire and a fall out with her said."Why would you want to come business partners that left her with pricey legal bills.

However, Proctor said in court last week they were told that Wasny's financial records told a different story. She was spending money on things such as jewelry, gasoline, veterinary bills, and a total of three trips in one year to Vancouver to watch the Vancouver Canucks play.

"We were never privy to what she spent a lot of that on," he said. "We had some idea of some of the expenses but to hear that, that was a little infuriating especially because that money is earmarked for kids and the recreation facility."

St. Andrews Community Club president Rob Ataman says this investigation has been hard on the community and the community club. "The biggest crime that was committed here was the damage to the community," Ataman said, adding an impact statement he wrote was read out in court last Tuesday. "And that's something that's not punishable by law unfortunately. "It has torn the club apart."

Ataman said since this has come to light, the club has been finding it difficult to keep volunteers.

"It is unbelievable what it's like," he to a place that's been involved with such a traumatic event?"

Although they have been able help turn the club around, "the healing of those memories are going to take a lot longer to disappear," Ataman said. Ataman added he believes the twoyear jail sentence Wasny is facing is sufficient.

"I'm very happy," he said. "That's what we were hoping for."

Wasny's lawyer is asking that she be sentenced to one year in jail and is arguing that she has already suffered public shaming and has been taking care of her ailing husband.

Wasny's sentencing will take place on Nov. 14 at the Winnipeg Law Courts.

Ataman said he would like to thank past and current board members of the club.

"It means everything to me that they put up with this for the betterment of the community," he said. "They did not run away ... and I can't thank them enough for what they've done."

Ataman added the club's battle is far from being over. They are still working on getting some of the club's money back.

Supreme Court of Canada dismisses Teulon residential school case

By Natasha Tersigni

Former Teulon residential students who have been fighting the federal government to officially have their school recognized as a residential school will not have their case heard by the Supreme Court of Canada.

In an Aug. 17 ruling of the Assembly of Manitoba Chiefs (AMC) v. Attorney General of Canada case, a Supreme Court motions judge ruled that "the Teulon residence was not an Indian Residential School under the Settlement Agreement, and that they did not qualify to be added to Schedule F under Article 12."

For several years, a group of former Teulon residential school students has been fighting the federal government to be added to the Indian Residential Schools Settlement Agreement (IRSSA) and thus be eligible for compensation. Teulon was left off the IRSSA in 2006, and in 2011 legal action was initiated by the AMC on behalf of the students.

In 2012, a Manitoba Provincial Court Judge Perry Schulam ruled against the students saying that the Teulon Residence was denied being added to the settlement agreement, citing it as being operated by a religious organization, the United Church of Canada. The students argued that while the daily operations of the residence were by the church, the residence was set up and regulated by the federal government and students were sent to Teulon by the Indian Affairs Department, a branch of the federal government.

The students, with backing from AMC, appealed the decision. In 2016, three judges of the Manitoba Court of Appeal upheld Schulman's initial ruling stating that the students failed to properly prove that the Government of Canada had participated in setting up and running the school.

Backed once again by the AMC, the students submitted their case to the Supreme court in January 2017, ultimately their last resort.

The Supreme Court does not give reason why they chose not to hear the case. AMC did not return requests by the Record for an interview.

Canadian UFO expert, researcher stops in Selkirk

By Justin Luschinski

Marian Oliver was relaxing inside her Selkirk home on a nice summer evening in 1971 when at around 1 a.m. she noticed something floating over the Selkirk Water Tower.

"I called my son, who was about six or seven at the time, to the front screen door," Oliver said."We watched what I thought was a UFO, hovering over the water tower. It had a blue light on one end, and a green light on the other.

"It appeared to be rotating quickly, and we watched it for 20 minutes before going back to bed."

She decided to share her experience during a presentation from Chris Rutkowski, a Canadian UFO expert, at the Gaynor Family Regional Library last week. Rutkowski was there to talk about his work, and to help people understand some unexplained events they might have experienced.

A UFO is short for "Unidentified Flying Object" and it is a definition for any object in the sky that is unidentifiable. According to Rutkowski, around 95 per cent of UFO sightings have a scientific explanaout to be clouds or balloons, or some interesting reflection of the light.

Rutkowski said that the two most important things that a UFO researcher needs are critical thinking skills, and the ability to listen.

"The vast majority of people who come to me have unusual experiences, and they want me to help explain it to them," he said." People want help to understand what they saw. We know tion behind them, as most UFOs turn that aliens and flying saucers aren't flying around and landing in our backyards every night.

> "But we know it's possible that aliens might exist, so is there a way to reconcile these two."

> Rutkowski's most recent book, "When They Appeared - Falcon Lake 1967: The inside story of a close encounter," tells the tale of a UFO sighting near Falcon Lake in 1967.

Selkirk Fire Department purchases new breathing apparatus units

By Lindsey Enns

Volunteer firefighters in Selkirk are now learning how to fight fires with the latest breathing apparatus equipment. Selkirk Fire Department Chief Craig Fiebelkorn said they recently purchased six new self-containing breathing apparatus units.

"It's the latest and greatest in technology," Fiebelkorn said. "The safety features are above and beyond what we've ever had before and what most people do have now."

Fiebelkorn added that all six of the units have built in buddy system lighting, temperature censors as well as thermal energy cameras to give firefighters the ability to find people in deep smoke conditions quickly.

"Before you had to search by hand and crawl around so now all six guys wearing these will have the cameras right on them," he said. "The safety features are above and beyond what we've ever had before."

Fiebelkorn said the units were about $10,000 each and were paid for through the Selkirk Fire Department's reserve fund. He added they plan to purchase more of them in the future.

Fiebelkorn said with all of the changes in building equipment over the years, it's important for all fire departments to have access to the latest fire fighting and safety equipment.

the man made products ... the fires are getting hotter faster, they're giving off more off gases," he said. "As the stuff changes that we're dealing with you have to keep current and you have to keep your guys safe."

Firefighters received training for the new breathing apparatus equipment last week and once their training is complete, they are expected to start using them sometime later this month. Fiebelkorn added that other local fire departments are also getting on board with purchasing these new units. East Selkirk Fire Department has ordered them and St. Andrews Fire Department is also looking into doing the same, he said.

"It's the next evolution of breathing apparatus," he said. "You have to stay on the cutting edge, stay current and stay safe."

Manitoba introduces Canadian free trade agreement act

Staff

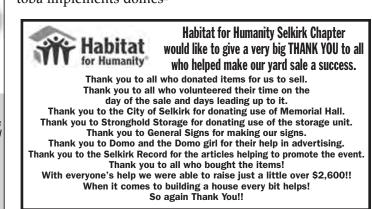

The Manitoba government has introduced legislation in order to meet its obligations under the Canadian Free Trade Agreement (CFTA) and ensure future domestic trade agreements are easily implemented, Growth Enterprise and Trade Minister Blaine Pedersen announced today.

The Canadian free trade agreement implementation act proposes administrative amendments to The Labour Mobility Act and The Regulated Health Professions Act to ensure the labour mobility obligations set out under all domestic trade agreements would be covered.

In addition, the proposed legislation would streamline the way Manitoba implements domestic trade agreements. It would allow the government to add or change references to domestic trade agreements in these acts by regulation, instead of requiring legislation.

Earlier this year the Manitoba government, along with the governments of Canada and the other provinces and territories, agreed to a new domestic trade agreement, the Canadian Free Trade Agreement. The CFTA came into force on July 1.

Celtic Fury Concert to help raise funds for Project Echo

By Justin Luschinski

John Cartwright has been making music since he was eight-years-old.

He's opened for many bands, including The Beatles, and has a long history of making and promoting music in Canada and the UK.

Twelve years ago he suffered a heart attack.

"We were putting on live music reviews constantly, in various places across PEI and Halifax," Cartwright said. "So here I was, running these shows, teaching these dance classes. Suddenly I had chest pains. Later on, at the hospital, I found out it was a heart attack. I haven't felt pain like that since."

So when he found out that there was a movement to bring a machine that can detect heart problems to Selkirk, he offered to help fundraise for it by putting on a concert.

The Rotary Club of Selkirk is putting on the Celtic Fury Concert, featuring Cartwright's band Thistle and the McDonnell Dancers on Friday, Oct. 27 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Comp's theatre.

Tickets are $30, and a minimum of 50 per cent of all tickets sold will go towards bringing an Echocardiogram to the new Selkirk Regional Health Centre. This will also be Cartwright's final show before he retires from performing.

"Here's an opportunity to support people who might be in the same position as myself. It was a no-brainer really," Cartwright said.

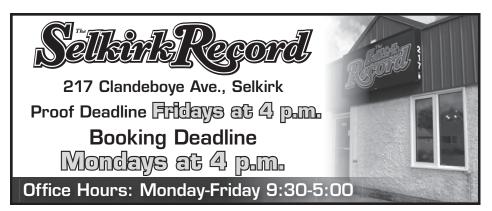

An Echocardiogram creates a specialized ultrasound of a heart. Echocardiography, or "Echo" for short, provides a way to diagnose and monitor heart conditions. It uses sound waves to create a picture, which can allow doctors to see things like viral infections and artery diseases.

Gayle Halliwell, co-chair of the Rotary Club's Project Echo, says community members have had to drive to Winnipeg to diagnose heart problems.

"Around 3,000 people were driving up to Winnipeg just to use the Echo. Some had to wait a year for the results ... When you go up to (Winnipeg), you might not have the urban experience you need. You don't know how much parking is, you don't know the traffic, there's a lot of stress that goes with going into the city ... Just speaking personally, I would much rather just go to Selkirk," Halliwell said.

The cost to bring a basic Echo unit to Selkirk is $275,000. The Rotary Club has a commitment from the province that the machine will be installed when the club raises $140,000. The day to day costs of staffing and supplying the Echo will be handled by the Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority.

Tickets for the event are available at Packer's Fashion, the Selkirk Butcher Shop, and Marlin Travel. People can also donate directly to Project Echo through the Selkirk Rotary website: selkirkrotary.ca.

Foundation looks to raise funds for peace officer memorial

By Justin Luschinski

A campaign to fund a memorial for fallen peace officers in Manitoba is seeking donations.

The Manitoba Peace Officer Memorial Foundation has started up a Go-FundMe campaign, where people can donate to help erect a memorial for fallen peace and police officers. The camping is hoping to raise $17,000 for the memorial, which will go up at Memorial Provincial Park located in downtown Winnipeg.

Robert Belanger, president of the Manitoba Peace Officer Memorial Foundation, said he's hoping that the public will give thanks to the people who protect them by donating.

"You have police and peace officers who are protecting your communities, and unfortunately they fall in the line of duty," Belanger said. "We're asking you to donate a little money to say thank you ... and thank you for doing what you do."

The monument will sit in between two other monuments, one that will honour fallen firefighters, and another that will honour labourers who lost their lives. The total cost of the project is $600,000, which had to be raised for all three monuments.

So far, the firefighters and the labourers have raised their portion of the project money. The police and peace officers have set up the Go-FundMe to help them reach their goal. As of late last week, the campaign had raised $300.

James Bracken, a resident of Selkirk

"WE'RE ASKING YOU TO DONATE A LITTLE MONEY TO SAY THANK YOU ... AND THANK YOU FOR DOING WHAT YOU DO."

and a friend of a fallen officer, said that he feels that it's important that something like this exists in Manitoba.

"I'm not sure how often I'd go, but it would be nice to know that the people who've lost loved ones in the line of duty were being respected," Bracken said.

According to Belanger, several other provinces, including British Columbia and Alberta, have police monuments. Manitoba is one of the few that does not. The monuments for firefighters the and labourers will begin construction in the spring of 2018.

Sharing common ground at beef conference

By Harry Siemens

A record attendance of diverse beef industry participants from across the country came together in Calgary for three days of connecting, sharing common ground, and gaining knowledge and inspiration from speakers at the second annual Canadian Beef Industry Conference (CBIC) this summer.

"We couldn't be more pleased with the excellent support and participation from across the industry that made for another outstanding national conference," said event chair Virgil Lowe.

The conference attracted over 700 attendees to its many sessions and discussion forums, he said, and undoubtedly "succeeded in building upon the success of last year's inaugural event.

"It has also created excellent momentum to further propel our National Beef Strategy forward as we look toward another exceptional conference planned for London, Ont., in 2018."

Langruth cattle producer Tom Teichroeb, a national director of the Canadian Cattlemen's Association and second vice-president for the Manitoba Cattlemen's Association, attended this year's conference.

"Up until last year, this was the Canadian Cattlemen's Association semiannual meeting. And I think it was recognized for some time now that the cattle industry is much more than that. So when people thought about it I guess they realized that this was a venue, especially the time of year it was, where they could capitalize on the fact that there is an industry, not just the cattle producer association, but other industries as well that could benefit from this. And so that's just what it's grown into, now," said Teichroeb.

"From my take, I think it reaffirmed that the industry has grown, and it's a much, much bigger even than I think we recognized. And perhaps this is an avenue we should have gone down there maybe a few years before that. The amount of youth that we saw was a highlight for me."

He said it just reemphasized the struggle going to the various producer meetings, either on the grain side or the cattle side, that for years the crowd has represented a much older demographic.

"This year, in this particular meeting, saw a tremendous amount of youth there. So that was the highlight, to see that the industry is growing and it's much more vibrant than I think maybe people anticipated,"Teichroeb said, noting the Cattlemen's Young Leaders and the Young Cattlemen's Council were there in big numbers.

"We saw a very large Mexican delegation a very large American delegation attend this year," he added. "So it's not just the national attention that we have, but it's also the international attention that we have. And that's really important considering all the other things which go on outside of this, which, obviously, like NAFTA and the potential of the other trades that are out there."

Peter Manness a financial consultant with MNP, thinks that the beef industry in Manitoba is in good shape. But he's still a little bit concerned that there's still some of the older producers that may be quitting prematurely.

"I think that's a fair assessment," said Teichroeb. "I don't think it is happening yet when Manitoba's Ag Minister Ralph Eichler the goal is to double the herd at some point in time not too far in the future. And we haven't real-ing, saw a tremendous amount of ized that just quite yet for a number of reasons. But I think the signals are there, that industry is growing and it's much more vibrant than I think is becoming pos-

"First of all, we have a provisional government that is I think more agfriendly and has more, I think, more goals and more policies out there that will help that growth," he said. "And that takes time. And the shape that our province was in is another challenge. It doesn't turn around overnight.

"It takes a whole industry push," Teichroeb said. "There are so many little opportunities out there, again, that has to be realized and developed and that hasn't quite taken effect just quite yet."

Teichroeb said one of the things that the cattle industry did not have for a long time are business risk management tools.

"We didn't have the cash advanced program for a long time that the grain side had. So there are business risk management tools that have only come into effect inside the last 10 to 15 years," he said.

"And if you look at things like crop insurance compared to that of, let's say, past year forage insurance, there is now finally a research program that highlighted under the committee that I chair, the domestic ag committee, which is going to be a satellite research group develop to into something that's going to be comparable to the crop insurance model that hopefully will cover from a more national perspective.

"It's going to have regional differences," he said. "But I think the potential is there to have a similar program as crop insurance does ... if we're patient and develop it right."

Homes for the Holidays gears up for 3rd annual event

Staff

Over the past two years, Homes for the Holidays Red River North has helped bring hundreds of visitors to the region and raised thousands of dollars for charity. This year, the house and heritage tour is getting even bigger.

Tickets went on sale on Tuesday, Oct. 10 at Sunova Credit Unions in Selkirk, Stonewall, Oakbank and Winnipeg (Leila and St. Mary's locations), Gaynor Family Regional Library and Packers Women's Fashion in Selkirk, and Pineridge Hollow in Birds Hill. A total of 1,000 tickets are being sold this year, which is 150 more than last year.

"Last year people were lined up outside our St. Mary's Road branch in Winnipeg before our doors opened, to buy tickets the first day," says Sunova managing partner Cyndi Typliski. "As a sponsor that tells us this is a project with wide and far-reaching community support, and we want to be part of that again."

Funds raised from the event will once again be shared with Nova House Women's Shelter and the Homes for All Fund at the Selkirk and District Community Foundation.

Nine new sites are joining the third annual tour of homes and historic sites decorated for the holidays on Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and Dec. 2.

A new addition is The Big House at Lower Fort Garry National Historic Site built in 1831, which brings back the sights, smells and sounds of a traditional Red River Christmas in the late 1800s.

This year's tour will also include lovingly decorated private and public properties such as a St. Andrews home dubbed "The Castle" by neighbours, a sprawling Tudor-style home in St. Clements and, back by popular demand, the 155-year-old stone Bunn House. The historic St. Clements Anglican Church and Evangelical Lutheran Church will welcome visitors as will two other modern homes owned by families in St. Andrews and St. Clements. There is also a mystery location known as the "Secret Home" in Selkirk that won't be revealed until ticket holders are on the tour.

Brand new this year is a tour stop that is an entire street. Manitoba Avenue East, the old downtown of Selkirk, will become Holiday Alley on Friday, Dec. 1 (6 - 9 p.m.) and Saturday, Dec. 2 (10 a.m. - 10 p.m.) and will be filled with light, art, sound, creativity, food and drink. Holiday Alley is free and everyone is welcome to attend, with or without a Homes for the Holidays ticket.

"It's incredible how much positive impact this initiative has had on the community, in so many ways and in such a short time. And that's helped attract new business supporters like Selkirk Diesel Repair and AutoCare Centre and the Canalta Hotel," says Homes for the Holidays 2017 co-chair

Musician helps long lost ship's memory live on

By Justin Luschinski

The memory of a long lost ship is being carried on by a Manitoba musician.

The Gaynor Family Regional Library recently hosted a memorial for the Suzanne-E, an 87-foot freighting vessel, which was caught in a storm and sank on Sept. 24, 1965. One of the main events of the memorial was a song about the ship performed live.

Don Swidinsky, a musician and creator of the "Lake Winnipeg Legends" album, said that while he was playing the song at the library, he felt spiritually fulfilled.

"It just answers a deep need in my soul. I feel like, it's a piece of myself. If you think of it like a river flowing, but the top is frozen over," Swidinsky said. "Now, the ice has been broken through, the warmth has come back ... I was getting emotional, and they were feeling the same thing."

Lois Taylor, a musician and friend of Swidinsky, said that after performing the song with him, she was happy that some of the audience members appeared to be at peace.

"The song used to really bother me, but it's a history song, and history is sometimes sad," Taylor said. "This is really an exercise at putting things to rest, and I think we've done that.

"One woman, after we were singing, came up and said she finally feels at peace after all these years."

The sinking of the Suzanne-E claimed the lives of nine people, including Allan Clemons, who was from Selkirk. Many of the crewmen were from the Interlake area. The only survivor was Clifford Everette from Berens River, who was 24-years-old when he set sail.

Everette remained silent about the events of that day, until three decades later, when he was interviewed for a CBC documentary in 1996.

Suzan Berry, the director of the Gaynor Family Regional Library's Circle of Friends, said that the story of the Suzanne-E resonates with a lot of community members because it's an important part of the area's history.

"I think it resonates with people because many people in this community are connected to the fishing and boating (industry)," Berry said. "Some of the people knew the sailors on the boat ... we have this sad feeling that these people died ... they didn't get to live like we did."

Families come together to mark MMIW awareness day

Staff

The families of missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls gathered with Indigenous organizations at the Legislative Building last week in recognition of the Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls Honouring and Awareness Day.

According to police reports, more than 1,200 Indigenous women and girls in Canada have gone missing or been murdered since 1980. For decades, their families have called for greater recognition of the crisis of violence facing Indigenous women and girls, which led to the creation of the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls. "We're thankful and humbled to be participate in this gathering, which was organized by the families of missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls and the Indigenous organizations that are working on their behalf," Indigenous and Northern Relations Minister Eileen Clarke stated in a release last week. "We respect and support the wisdom, experiences and recommendations of these families and Indigenous community leaders who have already contributed so much to our province's unique volume of experience on this issue."

Manitoba has affirmed its participation in the national Inquiry by passing an Order in Council that provides the federally appointed commissioners the authority to examine the considerable work and analysis already completed in Manitoba. This material includes Manitoba inquest reports, reviews of the child welfare system, a 2016 report on the vulnerability of marginalized Indigenous girls, The Legacy of Phoenix Sinclair—Achieving the Best for All Our Children, and the Aboriginal Justice Inquiry.

Clarke noted the province is committed to working collaboratively with the new Manitoba Co-ordinating Committee that has been established to ensure the inquiry is family and survivor-centred.

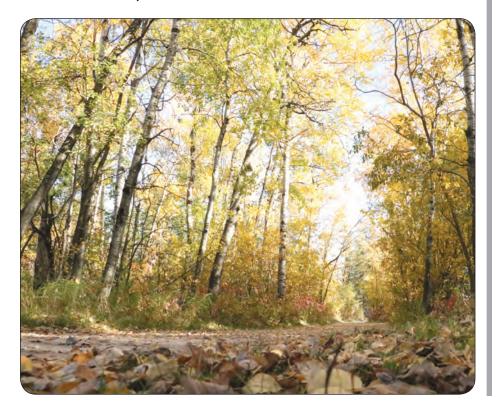

The Manitoba Co-ordinating Committee includes leadership from the Assembly of Manitoba Chiefs, Manitoba Keewatinowi Okimakanak Inc. (MKO), the Southern Chiefs Organization Inc. and the Assembly of First Nations.

"As we gather together on Oct. 4, 2017, to remember MMIWG, we need to recognize this is not an Indigenous issue, this is a Canadian issue," said MKO Grand Chief Sheila North Wilson.

West St. Paul water project ramps up

By Justin Luschinski

West St. Paul's water project is entering a new phase.

Last week, crews began extending the water pipeline down Main Street towards Rivercrest Hotel. Digging began outside of the RM's Municipal Hall, and will aim to bring waste and water services to West St. Paul residents north of Grassmere Road.

West St. Paul Mayor Bruce Henley said that the project aims to solve many of the safety issues that come with well water.

"The province is taking this seriously, we're taking this seriously ... We've been able to connect 900 homes to the sewer system that will curb those safety issues," Henley said.

The municipality is also constructing a water reservoir and pump house on Kapelus Drive. The water will come from the Headingly Water Treatment Plant and flow to the pump house, which is expected to be completed in November.

Brent Olynyk, the RM's CAO, said the water project will bring new development opportunities to the municipality as well as stop residents from moving to another community.

"I know a lot of young people who want to stay in West St. Paul, but they can't because there's no new development, they want to move into smaller homes or condos ... We've lost a lot of pensioners who say that their lot is too big for them, they want a smaller place. Now we can have some units

Stony Mountain institution granted Freedom of the Village

By Natasha Tersigni

To commemorate the 140th anniversary of the Stony Mountain Institution and the important role that staff has played over the years in building the community, RM of Rockwood Reeve Jim Campbell has granted Freedom of the Village to the Stony Mountain institution and Correctional Service of Canada (CSC).

The granting of the Freedom of the Town/City/Village is a long-standing tradition that honours valued community groups or military units. To show that a municipality has trust in a particular group they allow them the privilege to march through the streets with their flags and drums.

In a large traditional ceremony held on Oct. 5, Stony Mountain Institution Warden Robert Bonnefoy and hundreds of his CSC staff marched to the Stony Mountain Community Centre to formally request Freedom of the Village from Campbell.

"Freedom of the Village is a very rare honour bestowed on a valued member of the community. Corrections Canada and the men and women that have served in the Stony Mountain Institution have earned that honour," said Campbell.

"People ask me what it is like living next to or close to a prison and my response is 'I don't even notice it or think about it'. That is a credit to the men and women that work there. Our community has a level of trust and a level of comfort because of the loyal and dedicated staff that work here for Corrections Canada."

When the institution opened 140 years ago there was one house in the village and now there are approximately 600. Campbell credits the Stony Mountain Institution for not only establishing the community but for continuing to play a major role throughout Stony Mountain.

"They have helped us on larger municipal projects most recently sewer and water. Throughout the years they have provided and supervised many work parties thru out the community. They have cleaned up the cemetery, painted the community centre and done several other projects in support of Stony Mountain," added Campbell.

Along with the granting of the Freedom of the Village, the RM of Rockwood passed a resolution proclaiming Correctional Services of Canada Apperception Day will take place annually on June 1st in Stony Mountain.

Bonnefoy thanked Campbell and the municipality for bestowing the honours on the institution and spoke on the important role that Stony Mountain Institution staff plays in protecting the community.

"To serve and protect our community is a profound and solid mandate, one that requires the support and collaboration of our entire community to accomplish. Our institution and our staff are deeply grateful to the community of Stony Mountain for your continued collaboration, invaluable trust and unwavering support," said Bonnefoy who emphasized that CSC staffs service both past and present has not been without sacrifice. Since its inception 140 years ago, five CSC staff has lost their lives at the Stony Mountain Institution during the conduct of duty.

Following the granting of the Freedom of the Village ceremony, Campbell joined the procession made up of hundreds of CSC staff and led by the Winnipeg Police Band to walk the streets of Stony Mountain.

Fishermen begin KJHL regular season with shootout win

Staf

It wasn't easy, but the Selkirk Fishermen started its Keystone Junior Hockey League regular season with a nice victory.

Selkirk's Drayton Mendrun was the lone player to score in the shootout, lifting the Fishermen to an exciting 4-3 win over the Lundar Falcons Saturday evening in Warren.

Trailing 2-0 late in the second period, Mendrun scored the first of three Fishermen goals. Talon Kelly and Mackenzie Playford, on the power play, netted Selkirk's other goals.

Zac Bone and Brandon Worthing scored first-period goals for Lundar and then Brent Johannson tallied midway in the third.

Austin DeBoer made 27 saves for the win.

Selkirk wrapped up its preseason with a 2-2 tie versus the Arborg Ice Dawgs in Gimli on Oct. 4.

Mendrun and Troy Johnston scored second-period goals for the Fishermen.

Riley Bannerman was in goal for Selkirk.

Selkirk visited the North Winnipeg Satelites this past Tuesday evening but no score was available at press time.

The Fishermen will continue on the road with a pair of games with weekend, beginning with OCN on Saturday (8 p.m.). Selkirk will then play Peguis on Sunday at 4 p.m.

The Fishermen's home opener is Oct. 20 when the Fisher River Hawks visit the Rec Complex.

Karbonik, Cvar selected to U18 Team Manitoba female roster

Staff

Hockey Manitoba announced last week the 2017 U18 Team Manitoba roster for the Women's National Championship taking place Nov. 1-5 in Quebec City.

On that roster are Stonewall's Olivia Cvar and St. Andrews' Hailey Karbonik. Karbonik plays defence for the St. Mary's Academy prep team while Cvar is a forward for the Balmoral Hall prep squad.

Also on the team are twin sisters Keyanna and Keyara Lea from Berens River, who are attending school and playing hockey with the Boston Shamrocks.

The Quebec City tournament includes eight provincial and regional teams, including Alberta, Atlantic, British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario Blue, Ontario Red, Quebec and Saskatchewan.

Highlighting the roster are three returning players from last year's U18 Team Manitoba - Ashley McFadden (St. Mary's Academy), Sarah Dennehy (St. Mary's Academy) and Cvar.

Team Manitoba also features two goaltenders - Halle Oswald and Logan Angers - who were invited to the 2017 U18 women's national team selection camp in Calgary. Oswald was selected as one of the goaltenders for U18 Team Canada.

This year's Manitoba roster sees a split of 11 players from the various sports schools and nine from the Midget AAA league (MFMHL). The roster for Team Manitoba was determined through a selection process which included a spring camp (68 athletes), a Top-40 camp (40 athletes) and concluded with a summer prep camp and the Bison exhibition series (27 athletes).

This year's U18 Team Manitoba will be led by head coach Ashley Van Aggelen of the Winnipeg Avros (MFM-HL). She was most recently U18 Team Manitoba's head coach at the Canada Winter Games in Prince George, B.C.

Assisting Van Aggelen will be Chris McColm of Eastman and Eugene Kaminsky and Gord Woodhall of Winnipeg.

McColm returns as an assistant coach after having served in that capacity with 2016 Team Manitoba in Regina. This will be the first tenure as an assistant coach for Kaminsky with Team Manitoba after having participated as a coach at various selection camps over the years.

Woodhall, meanwhile, is returning as goaltending coach for 2017 and will also be taking on the role of video coach at the tournament.

The Program of Excellence is designed to provide high-performance female players with the opportunity to develop advanced skills as well as an introduction to the concepts needed to play at an elite level.

Players from the Program of Excellence go on to play at the USPORTS, NCAA and international levels.

Steelers slap Capitals, knock off Neepawa

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Steelers sent a message to the Virden Capitals on Sunday.

And Virden heard the message loud and clear.

The Steelers showed that they can be just as good as the MJHL's elite on any given night as they steamrolled past the second-place Oil Capitals 4-1 Sunday evening in Manitoba Junior Hockey League action at Tundra & Oil Gas Place.

"The weekend was a really good effort by our guys," said Steelers' head coach Dustin Hughes Monday afternoon. "We had a really good game in Virden last night. We controlled the play for the most part."

Thunder Bay's Matthew Caruso led Selkirk with a goal and an assist while Brendan Hill, Connor Barley, and William Middleton also tallied.

Carter Barley also had a two-point night for Selkirk. Jeran Knorr put Virden on the board at 17:16 of the third.

Hayden Dola was solid in goal for Selkirk, stopping 31 of 32 shots.

The Steelers started their weekend Saturday evening with another great effort in a 4-2 road win over an improved Neepawa Natives' team.

"They're a competitive team and Virden is a good team," Hughes said. Colby Dudek opened the game's scoring at 11:24 of the first period, assisted by Carter Barley. It was Dudek's third goal of the season.

Nathan Hillis made it 2-0 Selkirk at 13:08 of the second with his fourth goal of the campaign. Connor Barley and Nico Labossiere drew assists on the goal.

Neepawa's Griffin Chwaliboga and Labossiere traded goals to start the third and then the Natives pulled to within a goal when Jordan Martin tallied at 18:46. Connor Barley scored his fourth goal of the season into an empty net with 51 seconds left in regulation time as Neepawa goalie Evan Robert, an ex-Steeler, was pulled for an extra attacker.

Connor Barley was very good in the game, finishing with three points, and was deservedly named the game's first star. For his efforts, Connor Barley was later named as a runner-up for the MJHL player of the week award, the league announced Monday.

Hillis was also very good with a three-point effort.

Landon Poiron made 25 saves for Selkirk and was selected as the game's second star.

On Oct. 3, the Steelers lost 6-5 to the Waywayseecappo Wolverines. After a scoreless first period, the two teams were tied at 2-2 after 40 minutes.

"(The loss) sucks but maybe it was a good wakeup call for our team,"

Connor Barley scored his fourth goal Hughes said. "(Our guys) responded of the season into an empty net with well on the weekend."

The third period was a wild one with seven goals scored.

Connor Barley led Selkirk with a goal and two assists while Colby Jacquet and Labossiere added a goal and an assist apiece.

Carter Barley and Hillis also tallied for Selkirk.

Newly-acquired forward Riley Vautour led Waywayseecappo with two goals and an assist. Derek Wood, Brendan Martin, Adam Withers, and Ethan Stuckless also tallied.

Dola made 24 saves in the loss.

Selkirk hosted the Winnipeg Blues on Tuesday evening (no score was available at press time) and then the Steelers will have Dauphin here Friday and Waywayseecappo on Saturday.

Both games start at 7:30 p.m. at the Rec Complex.

Steelers add Weir as team's communications manager

Staff

The Selkirk Steelers announced last week the addition of Corey Weir as the team's communications manager.

"We feel the addition of Weir to the front office will help us fill voids that currently exist within our social media (and) communications platforms," read a media release. "Corey adds an element of experience and professionalism to our team as we continue to push forward in a positive direction."

Weir is looking forward to joining the Steelers.

"I'm really excited to be joining the Selkirk Steelers' organization," he said. "Hockey has always been a huge passion of mine and being able to join a team like the Steelers, in the beautiful city of Selkirk, is something I very much look forward to."

Weir joins the Steelers following stints working in various sports markets. He got his start in Toronto working as an intern on TSN's Sportscentre. From there, Weir moved back to Winnipeg to take on a role with Football Manitoba, which led to a position with the Canadian Football League.

Shortly after his stay in Winnipeg, Weir got his start in hockey in Edmonton, when he took a position with the Western Hockey League's Oil KIngs. Joining the Steelers' organization is something of a homecoming for Weir as he grew up in Lac du Bonnet. Weir's family currently resides there, so he spends a lot of his free time in Lac du Bonnet.

"We are very excited to have Weir join the team and feel that he brings a level of knowledge of the sport, social media, and communications that will help make us better organization," said the release.

St. Andrews native nets first win with Blades

By Brian Bowman

Ryan Kubic is getting used to his new Western Hockey League team.

The St. Andrews' product won his first game with the Saskatoon Blades, making 19 saves in a 5-4 home victory over the Calgary Hitmen on Sept. 30.

Kubic, 19, was traded by the Vancouver Giants to Saskatoon back on Sept. 20 in exchange for a secondround pick in the 2019 WHL Bantam draft.

Originally selected by the Giants in the second round (39th overall) in the 2013 WHL Bantam draft, Kubic suited up in 109 regular-season games with Vancouver.

During that span, Kubic compiled a 32-58-7-5 record with an .895 save percentage, a 3.53 goals-against-average, and five shutouts.

"I was a little bit shocked," said Kubic on the Blades' website after learning about the trade." It was (a) surprise for me but now being here with the guys - it's a great atmosphere.

"It's definitely an honour when a team wants you to be their guy," said Kubic.

Kubic holds the Giants' franchise record shutout streak - not allowing a goal in three consecutive games back in 2015.

He was named the Giants' rookie of the year in 2015-16 and the team's "Unsung Hero" in 2016-17. Kubic also captured the 2016-17 Players Choice Award and Three Stars Award.

Last season, he became the Giants'

single season saves record

"IT WAS (A) SURPRISE FOR ME BUT NOW BEING HERE WITH THE GUYS - IT'S A GREAT ATMOSPHERE." holder with 1,681. On the international level, Kubic represented Canada at the 2014 World Under-17 Hockey Challenge. "We want to thank Ryan for his years of service and for providing the Vancouver Giants with top-level goaltending," said Giants' general manager Glen Hanlon. "We wish Ryan nothing but continued success as he continues his WHL career with the Saskatoon Blades."

To make room for Kubic, Saskatoon sent overage goaltender Logan Flodell to the Swift Current Broncos in exchange for a second-round pick in 2020 and a fifth-round pick in 2019. Blades' general manager Colin

St. Andrews' Ryan Kubic recently earned his first win with the Western Hockey League's Saskatoon Blades after being traded by the Vancouver Giants.

Priestner was pleased to acquire the talented Kubic, whose MJHL rights are held by the Selkirk Steelers.

"We now have a five-year plan in net moving forward and this fills the gap that would have been created with Logan graduating next year," Priestner said on the Blades' website.

Kubic is expected to be the Blades' No. 1 netminder this season.

"Ryan was one of only six 1998-born goalies to play for Team Canada at the World U17 Hockey Challenge and is a very athletic and confident goalie," Priestner noted.

"He had three consecutive shutouts in his rookie season behind an extremely young D-core and we feel very confident with him in our net for the next two seasons."

MacFarlane selected to Team Manitoba U16 male hockey roster

Staff

Hockey Manitoba announced the final roster for U-16 (male) Team Manitoba – which included East St. Paul's Jordan MacFarlane – that will compete at the 2017 WHL Cup in Calgary later this month.

The roster, comprised of 20 players, features some of the best Manitoba talent born in 2003. The selection process began with player scouting throughout the 2016-17 Bantam season, followed by U-16 Program of Excellence camps held in April, May, and August.

A final evaluation exhibition game took place in late September. Team Manitoba will travel Oct. 15-22 to compete at the 2017 WHL Cup, which includes a pre-tournament exhibition game against the centralized pre-Olympic roster for Canada's national women's team.

The U-16 roster includes 15 2017 WHL Bantam draft picks, including Seth Jarvis (11th overall, Portland Winterhawks) and Daemon Hunt (15th, Moose Jaw Warriors).

Player selection breakdown by Hockey Manitoba regions include Brandon (three), Central Plains (one), Norman (one), Parkland (one), Westman South (three), Winnipeg (nine), and Yellowhead (two).

The Western Hockey League, in partnership with BC Hockey, Hockey Alberta, Saskatchewan Hockey Association, Hockey Manitoba and Hockey Canada, will host the WHL Cup at the WinSport Markin MacPhail Centre located in Calgary Olympic Park.

The WHL Cup, formerly known as the Western Canada U-16 Challenge Cup, is a four-team round-robin tournament and skills combine with Alberta, B.C., Manitoba, and Saskatchewan. It serves as a major showcase for top WHL prospects and Hockey Canada's U-17 Program of Excellence.

Team Manitoba's staff includes Selkirk's Kyle Prystupa (director of operations) and Brenna Cyr (athletic therapist).

Sledz wins KPAC varsity girls' race again

Staff

The Selkirk Royals were very good in the KPAC varsity girls' cross-country race held last week at Bird's Hill Park.

Selkirk finished first overall with 27 points, narrowly edging out River East by a point.

Tonie Sledz once again led the entire field, finishing first overall after an impressive time of 15:38. That was 40 seconds faster that River East's Angela Kroeker.

The Royals' Alexa Scott was fourth (16:44), followed by teammate Asha Gurney (17:12), who placed fifth. Other Selkirk runners in the race featured Charlotte Wilmott (10th, 17:47), Kate Jessop (13th, 18:48), and Lily Robertson (19th, 20:52).

The varsity boys' race saw the Royals' Will Miller place 11th after a time of 23:45. Garden City's Matt Klassen was first at 21:39.

In the junior varsity boys' race, Selkirk's Heath Kurys was very good, finishing third (13:33). He was behind only Garden City's William Boyle (13:15) and Josh Gonzales (13:16).

Other Royal runners included Hunter Gaborieau (eighth, 15:02), Jamin Anderson (14th, 16:05), and Terrence Tonj (20th, 17:59). The junior varsity girls' race, meanwhile, saw Garden City's Margarett Watt place first overall with a time of 13:14. Selkirk runners featured Lucia Garcia (ninth, 14:48), Lea Girard (23rd, 17:27), and Clara Poza (25th, 17:34).

The Royals competed at the MHSAA cross country provincials Wednesday but no results were known at press time.

Royals junior varsity boys improving on volleyball court

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals finished out of the playoff round at a 24-team MBCI junior varsity boys' volleyball tournament in Winnipeg last Saturday.

Selkirk was 5-5 in sets during its sixteam pool play, which left them out of the eight-team playoff.

The Royals won matches against Jeanne Sauve (25-19, 25-14) and Kildonan East (25-14, 25-19) in pool play but lost to Westwood (22-25, 10-25) and Northlands Parkway (18-25, 24-26).

Selkirk split with Calvin Christian, losing the first set 25-18 before rebounding to win the second one, 25-20. The .500 record left Selkirk third in its pool. The top two teams in each pool advanced to the playoff portion of the tournament.

"We played a lot of games this weekend but we were pretty inconsistent," said Royals' head coach Ryan Penner. "I think we have the talent to make a deep run this year but we make a lot of errors on our side."

Selkirk struggled on day one of the tournament but got much better on Saturday. It was the Royals' second tournament action of the season as they placed fourth at a Miles Mac event.

"It's good to see what we've practiced show up in games," Penner said of his team's improvement. "I don't think we're there yet but we are progressing every week. We're looking to peak at the right time."

In KPAC play, Selkirk was 2-1 heading into this week's two games. The Royals defeated Miles Mac and Murdoch Mackay but was swept last Thursday by Garden City.

"(Garden City) is a good team but we had our chances in the first and second sets," Penner recalled."But we just couldn't finish. We had too many errors on our side. We're looking to play cleaner and more consistent volleyball.

"Once we stop hurting ourselves with errors, I think we'll be right there."

Selkirk hosted winless West Kildonan this past Tuesday and then will get a crack at first-place MBCI on Thursday.

The Royals will then host a home tournament this weekend in Selkirk. It will be a great test to see how Selkirk matches up with some of the best teams in the province.

"We have the top teams coming," Penner noted. "Everyone in that draw is in the top-10 provincially. We're looking to play our best volleyball and be consistent."

Lightning winless at Bantam AAA showcase

Staff

The Interlake Lightning finished with an 0-3 record at a Bantam AAA Showcase female event last weekend in Winnipeg.

Interlake started play with an 8-3 loss to the Winnipeg East Saints last Friday.

The Lightning's Kennady Christensen scored twice in the second period (one coming with the man advantage) and then Sarah Shewchuk tallied in the third.

Keely Enns-Finsson and Hannah Hutchinson each had two assists for the Lightning. Brooke Wadge and Emma Pool also assisted on Interlake goals.

Katelyn Dorsch made 48 saves for the Lightning.

Interlake was then defeated 11-1 by Northeast on Saturday.

Wadge scored the first goal of the game just 1:53 into the contest, assisted by Emms-Finnson.

But it was all Northeast after that. The Predators scored seven second-period goals and then added three more in the third.

Natalie McCann and Anya Epp split the goaltending duties for the Lightning.

Interlake wrapped up action with a good effort in a close 5-3 loss to Yellowhead.

Emma-Finnson and Pool, on the power play, scored for the Lightning in the second period. Christensen added a power-play marker in the third.

Interlake's Christensen and Shyanne Chartrand had assists in the game.

December 26, 1914 - October 9, 2017

After a lengthy illness on Monday, October 9, 2017, at Red River Place Personal Care Home, Mom passed away at the age of 102 vears.

Irene was born on a farm in St. Andrews, one of 12 children and met her husband Fred when he came to work at the farm. They were married prior to him leaving for overseas to serve in the Second World War. After the war mom farmed in the Petersfield area with her husband until retiring in 1967. It was during this time that mom worked as a nurses aid at the Selkirk Mental Hospital for a total of 23 years. She was also an avid bowler and curler.

Once in Selkirk, Irene offered room and board to many hockey players for the Selkirk Steelers, staff at the Mental Hospital and even the chief engineer whose job it was to build the ship "Lord

Selkirk II"

It was during her retired years that Irene got involved in volunteering in the community. She was an active member at the Gordon Howard Centre where she belonged to the quilting group, played bridge twice a week and delivered meals on wheels to those in need.

Irene was constantly visiting people in hospital or driving people to and from shopping and picking up people who didn't drive and taking them to doctors appointments or to various whist drivers.

As a result of her volunteer work. Irene was awarded the Governor General's Caring Canadian Award in April of 2009.

Irene was predeceased by her parents, George and Margaret Patton; husband Fred; son Barry; seven brothers and four sisters. Mom leaves to mourn her passing one son. Terry, wife Donna and daughter-in-law, Dorothy; five grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren as well as numerous nieces and nephews.

Cremation has taken place. A private family memorial service will take place at a later date.
