Two teens face charges after online threats close schools

By Lindsey Enns

Multiple online threats prompted the Lord Selkirk School Division (LSSD) to shut down all 15 of their schools on Monday and put schools into "hold and secure" mode on Tuesday morning.

As a precaution, all LSSD schools were put into "hold and secure" mode after another online threat was made via a text message on Tuesday morning. The hold and secure was later lifted before 2 p.m. on Tuesday.

Selkirk RCMP said on Tuesday they have increased patrols at schools throughout the community and added "online threats are taken very seriously and anyone participating in this type of activity can be charged." No further details were available before press deadline Tuesday.

LSSD Supt. Michele Polinuk said they were notified last Sunday evening about a threat made online and then a second post was made later that same evening.

Polinuk said the school division's online messaging system was down Monday morning, which forced them to rely on their website and social media to get the word out to parents, staff and students.

"This community is great at ensuring those who need to know know," Polinuk told the Record on Monday. "People were trying to get the word out as much as possible and RCMP acted right away."

On Tuesday, Selkirk RCMP said they have charged 18-year-old Kingsley Brett Williams with two counts of Uttering Threats and one count of Failing to Comply with an Undertaking in regards to online threats made last Sunday. A 16-year-old male youth has also been charged with one count of Uttering Threats.

Both accused have been remanded into custody and their court appearance was scheduled for Tuesday morning.

An 18-year-old female who was previously arrested for uttering threats will not face any charges.

Selkirk RCMP said they are not looking for any other suspects and the investigation is continuing.

Polinuk said the decision to close down all of their schools on Monday was to ensure the safety of their staff and students. She added she believes this is the first time the school division has had to close all schools due to an online threat.

These online threats follow an incident which took place on Oct. 16 when a 17-year-old high school student was arrested after he brought a shotgun and ammunition to the Comp in his backpack. The school was put into lockdown that same morning.

Selkirk Bear Clan looks to reopen homeless shelter

Red River Dental to move into Easton Place Clinic in 2019

By Justin Luschinski

The Selkirk Bear Clan Patrol is looking to reopen the city's shuttered homeless shelter in hopes of providing those in need with a warm place to sleep this winter.

Local bear clan volunteers submitted their proposal to the City of Selkirk on Nov. 26. They're looking to take over the former St. Francis Place homeless shelter building located at 202 Christie Ave., which is owned by the city. The bear clan says the building could become a headquarters, a homeless shelter, and a community centre where residents can find resources to help them get back on their feet.

Lainee Walker of the Selkirk Bear Clan Patrol said they want to get the facility up and running as soon as possible.

"It's starting to get cold out, and we need a homeless shelter here. We need city council to support us, we need a safe place for people to sleep," Walker said. "If we have a shelter, it'll help with vandalism, with petty crime, because people are desperate when they're cold.

"We need to heal this community."

St. Francis Place, which closed its doors nearly one year ago due to a lack of volunteers, was run by the Our Daily Bread Soup Kitchen and consisted of six beds serving as an emergency shelter for the city's homeless. It opened in 2014.

René Gauthier, the former chair of Our Daily Bread, told the Record in an earlier interview that usage of the shelter had been shrinking leaving them to wonder if there was a need for a shelter in Selkirk.

Lainee said they've been in contact with the city, and they're working out the finer details of their proposal. The Selkirk Bear Clan currently operates out of Selkirk United Church, who let them use the space for their Thursday evening patrols.

"WE'RE ON TREATY 1 LAND, AND THIS WILL BE A PLACE THAT WELCOMES EVERYONE, FROM ALL FAITHS."

Selkirk Bear Clan organizer Tara Campbell said while they're thankful for their hospitality, the Bear Clan needs their own space.

"The United Church has been amazing, we thank them for opening their doors for us, and letting us hold meetings there. They've been so good to us, but they open their doors for everyone, and we do need our own space," Campbell said. "We're on Treaty 1 land, and this will be a place that welcomes everyone, from all faiths."

Campbell said they're also planning to use the space as a community hub. They plan to host things such as bead weaving classes, support groups, and guest speakers to help promote Indigenous culture in the area. They're thinking about calling the building "Kookum's House," kookum being the Cree term for "grandmother."

For now, the Selkirk Bear Clan will continue to help the community any way they can. If you would like to volunteer, or for more information, email the Selkirk Bear Clan at selkirkbearclan@gmail.com.

The owner and driving force behind a new health, wellness and doctor training centre opening in Selkirk next year has revealed one of the first tenants moving into the medical clinic.

Dr. Anthony Anozie told the Record via email last week that Red River Dental will be moving into Easton Place Clinic in the summer of 2019.

"I am delighted that such a successful and well established dental practice has chosen to relocate to Easton Place," Anozie said. "There will be more announcements in the new year helping to establish Easton Place as a one stop destination for health, wellness and education."

Dr. Jamie Wozney, who along with Dr. Thomas Lee and Dr. Kira Kjeer practices at Red River Dental, confirmed they would be moving into the clinic hopefully before the fall of 2019. They are currently located at 347 Main St. Wozney said they plan to vacate the space and are hoping to sell it.

He added Red River Dental has been practicing in Selkirk for more than 20 years and the move to the new clinic will provide them with more room to grow.

"Technology is changing and we want to provide Selkirk with an up to date dental clinic and just where we are we're lacking space," Wozney said. "We just want to start fresh and provide Selkirk and the Interlake with a total modernized dental facility."

Crews officially broke ground on the 16 acres of land where the Easton Place Clinic is being built, across from the Selkirk Regional Health Centre on Easton Drive, during a brief sod turning gathering in early October. Construction of the first phase of the project is expected to be completed in the summer of 2019.

The project was originally announced in 2016 and is being personally funded by Anozie, with some assistance from Sunova Credit Union.

Once complete, it is estimated the health and wellness centre could cost around $80 to $100 million.

All ages welcome at The Merch during Métis music event

By Justin Luschinski

Métis music and families filled The Merch during Holiday Alley last weekend.

Last Friday and Saturday, kids could stop in at The Merch to enjoy some free pop and listen to some great Métis music, which was a free event open to all ages.

Dean Peterson, the owner of The Merch, said he hopes the event helped erase some of the stereotypes about the local bar.

"It's been here so long, it's had many, many different hats. And I think the hat The Merch is wearing now, is the right one," Peterson said, as families were cheering for the jigging violin stylings of Prairie Men with Glen Hewgil. "People get to come in and experience the room, the music, the community. I want everyone to know 'hey, this is a great place, there's some great people working here.' People need to see all the amazing Métis talent we have in Selkirk."

In total, 12 bands played music at the bar during the space of the two-day event. Peterson said it was an opportunity to show the diverse range of styles in Métis music, from more traditional jigging to hard-rock bands.

Eight-year-old Atreese Chief of Selkirk enjoys some Métis music at The Merch last Saturday.

Peterson said the event, which was sponsored by N4 Construction and the Manitoba Métis Federation, was a success, bringing in a lot of new business, and he's taking notes on how to make the event better for next year.

Cheryl Magnusson brought her eight-year-old grandson, Atreese Chief, to check out The Merch and some Métis music last Saturday. Magnusson said this is a good move for the Merch.

"It's really good. It's a great place, and I'm glad that more people get to stop in," Magnusson said. "We're having a lot of fun. I'd bring (Chief) back next year."

Community Futures seeks Just Watch Me video contest entries

Submitted

A unique contest is now seeking video submissions from rural Canadians living with a disability or health condition and running their own business in Manitoba.

The Just Watch ME! video contest opened on Monday, Dec. 3, coinciding with the United Nations International Day of Persons with Disabilities, a day observed worldwide to empower persons with disabilities and ensure inclusiveness and equality. The contest is an initiative aimed at celebrating the small business success of rural Canadians with disabilities and encouraging others to embrace entrepreneurship on their own terms.

In Canada, the unemployment rate is higher for people with disabilities. According to Employment and Social Development Canada, persons with disabilities are more likely to be unemployed, to live in poverty and to earn less than people without a disability. They state that only 49 per cent of Canadians with disabilities, aged 25 to 64, are employed, compared to 79 per cent of Canadians without disabilities. Canadians with disabilities also reportedly earn 44 per cent less than Canadians without disabilities.

The contest is open for submissions from December 3 until January 22, 2019. The winners will be announced in February of 2019. There are several prizes to be won, including cash prizes for Start Up and Seasoned Entrepreneurs. This year's first place Seasoned Entrepreneur winner will receive $1,000 cash and additional prizes to support their business, while the Start Up winner will receive $250 cash and business support prizes. Additional prizes supplied by contest sponsors will also be awarded, and are listed on the contest website, justwatchmecontest.ca.

El Niño could bring mild, snowy winter weather to Interlake region

By Justin Luschinski

A mild and snowy winter could be in the forecast for Selkirk and Interlake region residents, according to Environment Canada.

The Interlake region might get a warmer than average winter from December to January, based on Environment Canada's latest forecast. This is based on an El Niño weather pattern, that will bring slightly higher-than-average temperatures over the next few months.

Amanda Prysizney, a decision support meteorologist with Environment Canada Manitoba, said that their forecast is based on a number of weather trends.

"According to (climate forecasts), there's an 80 per cent chance of an El Niño this year, which will affect the jet stream. There's likely to be more precipitation, higher than the average, with some slightly warmer temperatures," Prysizney said. "It's not a guarantee, that's just the trend we seem to be going in."

El Niño is when the Pacific Ocean warms up, which causes high-pressure weather patterns to travel around the world. Typically, this means higher temperatures and greater precipitation in various regions. One of the strongest El Niño patterns occurred in 2015-16, and gave Canada its second-warmest winter in recorded history.

According to Prysizney, November was slightly warmer, around -4 C, than it normally is in Manitoba, which typically is -8 C. However, there's a low-pressure system moving from Colorado to Ontario, meaning that temperatures will drop back down for the first few weeks of December.

Some residents say they are looking forward to a mild winter.

Trevor Hitchens of Selkirk says he's been enjoying the milder temperatures so far this month.

"(My son and I) aren't the biggest fans of winter, we have to stay cooped up at home whenever it gets really cold," Hitchens said. "Hopefully the weather stays nice, so we can get out and enjoy some outdoor activities."

On average, the Interlake gets about 23 centimetres of snow in December, with temperatures averaging around -8 C high to -15 C.

RED RIVER > CHALET BEACH > LAKE WINNIPEG

> ARNIE WEIDL

Here's hoping Santa brings you a fish finder

Greetings fellow fishers. Last Tuesday the trees along the Red River downstream of Selkirk were adorned with a Christmas-like snow fall as "old red" carried me down the road past the monkey trails. Coming off the rivers ice holding a curious structure of white plastic piping was a chap trudging toward his parked truck. I turned and nosed up to him calling out, "What the heck is that gismo?" as I left my truck. "It's a transducer for the best sonar underwater fish finder on the market," he shouted quickly, his eyes darting about, his arms gesturing with energy. "I'm Arnie, I write a fishing column. Would you have a fishing experience my readers might enjoy?" I asked. "I can think of one," he shot back putting his transducer beside its monitor on his trucks tailgate.

"I'm Jeff Laurin from Winnipeg and I remember once when my father-in-law and I went ice fishing on Lake Winnipeg, it turned into a one step forward and two steps backward experience." They were about to do some tailgate fishing, Jeff continued and when he took the auger to drill an ice hole the pin holding the drill to the motor let go just as he broke through to water! The drill just kept on going right to the bottom! They tried to snag it-but no luck! Finally, discouraged, they went home.

The next day they returned to the hole only to realize it was frozen over. Back to town they went and bought a new drill to rescue the lost one. Later at the re-drilled hole they worked blind making many holes trying to find the old one. It took hours before they snagged and brought it up. As it lay on the ice with Jeff looking at it, he remembered an ad that showed a sonar fish finder that would have displayed the sunken drill. That night at home he searched the internet and now before me as Jeff told his story he proudly demonstrated his new very pricey Garmin Live Scope. "This thing shows by computer resolved sonar in real time the top and bottom of the water and the fish in size and movement in a thirty foot circle! I always wanted one of these things and if I ever lose another drill..." his voice trailed off as he cast a humorous grin my way.

Again, a few days later low warm grey clouds mixed with snow, mist and fog had turned the trees into a white Christmas-like hoarfrost laden wonder world. I was on my way to visit with anglers on the ice off the west shore of Lake Winnipeg when the driver of a truck, about to meet and pass me had a worried look on his face. I stopped and rolled my window down. He did the same. After a brief hello he explained their trailer on the ice had gotten a flat. Hoping to help I told him I would go home to fetch the tools he needed to change the tire if he and his gang would think of a fishing story for us while I was gone. His concerned expression relaxed. I headed home, got the tools and went back finding them on the ice. The three younger guys in the group went to work while a tall, well built fellow walked up to me saying he was Mike Whittington and that they were from Stonewall. He then dropped into the snow on his stomach under the trailer and with strong bare hands and tools began removing the frozen rusted wheel bolts. The driver, a soft spoken chap given to voicing what needed to be done came up to me and said, "I'm Al Kilgallem and I've thought of a story."

While we watched the guys working in the snow Al pointed south along the Lake Winnipeg shoreline. He went into a story of a time two winters ago when he and some friends dragged his hard wall ice shack out to the Salimonia. They spotted themselves by the creek mouth, drilled ice holes and as it turned out Al got a line and their fish finders camera in the water first. The rest of the group busied themselves putting baited hooks down their holes when Al happened to look at the camera monitor and saw the picture moving in a circle on its own! Puzzled, he turned to his rod. It was gone! He pulled the cameras transponder cable out of the water to see his rod and line tangled on it. As he freed his fish line he felt a trembling. He pulled the rest of the line up and was happily surprised to see a nice big pickerel wiggling on one of his hooks!

Now, to those lucky enough to find a fish finder under the Christmas tree this year, perhaps these by chance stories about them may have given Santa the hint. One can only hope! Bye now.

Thousands celebrate art, creativity on Holiday Alley

Staff

Old downtown Selkirk's second annual Holiday Alley saw an increase in visitors this year with 5,000 community and area members visiting the festival over two days last weekend.

"This is all about bringing people together and bringing tourists from outside of the community to see how amazing this city is," said Roxi Bohemier who hosted beer and vodka tasting, a soup cook-off station and multiple live performances during Holiday Alley "I love this downtown, and it's only going to get better and better."

In their early 20's, Miranda Schmidt and Jocelyn Kreml, moved into the main floor of Selkirk's historic Trader Bank building, opened The Mighty Kiwi Juice Bar and Eatery because they saw a future in the old downtown.

"The reason that we chose to build our business on Manitoba Avenue is because of the City of Selkirk's plans to revitalize the downtown," said Kreml who was on the Holiday Alley planning committee from day one.

During last year's Holiday Alley sales at the Mighty Kiwi were second only to their opening day. But Kreml says the Friday night of Holiday Alley 2018 has now set the bar even higher, as the business received more traffic on Nov. 30 than it had ever seen.

"It's really a demonstration sport for what's possible for our downtown," said Holiday Alley co-creator, Shirley Muir.

Though not all the numbers have been tallied, multiple businesses on the street say they saw an increase in business over the course of the weekend.

The weekend event included giant selfies with Santa, a total of 40 dogs dressed up for the first Canvasback Pooch Parade, more than 25 musicians and singers performed and a life sized elk made of deadfall was auctioned off for $3,300. More than 200 artists and crafters also displayed and were selling their art, 14 novice blacksmiths competed to forge the best marshmallow roasting forks and seven chainsaw wood carvers worked live and showcased their sculptures. The event also saw 39 buildings draped in 125,000 LED Christmas bulbs which will be on during the darkest days of winter.

Comp to host seventh annual Help-Portrait event Dec. 9

By Justin Luschinski

Families who would otherwise go without a holiday portrait or a picture with Santa will once again be able to visit the Comp during this year's Help-Portrait event.

The seventh annual Help-Portrait event will take place on Sunday, Dec. 9 from 12 p.m. to 2 p.m. Families will be able to sign up to have their hair styled as well as get their portraits taken during that time.

"It's an amazing opportunity, for a lot of people, a photo of their family or a picture with Santa is low on the list. Sometimes, it's a luxury they can't afford," said Kevin Lopuck, who is the head of the social studies department at the Comp. "Giving them a chance to take their picture, and to present them with these portraits, it's a great feeling."

Sunova Credit Union is once again sponsoring the event to ensure all of the portraits taken by professional photographers are developed, framed and delivered directly to the families the week before Christmas by Comp students and staff.

Lopuck said the first Help-Portrait at the Comp was pitched as a 'take action' project for the global issues class by former Comp student Austin Grabish. It has since grown into an annual tradition for staff, students and volunteers.

Lopuck said he hopes to help continue the event.

"I'm so proud that (Austin Grabish) started it, I'm proud of my students for volunteering, it's super important. It's something that needs to keep running, and I can't do it by myself," Lopuck said. "Their help is how we keep this going."

For more information about the event, contact Kevin Lopuck directly by calling 204-482-6926.

Province launches online course to help prepare youth to enter workforce

Staff

The province is launching a new online Young Worker Readiness Certificate Course to teach youth the basics about workers' and employers' rights and responsibilities for safety and health in the workplace.

"Having a job can be a fulfilling experience for youth as it can provide a sense of accomplishment and responsibility," Growth, Enterprise and Trade Minister Blaine Pedersen stated in a release on Monday. "This course contains important information everyone should know before getting their first job."

The interactive course is based on Saskatchewan's successful youth readiness course and is tailored for Manitoba.

The course replaces an outdated process where employers were required to apply for a government permit to hire a young worker between the ages of 13 and 15, regardless of type of work. Manitoba was the only province in Canada that required such a permit, which created red tape headaches for employers and was difficult to enforce, Pedersen said.

The minister noted a person must be 13 years of age to work in Manitoba and employers must follow rules to protect the safety and health of young people in the workplace.

Youth can now complete the Young Worker Readiness Certificate Course online at ywrcc.safemanitoba.com/. The course is administered by the Manitoba government and was developed in partnership with SAFE Work Manitoba.

End of Canada Post strike welcome news to small businesses

Submitted

Small businesses can breathe a sigh of relief at the announcement that the Canada Post strike has ended.

The Canadian Federation of Independent Business (CFIB) is pleased the federal government has listened to small business by doing what was necessary to ensure postal service can resume ahead of the holiday season.

"Small business owners depend on Canada Post to send and receive payments and get customer orders out," said CFIB president Dan Kelly. "The weeks leading to Christmas can represent a huge chunk of annual sales for retailers. The strike was quickly becoming an emergency for many small firms and for Canadian consumers at this very important time of year. The government made the right decision to introduce back to work legislation."

A recent survey of CFIB members found that 71 per cent supported legislating the postal workers back to work. Two thirds of small businesses reported they had been negatively affected by the strike, at an average cost of $3,000. In fact, 67 per cent suffered cash flow interruptions as a result of delayed cheques and invoices, and 53 per cent had to switch to a more expensive delivery service.

CFIB is Canada's largest association of small and medium-sized businesses with 110,000 members.

South St. Andrews COPP welcomes 15 new volunteers

By Lindsey Enns

Fifteen new members of the South St. Andrews Citizens on Patrol Program (COPP) are now ready to hit the streets and keep their community safe.

A group of 15 volunteers were warmly welcomed and trained during a training session at the St. Andrews Fire Department on Nov. 24. The community's COPP director and one of the group's founding members, Robert Jesson, said it's "very rare" to train that many new volunteers at one time.

Jesson said the South St. Andrews COPP was started in 2001 after community members noticed a number of break-ins taking place along St. Andrews Road.

"We ended up having a community meeting and there was probably around 80 community members there at the time so a lot of people were interested in it," Jesson said, adding they started with around 50 to 60 members and they currently have around 42.

Jesson, 71, who has lived in the St. Andrews area for nearly 30 years says the patrol program is helping combat crime in the area.

"It makes a big difference to the community. As soon as we started patrolling, the break ins started to disappear," he said. "They see us driving around. The not so nice people see that, they know they're being watched. We're just extra eyes and ears for the community."

"It's just a way of giving back to where you've lived."

The main goal of the COPP is to be on the look-out for any suspicious or criminal activity, to record this activity and, where appropriate, to report such activities to the police. COPP members act as additional "eyes and ears" for their community and the police in an effort to reduce crime.

Jesson said COPP volunteers always patrol in pairs and can choose to patrol during the day or in the evening. The group meets on the second Monday of every month except during the summer. He added they are always looking for more volunteers to join.

For more information, contact Robert Jesson directly at 204-396-9262 or visit citizensonpatrol.mb.ca.

'Their legacy will carry on forever'

Man known for waving at passing vehicles in Brokenhead dies at 73

By Lindsey Enns

A man who helped put Brokenhead Ojibway Nation and Scanterbury on the map for waving at passing vehicles alongside his brother died late last month, but his niece says their legacy will live on forever.

Mary Sinclair-Chartrand of Brokenhead Ojibway Nation said herself, family members and loved ones surrounded James Starr when he died peacefully on Nov. 22 at a personal care home in Winnipeg. He was 73. His funeral took place in Scanterbury on Nov. 28.

"He was always joyful, happy, he just loved to be around family," Mary said during an interview with the Record last week.

Starr, along with his brother Nelson Starr who died at age 71 in 2007, spent more than 20 years waving at passing cars from Highway 59 on Brokenhead Ojibway Nation. The friendly gesture led the brothers to become small-town celebrities.

"Their legacy will carry on forever," Mary said. "They made people laugh and smile. It was a good gesture for them to wave because a lot of people said they enjoyed going by there ... they miss them now."

Wavers of Brokenhead, a gas station across from where the brothers would sit and wave was also named after the duo, and two big chairs now sit there in their honour.

Mary said the brothers were surprised to be honoured in this way.

JAMES STARR

"They were very surprised when that came in," she said. "The band asked the family if they could do that."

Mary said flowers were placed on the chairs late last month in James's honour. She added the outpouring of support and memories shared online from passing motorists who remember the brothers has been "overwhelming in a good way" for the family.

"They put Brokenhead on the map," she said. "People know them from all over now."

Rise in smoking rates across Canada 'a wake up call,' lung association says

By Justin Luschinski

The Lung Association of Manitoba says knowledge and prevention is key when it comes combating rising smoking rates across Canada.

"The key is to prevent people from taking up smoking in the first place," said Neil Johnston, president and CEO of the Lung Association of Manitoba. "Usually, people start smoking in their early teens, so you have to start teaching them in Grade 4. We're working on a couple of projects to do just that."

Throughout the month of November, the Lung Association of Manitoba promotes Lung Month, a chance for Canadians to understand the importance of lung health. But a recent Statistics Canada survey revealed that the amount of Canadian smokers has increased, a sign that smoking prevention programs are no longer working.

According to a recent survey by Statistics Canada, the number of Canadian smokers aged 25 and up hit 16 per cent of the population in 2017, up from 13 per cent two years earlier.

Health Canada recently launched a review of its Federal Tobacco Control Strategy (FTCS). The FTCS spearheaded a number of initiatives between 2001 and 2017, including putting warning labels on cigarette packs and creating a toll-free "quitline" to give information on how to quit smoking.

Johnston says the fight against tobacco smoke isn't over.

"That's a major concern for us. For many years, smoking rates have been dropping, now all of a sudden we have an uptick or a plateau," Johnston said. "This survey is a wake up call that we're not quite done with cigarettes."

Johnston added that the Lung Association is concerned about E-cigarettes and cannabis smoke, as they might be a gateway for non-smokers to start trying tobacco products. Many vaping products contain nicotine, the same addictive chemical found in cigarettes, and they should only be used by existing smokers to help them quit.

Adrian Powell of Selkirk took up vaping to quit cigarettes and says vaping is a viable alternative to smoking tobacco.

"I think everyone gets that smoking is dangerous, and I wouldn't be surprised if some study came out saying that (vaping) is bad for you," Powell said. "Honestly, everything can be bad for you if you do it too much."

Smoking is the leading cause of premature death in Canada, according to Statistics Canada. Recent studies have estimated that 21 per cent of all deaths over the past decade are due to smoking.

Selkirk councillor elected to AMM board of directors

Staff

Selkirk Coun. Kelly Cook has been elected as one of the two Interlake district directors for the Association of Manitoba Municipalities (AMM) board of directors.

Cook as well as Reeve Cheryl Smith of the RM of St. Laurent were elected during the AMM's 20th annual convention in Winnipeg last week. All newly-elected district directors will serve until June 2019.

"I'm really looking forward to working at the next level and representing the Interlake area, the issues across the region and being part of that advocacy group that takes issues forward to the Province of Manitoba," Cook stated in a release on Monday.

Selkirk is the one of only two cities in the Interlake region, which also includes neighbouring municipalities West St. Paul and St. Andrews. Cook said there's diversity in the region but everyone's concerns will be represented.

Selkirk Mayor Larry Johannson was also elected the AMM's new Cities Caucus Chair, as previously reported in the Record.

More than 800 municipal delegates from around Manitoba also elected a new AMM president and two vice-presidents last week.

Reeve Ralph Groening from the RM of Morris was elected as AMM President. Groening has been an AMM board member since 2005 and vice-president since 2012.

AMM delegates also elected Reeve Brad Saluk of the RM of Brokenhead and Reeve Kam Blight of the RM of Portage la Prairie to serve as the association's new vice-presidents.

The new executive team will serve for a two-year term.

Consumer office offers tips for holiday shoppers

Submitted

The Consumer Protection Office (CPO) of Manitoba has tips and resources available to Manitobans to shop safely online during the holiday season and year-round.

Online shopping can offer convenience, specialty items and attractive sales. However, it is important that consumers stay safe when shopping online. The CPO recommends shopping with recognizable and trusted businesses. If you are considering using a new company, search online to read about other customer experiences and familiarize yourself with their terms and conditions including how to modify, cancel or return an order. Consumers should be cautious when using online auction sites, as consumer protection laws may not apply.

Personal information is as valuable to scammers as money. The CPO recommends protecting your personal information by only shopping on secure websites, which have 'https://' at the beginning of the web address. Learn how your browser indicates a website is secure, which might be with an icon of a lock or a green address bar, and be sure the website address you are visiting is accurate.

Before completing an online purchase, review your shopping cart to ensure the products, prices and quantities are correct. Notice any extra costs such as taxes, shipping and handling, foreign exchange rates or duty fees that may be applicable. Afterwards, monitor your banking statements for any charges that you may not recognize.

Manitobans who pay by credit card for online purchases have extra protection if issues arise with their transactions. The Consumer Protection Act will:

- protect consumers against the unauthorized use of credit card information;
- limit a consumer's liability to $50 when credit card information is used without proper authorization;
- provide the right to reverse or cancel a credit card charge if the consumer was entitled to a refund and has not received one from the vendor;
- give consumers the right to cancel a sale prior to receipt of goods or services if the seller has not provided certain information to the consumer; and
- provide the opportunity to cancel an Internet sale if the seller fails to deliver goods or services.

For more tips on online shopping, visit http://manitoba.ca/justice/cp/cpo/info/shopping_safely_online.html.

Solar panels being installed at rec complex will help drive down city's energy bill

Submitted by the City of Selkirk

The Selkirk Rec Complex will soon be soaking up the sun and driving down the city's energy bill and its carbon footprint in one fell swoop.

Solar panels are being installed at the Rec Complex and once activated the building will be one of the largest solar powered in Manitoba.

Selkirk Mayor Larry Johannson said being good environmental citizens is important and the city is glad to do what it can to become greener. Geothermal heating was installed when the Rec Complex was built in 1985 and the solar panels will help take us even further off the grid.

"Taking advantage of natural resources to heat our buildings, to power places like the Rec Complex, which is such a huge building, makes a lot of sense," Johannson said. "By installing solar panels we'll be more kind to the environment, which I'm a huge fan of, and we'll be saving taxpayers' dollars at the same time, so it's a win-win situation, and we're glad to be on board."

The solar panels will cost the city $437,000 after a $200,000 Manitoba Hydro grant is factored in. Dan McDermid, the city's director of operations, said he estimates the solar panels will save the city roughly 16 per cent in energy costs.

"The Rec Complex is a very large user of power because of the building that it is," McDermid said. "We make ice for about eight months out of the year, it's a big building, it has a banquet hall, it's got a lot of stuff going on in it, so it makes sense to try to supplement the power."

The panels will occupy most of the south-facing roof, the ideal direction for solar panels to face for optimum exposure to the sun's rays.

The life expectancy of the solar panels is about 30 years and the city expects that they will pay for themselves in 17 years, which means there's 13 years of revenue generating gained from the addition of solar power. The pay-back period may be shorter if Manitoba Hydro's rates continue to climb.

Sycamore Energy Inc., is doing the install and CEO and co-founder Justin Phillips said he believes the rec complex is the largest rooftop installation in the Province of Manitoba and largest by a municipality.

"Just the fact the City of Selkirk is taking the initiative to install this kind of technology, it's not a small investment...so taking that initiative is encouraging," Phillips said. "The 200-kilowatt installation, it's humongous. We've done other installs and that's enough to power entire farms."

The savings from solar power are substantial, Phillips said, citing the Levelized Cost of Electricity (LCE) per kilowatt with solar at about 4.5 to 5.5 cents compared with about 8 cents for Hydro.

The panels should be operational early in 2019.

How to save up for your first home

Home ownership is a dream for people across the globe. Many people save for years before buying their first homes, squirreling away every dollar they can with the hopes they can one day become homeowners.

But thanks to factors beyond their control, even the most devoted savers can sometimes feel like their dream of home ownership may never come true. According to the Pew Research Center, American workers' paychecks are larger than they were 40 years ago, but their purchasing power is essentially the same. Things aren't much different in Canada, where analysis from Statistics Canada and the Bank of Canada has shown that, since 2015, wage growth in Canada has been weaker than in the United States.

Various challenges can make it difficult to buy a home. However, some simple strategies can help prospective home buyers build their savings as they move closer to the day when they can call themselves "homeowners."

Determine where your money is going. If you're finding it hard to grow your savings, audit your monthly expenses to determine where your money is going. Using exclusively debit or credit cards can simplify this process, as all you need to do is log into your accounts and see how your money was spent over a given period. If you routinely use cash to pay for items, even just to buy coffee on the way to work, keep a notepad handy so you can jot down each expense. Do this for a month and then examine how you spent your money. Chances are you will see various ways to save, and you can then redirect that money into your savings account.

Become a more savvy grocery shopper. Another great way to save more money is to alter something you already do each month: grocery shopping. If you haven't already, sign up for discount clubs at your local grocer. This is a largely effortless way for shoppers, especially those buying food for families, to save considerable amounts of money. Shopping sales at competing grocery stores also can save money.

Dine in more often. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that Americans spend, on average, 6 percent of their household budgets on food. However, the USDA also notes that Americans spend 5 percent of their disposable income on dining out. If these figures mirror your spending habits, you can nearly cut your food spending in half by dining out less frequently. That might be a sacrifice for foodies, but it can get you that much closer to buying your own home.

Saving enough money to purchase your first home is a worthy effort that can be made easier by employing a few budget-friendly strategies.

What to do if you find radon at home

Radon can be a very real threat to public health in homes all across the country. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency as well as the Surgeon General's Office have estimated that as many as 20,000 lung cancer deaths are attributed to radon. Radon is the second-leading cause of lung cancer behind smoking. Radon cannot be seen, smelled or tasted, making it very difficult to detect in homes and other buildings. In most cases the source of radon in structures is formed from the normal decay of the elements uranium, thorium and radium in rocks and soil upon which homes are built. Homes act as chimneys, helping gases, including radon, rise from the ground level through foundations. Although no level of radon is completely harmless, The American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers suggests radon levels do not exceed 2 picoCuries per liter (pCi/L). The Environmental Protection Agency allows a slightly higher top level of 4 pCi/L. Outdoors, radon levels average 0.4 pCi/L. Certain areas of North America have higher levels of radon than others. On the EPA's radon zone map, those residing in red areas (zone 1) on the map can expect to encounter radon levels above the recommended level. Only a radon test can determine if Did you know?

Radon is drawn out of the ground from under the foundation of a home. It can compromise air quality and cause cancer if left untreated.

Real estate agents help buyers and sellers through the often complicated process of navigating the real estate market. Individuals not only want to find an agent with expertise, but also one with whom they have a strong rapport. By asking agents certain questions up front, prospective home buyers and sellers can find the right real estate agent for their needs and save time and money in the process. The following tips can help buyers and sellers find the right agent.

- Find out how long the agent has been in the business, including how many homes he or she turns over on average. Think about using an agent who is a full-time real estate professional, rather than one who only dabbles part-time.
- Consider which geographic areas the agent handles. It's best to find an agent who is familiar with a particular town, city or even subdivision.
- Assess the agent's personality and ability to remain calm under pressure. He or she can then extend that placid demeanor on to buyers or sellers who may be feeling stressed by the prospect of home ownership.

radon levels inside a home are unsafe. Tests can be purchased for around $20 at many home supply retailers. Radon testing often is required when individuals purchase a home as well.

If high levels of radon are detected, it's important not to panic, as there are ways to mitigate the problem effectively. First of all, you may want to retest, which can confirm if your initial test was a fluke or caused by unusual weather. Short-term tests can measure radon over the period of a week, but longer assessments lasting about a month or more may paint a more accurate picture of your home's average radon concentration.

If high levels of radon are discovered, one of the first things to do is to ventilate the home to bring more fresh air in and dilute radon concentrations. You may then want to consult with a radon removal contractor. You may need to use a heat recovery ventilator to introduce more fresh air or ventilate the home using a fan.

Contractors may use suction to vent air from below the foundation of the house, through a pipe and above the roof. This way the radon does not leach into the home. This method ventilates radon well out of the way of human breathing spaces.

You also may want to have your water tested for radon, as homes that rely on well water may have radon in the water source, too.

Gray is here to stay in home designs

Beige and white have long been go-to colors for neutral living spaces. But many interior decorators now look to gray as the neutral color of choice.

Decorating a home in neutral tones has long been recommended as a way to sell a home quickly. But the color gray also provides a blank canvas for homeowners who have no intention of putting their homes on the market anytime soon.

Beige and white have long been go-to colors for neutral living spaces. But many interior decorators now look to gray as the neutral color of choice.

Design experts advise that gray has a broad range. Gray can include everything from silver to charcoal to a dusty cloud. According to the trendsetters at Glidden Paints, gray coordinates well with other colors. Plus, the neutral appeal of gray boasts a timeless quality.

Gray is not a clear-cut color that's simply a 50-50 blend of white and black. Gray has subtle nuances that can lean toward blues, greens, taupes, and more depending on the lighting and surrounding furnishings. That means that homeowners who are ready to replace their furniture or accessories need not necessarily repaint if they've previously decorated in shades of gray.

Individuals need only replace small items to produce a big effect in rooms where gray is dominant. Because gray is so neutral, it works with soft, calming colors in various pastels, but equally as well with bright reds, yellow and oranges, according to Scott Bodenner, a Brooklyn-based textile designer.

Gray also is a predominant color in natural stones used throughout homes in entryways, bathrooms and kitchens. It can make design sense to maintain continuity throughout by dabbling in gray elsewhere.

Designers have shown how gray does not have to be cold, industrial or gloomy. It can be sophisticated in just about any room of the house. More designers are now leaning toward warmer variations of gray, such as taupes and blends dubbed "greige," that are beautiful but not as stark as pure gray.

Community rallies around resident who lost everything in house fire

By Justin Luschinski

In the span of a few months, Kenton Scramstad lost everything.

The Selkirk resident's family home, filled with precious family heirlooms, was hit by lighting and burned to the ground over the September long weekend. Scramstad only walked away with the clothes on his back and his five pets, all of which are rescues.

Then, on Nov. 23, someone broke into his trailer, and tore the place apart. Most of his furniture was destroyed and he began to lose hope.

"I lost everything. My father built that house 65 years ago, and I've lived in it for most of my life, taking care of my three dogs and two cats. That house was full of memories and family keepsakes, and now it's all gone," Scramstad said while trying to hold back tears. "It was horrible. I would not wish it on my worst enemy."

At the time, Scramstad's trailer was sitting on the empty lot where his family's house used to be. After he posted about the break-in on Facebook, a few Selkirk residents decided to help him out.

Ashley Capner-Choboter, a longtime Selkirk resident, said she was heartbroken over Scramstad's story, and felt like she had to help.

"It hit me close to home. I know what it's like to lose everything," Choboter said. "My home burned to the ground in 2011, I couldn't take anything with me, I got out of there with just the clothes I was wearing."

Kenton Scramstad of Selkirk, pictured left, is currently staying at the Canalta Hotel after his family house was hit by lighting and burned to the ground in September, pictured right, and the trailer he was living in with his five pets was broken into and destroyed.

Choboter partnered with her close friend Tracy Banman to start collecting donations for Scramstad. Choboter said she's received a lot of donations, everything from clothes to pet food for his animals. She said when Scramstad came to pick up the donations, the community was so supportive, that they were able to fill the back of his truck.

Scramstad said the community support has restored his faith in humanity.

"It's wonderful. After everything that's happened, I had lost all hope, it's just been a horrible nightmare," Scramstad said. "But to see everyone rally together, to support me like this, it makes me so happy. Thank you to the community. Thank you to everyone."

Scramstad said he has a long list of people to thank, including the Selkirk Fire Department and the City of Selkirk. He's currently staying at the Canalta Hotel, where he's been offered him a room at a lower price while he's trying to figure out his next move.

Scramstad added that he will pay it forward, and help others in the same way the Selkirk community has helped him.

Scramstad has a ready-to-move home available to put on his old family lot, but he's waiting for council to approve it. The decision is expected to be made on Dec. 10.

In the meantime, Choboter is still accepting donations for Scramstad. Those interested in donating some items, can call Ashley Capner-Choboter at 204-481-0727.

Scramstad has also started a GoFundMe page online to help purchase new furniture, household items and stuff for his pets. For more information, visit gofundme.com/u3z5ja-house-fire. As of Monday afternoon the page had raised $175 of a $7,500 goal.

RED RIVER CO-OP FOOD STORE

One Pan Fish Dish

1 pound white fish (such as snapper, grouper, flounder or barramundi)
4 tablespoons olive oil fresh rosemary sprigs (optional)
In pan over medium heat, heat canola oil about 1 minute.

Add tomatoes, onions and broccoli to pan; cook 5 minutes, uncovered.

Drizzle lemon juice over vegetables and season with salt and pepper, to taste.

Place fish on top of vegetables in center of pan and place two lemon slices on top of fish.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper, to taste.

Cover pan and cook on medium heat 10-12 minutes depending on thickness of fish.

Drizzle olive oil over fish and top with rosemary, if desired, before serving.

Prep time: 10 minutes
Cook time: 20 minutes
Servings: 4

1/8 cup canola oil
1/4 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
1 medium onion, quartered
2 cups broccoli florets
1 lemon, half sliced and half juiced, divided kosher salt, to taste freshly ground pepper, to taste

Quinoa Bowl with Tuna

1 carrot
1/2 cup red cabbage
1 can (5 ounces) Bumble Bee Solid White Albacore Tuna in Water
1-2 tablespoons onion, diced
1 tablespoon lime juice cilantro

To make Thai Peanut Dressing: In mixing bowl, combine peanut butter, ginger paste, fish sauce, cayenne pepper, apple cider vinegar, soy sauce and sugar.

Add 1 tablespoon water and whisk well. Continue adding water 1 tablespoon at a time until sauce is consistency of heavy cream.

Note: You may not use full 1/4 cup water and could use more depending on preference of thickness.

To make Quinoa Bowls: Heat oven to 400 F.

In medium pot, heat water and quinoa. When it boils, turn heat to low and cover. Cook until water is absorbed and remove from heat.

Drain and dry chickpeas. In bowl, combine chickpeas with olive oil, garlic powder and salt and pepper, to taste.

Spread chickpeas on baking sheet; bake 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from oven and cool.

Spiralize zucchini at medium thickness. Using potato peeler, slice carrot in thin strips. Chop red cabbage. Drain and chunk tuna.

In two bowls, split cooked quinoa evenly. Top with carrots, zucchini, cabbage, roasted chickpeas onions and tuna.

Season with lime juice, cilantro and Thai Peanut Dressing.

Mutcheson to be inducted into Manitoba Baseball Hall of Fame

By Brian Bowman

For most people, getting the call into a hall of fame is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

But for Matt Mutcheson, a talented pitcher, it's as routine as a first-pitch strike.

Mutcheson will be entering the Manitoba Baseball Hall of Fame next June as part of the Brandon Cloverleafs' team from 2006-12.

"That team won a number of provincial championships and in 2007, I think it was, we went to Quebec and came back with a silver at the Canadian national championships," he explained.

There were a lot of really good baseball players on that Brandon team.

"We had a really solid team," remembered Mutcheson, 40, who was born in Morden but now lives in St. Andrews. "We had a couple of imports, including a pitcher they brought out from B.C. that threw a big game for us at nationals. We also had a timely hits that year at nationals. We were behind a few games and fought back."

Mutcheson has been inducted with three other teams in the Manitoba Senior Baseball League - the Birtle Blue Jays, Brandon Marlins, and the Morden Mohawks.

More special for Mutcheson, however, is the fact he went into the province's baseball hall of fame with his family back in 2012.

His parents, Jim and Sylvia, were inducted along with their boys, Joey, Michael, Ray, Jack, Jim, and, of course, Matt.

Not only were they a great family - they were a tremendous baseball family that loved the sport.

"Going in with your family is very special," Mutcheson said proudly. "There are very few families that are in the Manitoba Baseball Hall of Fame, so it was a great honour. Our family had a lot of success in baseball with coaching and playing - it's been amazing."

"I owe all of my success to my (brothers) and especially my parents...without them I wouldn't be where I am today."

Mutcheson feels it's pretty special to be inducted into a hall of fame with so many great baseball people.

"There's a ton of talented ball players in there that I played with, like Donnie Smith, the Fortin brothers, and they also went in as a family," he said. "It was more of me being with the right team at the right time."

"It's very humbling for me to go into (the hall) not just once, but multiple times," he continued.

Mutcheson has played for a lot of teams during his career. He was a member of three Team Manitoba Selects' teams that competed at Canadian championships.

He pitched at the collegiate level for Mayville and Valley City in North Dakota and Indian Hills in Centerville, Iowa before enjoying 14 outstanding seasons in the MSBL.

He was the MSBL Pitcher of the Year four times, MSBL Player of the Year three times, and Manitoba's Senior "AAA" Player of the Year three times.

Mutcheson also spent a week playing professionally for the Winnipeg Goldeyes.

"My family got to come in for those games so it was a great experience to get that opportunity and play on that stage for a little while," he said. "It was very exciting but the first time out there I was nervous. There were five, six thousand fans out there so I was nervous a little bit but the excitement was unreal."

Mutcheson still plays the game (winning the "AA" provincials with Morden this past summer) and enjoys every minute of it.

He used to throw pretty hard when he was younger but has developed into more of a complete pitcher in recent years.

He also helps instruct youngsters the art of pitching and has plenty of advice for them.

"Being a pitcher and not a thrower," he insisted. "I've trained a lot of kids in the winter the past seven, eight years out in the Steinbach area and I always teach them that it's not how hard you throw."

"It's if you can put the ball where you want it. (Former Major Leaguer) Greg Maddux has always been an idol of mine and he didn't throw hard. He threw 87, 88, 90 but he was inside outside and always hitting the corners and changing speeds."

Throwing strikes consistently and getting ahead of hitters are keys to success, said Mutcheson.

"When I work with kids and talk to kids, throwing the first pitch for a strike is the best pitch you'll have and if you have a good changeup then you're ahead of the game," Mutcheson said.

"A lot of 12 and 13 year olds nowadays want to throw a curveball but their arm hasn't developed yet. They're better off pitching inside outside up and down to get the hitter's eyes moving."

Outstanding season

The Lockport Lancers won the silver medal at the Grade 8 boys' volleyball provincials last Saturday at the Dakota Fieldhouse in Winnipeg.

Lockport suffered its first loss of the season to Winnipeg's Bruce Middle School by scores of 25-21 and 25-22 in the final.

The Lancers reached the final after downing Mitchell 2-0 (25-15, 25-19) in the semifinals and Samuel Burland 2-0 (25-12, 25-9) in a quarter-final matchup. In pool play, Lockport defeated Bruce, Mitchell, Samuel Burland, and St. Norbert in straight sets. Lockport enjoyed a stellar season, cruising to an impressive 28-1 record. The Lancers also captured tournament titles at Leila North, Sargent Park, and at home at Lockport School. Lockport also won the LSSD banner last month.

Steelers strike for pair of victories in MJHL action

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Steelers had a chance to compete with the Manitoba Junior Hockey League's second-best team on Friday evening.

And the local squad fared very well with a solid 3-2 victory over the Swan Valley Stampeders in Manitoba Junior Hockey League action Friday evening at the Rec Complex.

Ryan Piwniuk and Nolan Ferguson scored first-period goals for Selkirk and then Connor Barley made it 3-0 good guys when he tallied at 12:23 of the middle frame with his league-leading 18th goal of the season.

Brian Harris put the Stampeders on the board with a power-play goal at the 17-minute mark of the second period to cut the lead to 3-1.

Swan Valley's Josh Tripp then made the game interesting when he scored just 57 seconds into the third period.

Zach Bennett played well, making 30 saves for the win.

Doubling the Pistons

On Nov. 27, the Steelers doubled the Steinbach Pistons 4-2 as Selkirk.

Steelers' forward Ryan Sokoloski started the game's scoring with an unassisted goal at 10:05 of the first period.

Noah Basarab made it 2-0 with his 14th goal of the season just 1:48 later.

Connor Barley put the home side up three goals with his league-leading 18th goal of the season at 16:42 of the first period.

Steinbach's Declan Graham replied with a power-play goal at 13:29 of the middle frame, beating Steelers' goaltender Levi Mitchell.

The Pistons' Tyson McConnell added a power-play goal less than two minutes later but Carter Barley netted the eventual game-winning goal at 11:28 of the third.

Levi Mitchell made 32 saves for the win. Mitchell has been a great addition to the Steelers' crease, posting an impressive 7-1 record with a 3.09 goals-against average and .914 save percentage.

The Steelers, now 14-9-1-2, played the Oil Capitals in Virden this past Tuesday but no score was available at press time.

Selkirk's next game is Saturday (7 p.m.) when they take on the Winkler Flyers at the Sun Gro Centre in Beausejour.

The Steelers will then battle the Waywayseecappo Wolverines on Monday and Swan Valley next Wednesday.

Both games will begin at 1 p.m. at the Seven Oaks Sportsplex as part of the MJHL's annual Showcase event.

In off-ice news, Selkirk acquired forward Jackson Kolbecka (2000) and future considerations from the Waywayseecappo Wolverines in exchange for forward Nico Labossiere (1998) and future considerations.

Kolbecka had a goal and three assists in 17 games with the SJHL's Humboldt Broncos this season while Labossiere had seven assists in 12 games.

Last season, Labossiere scored 22 goals and added 42 assists in 50 regular-season games for Selkirk.

Ferguson named to MJHL Community Ambassador Team

Staff

The MJHL and RBC announced the 2018-19 RBC - MJHL Community Ambassador Team on Monday, which included the Selkirk Steelers' Nolan Ferguson.

This team - made up of one player from each MJHL organization - recognizes players who are making a difference by giving back to their community.

Each player has displayed outstanding citizenship and sportsmanship, both on and off the ice, and a commitment to volunteerism. A donation will be made to each ambassador's local community from RBC.

Each will be celebrated during their team's RBC Game Night this season.

At the conclusion of the regular season, one RBC - MJHL Community Ambassador will be selected as the recipient of the RBC Community Award, which comes with a further donation in the player's name to their local community from RBC.

The other players who comprise the 2018-19 RBC - MJHL Community Ambassador Team include Parker Brakebill - Virden Oil Capitals, Isaac LaBelle - Waywayseecappo Wolverines, Tanner Barbeau - OCN Blizzard, Riley Shamray - Dauphin Kings, Ty Barnstable - Portage Terriers, Riley Morgan - Winkler Flyers, Matt Radosky - Steinbach Pistons, Kelton Sutherland - Winnipeg Blues, Corbin Mariash - Neepawa Natives, and Tanner Glasrud - Swan Valley Stampeders.

Fishermen winning, scoring in CRJHL games

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Fishermen did a lot of goal scoring last weekend. They also did a lot of winning.

Selkirk scored 15 goals in just two games on their way to a pair of Capital Region Junior Hockey League games.

The Fishermen closed out a successful weekend with a 8-4 comeback win over the St. Malo Warriors on Sunday in Selkirk.

St. Malo led 4-2 after the first period but Selkirk responded nicely with three second-period goals and then added three more in third.

Kyle Melo had a great game for Selkirk with three goals and an assist while Dawson Courchene added two goals and a helper.

Courchene leads Selkirk with seven goals and 16 points in 11 games. He is also fourth in the league in points.

Nico Morrow-Litke, Sage Guimond, and Jordan Simko also scored for the Fishermen.

Logan Unger, Taz McKay, Gaven Pott and Tyrel Bueckert scored for St. Malo.

Austin DeBoer made 12 saves in two periods of action for the win. He now has an impressive 7-2 record with a 2.31 goals-against average and .929 save percentage.

On Saturday, the Fishermen crushed the Arborg Ice Dawgs 7-2 at the Rec Complex.

The two teams were tied at 2-2 in the second period but Selkirk scored the game's final five goals, including four in the third period.

Arborg's Dylan Chartrand scored the game's first goal midway in the opening period but Selkirk responded with goals from Brandon Thomas and Courchene.

The Ice Dawgs' Ryan Hill tied the score at 2-2 with a shorthanded goal at 6:32 of the middle frame.

Courchene added a shorthanded goal of his own about six minutes later and then Evan Bedard and Dane Derewianchuk each added a pair of goals in the third.

DeBoer made 32 saves for the win while Arborg goaltender Tre Strachan stopped 22 shots.

Selkirk is now in first place with 27 points - five points ahead of second place St. Malo - heading into this week's action.

The Fishermen will visit the Warriors this Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Selkirk Royals' hockey teams suffer close losses

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals lost a pair of Winnipeg High School Hockey League games last week.

Selkirk visited Steinbach last Wednesday evening and was defeated 2-1 by the home side.

Darius Gagne gave Steinbach a 1-0 first-period lead and then the Sabres led by a pair of goals as Mason Martens tallied.

Brandon Balmer scored Selkirk's lone goal in the third.

On Nov. 27, the Royals were edged 5-4 in overtime by the Garden City Fighting Gophers in East Selkirk.

Alex Loschiavo scored the game winner in OT.

Garden City trailed 4-2 in the third period but got goals from Cody Lourenco and Caelin Chinery to tie the score. Chinery's goal came with 1:01 left in regulation time.

The Fighting Gophers started the game with a 2-0 lead on goals by Lourenco, on the power play, and a short-handed marker from Chinery.

But Selkirk battled back as Jordan Simko, with the man advantage, Zach Parkinson, and Brandon Kipling scored second-period goals and then Austin Wasnie tallied at 4:02 of the third.

Parkinson leads Selkirk in goals scored (seven) while Simko is the team's leader in points (12) heading into this week's action.

The Royals played the St. Paul's Crusaders this past Tuesday at the Bell MTS Iceplex but no score was available at press time.

Selkirk is back in action next Wednesday versus the Kelvin Clippers at River Heights Arena.

Puck drop is 4 p.m.

On Dec. 14, Selkirk will play College Jeanne Sauve at 4 p.m. at Dakota Arena.

In Winnipeg Women's High School Hockey League action on Nov. 27, the Royals were defeated 4-3 in overtime by the Oak Park Raiders at the Rec Complex.

Oak Park jumped out to a 2-0 lead but Selkirk battled back to grab a 3-2 advantage.

The Raiders tied the score, though, at 3-3 with just 1:30 remaining in the third period and their goalie pulled for an extra attacker.

Rayley Goetz led Selkirk with two goals and an assist while Cienna

Palmer also tallied.

Dana Poulton, Courtney Evans, Sara McLean and Kyleigh Johnson replied for Oak Park.

Johnson's goal was the game winner in overtime.

Selkirk will host the College Jeanne-Sauve Olympiens on Wednesday at the Rec Complex and then will play the PCI Saints the following day in Portage la Prairie.

Both games start at 4 p.m.

Dakota downs Selkirk in varsity boys' final

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals ran into a very good Dakota Lancers' team in the Boston Pizza "AAAA" varsity boys' provincial final on Monday at the University of Manitoba.

The No. 2-ranked Lancers defeated the fourth-seeded Royals in four sets (25-21, 29-27, 21-25, 25-18) to capture the varsity boys' volleyball championship.

"They're a really good team," said Royals' head coach Jeff Scarcello. "They're solid all the way around and they had a great season. They were consistent all of the way through but we had our moments and we had our chances in the 20s."

"We had them on the ropes a bunch of times and championship teams come through and win important points."

The Lancers were dominant all season, finishing 13-0 in league play and 47-4-1 overall.

But Selkirk gave Dakota quite the battle in the most important game of the season.

The second-set loss was detrimental to the Royals as both teams battled hard for each and every point.

Dakota trailed 8-3 and then 15-6 before tying the game at 24-24.

"They played well and really earned it but I'm not at all disappointed with how we played," Scarcello said. "We played great."

It's tough to come back and win any match when down 2-0 in sets, but it's even tougher against a strong team with a provincial title at stake.

"We were winning most of the first set all of the way through until 20-18 and then they took over from there and finished us off," Scarcello recalled. "And, in the second set, it was the same thing. We were up 24-20 and had lots of chances to put it away but we couldn't put it away."

Selkirk forced the fourth set, but could not find an answer for Dakota's talented left-side Isaiah Olfert (later named the provincial's most valuable player) and Colby Stocker.

To reach the final, Selkirk upset the St. Paul's Crusaders, the province's top-ranked team, 3-1 (18-25, 25-21, 28-26, 25-22) to clinch a berth into the provincial final.

"We finally put together the match that we wanted to against them," Scarcello said proudly. "Everyone saw that as a big upset and thought of it as a real surprise but, from our end, that's what we expected to happen. But it just hadn't happened yet."

Selkirk won the thrilling third set despite trailing 8-2 early. The Royals played unbelievably well defensively to secure the final point.

Selkirk also fell behind in the fourth set 6-1 but battled back to eventually tie the score at 18-18.

It was just St. Paul's fifth loss in 48 matches this season.

"That's a real good team and we had to play at a top level," Scarcello stressed. "That was a really big win - I'm very proud of that one."

Nick Brzoza was selected as Selkirk's Boston Pizza player of the game.

Provincial all-stars included Brzoza, Selkirk's Chris Faial, Dean Fehr (Steinbach Regional Sabres), Darian Koskie (St. Paul's Crusaders), Justin Stecher (Dakota) Colby Stocker (Dakota).

Selkirk, meanwhile, will lose eight players - Liam Allen, Brzoza, Damon Budge, Easton Donohoe, Faial, Cam Gayleard, Carl LeBlanc, and Adam Trudeau - from this year's team due to graduation.

That's a lot of talent to lose from one season to the next but Selkirk is confident that it will be very competitive again at the varsity boys' level again next season.

The Royals, incredibly, have reached the varsity boys' provincial final in six of the past seven seasons.

"We're going to be a young team and relatively inexperienced next year but we're going to have talent again," Scarcello said. "That JV group is fantastic and you put them with that Grade 11 group that has a lot of talent as well, so we'll be competitive again and have another good season."

Selkirk spiked in varsity girls' provincial final

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals varsity girls' volleyball team has absolutely nothing to hang their heads about.

Selkirk was on the losing end of Monday's Boston Pizza "AAAA" provincial high school volleyball championship at the University of Manitoba's Investors Group Athletic Centre.

The Royals were defeated 3-1 (15-25, 25-23, 25-17, 25-23) by the College Jeanne Sauve Olympiens.

"When you go into these games I think you need to go in believing that you're going to win and if you don't put all of that effort in, you won't be successful," said Royals' head coach Kyla Michalski Tuesday morning. "It's always hard after that situation. But our season, as a whole, was fantastic. We had only three vets on our team and mainly rookies.

"We just soared and had a great season but we just weren't able to capture that last title."

It was the second straight varsity girls' provincial title for Jeanne-Sauve. The fifth-seeded Olympiens are a real good volleyball team.

They had a number of returning players from last year's team and went unbeaten in their regular season - posting an 11-0 record - to finish atop the SCAC Tier 1 Division.

"They had some really talented players on their team as do we but they had (just) one Grade 11 on their team," Michalski noted. "They are all vets that have won before and we're a little bit younger. Sometimes, in heightened moments those things could show a little bit, but we played solid, for sure."

The Royals took advantage of a struggling Jeanne Sauve squad with a convincing 25-15 first-set win. But the Olympiens played much better the rest of the way.

"In the first set, we just off to a great, hot start," Michalski said. "We were swinging aggressively and we had really good matchups, so our blocking matchups were bang on. We obviously scouted them and their coach switched things up. As a coach, you're trying to guess what the other coach is going to do and he moved things around and we can't predict that.

"We didn't have people blocking certain players that we wanted, which was fine, but they switched it up and it obviously worked in their favour."

The second-seeded Royals, which finished the season with an impressive 44-8 record, reached the final after sweeping the third-seeded Portage Collegiate Saints in a semifinal matchup on Nov. 28.

Selkirk won by set scores of 25-15, 25-23, and 25-19.

"We came out and took care of business," Michalski said. "We served tough and it wasn't flashy. It's wasn't the most exciting game but we were just clean and took care of business."

Olivia Weremy was selected as Selkirk's Boston Pizza player of the game.

In the other semifinal, the Olympiens upset the top-seeded MBCI Hawks 3-2 (23-25, 25-17, 25-17, 19-25, 15-12).

The Hawks were a perfect 12-0 in KPAC Tier 1 play this past season while finishing with an overall record of 32-4.

This year's provincial all-star team included Alli Pauls (MBCI Hawks), Carleigh Smith-Banfield (Portage Collegiate Saints), Isabella Benson (Selkirk), Olivia Weremy (Selkirk), Erika Vermette (Jeanne-Sauve), and Julia Arnold (Jeanne-Sauve).

Olympiens' setter Katreena Bentley was named tournament MVP.

Selkirk, meanwhile, will lose three players - Asha Gurney, Isabella Benson, and Weremy - due to graduation.

Ana Perez Camargo, an international student, will be going back to Brazil in February.

Michalski is really going to miss this year's group of seniors

"The vets that we are losing are top-notch players and this will be my first season coming up that I don't have a Weremy on the team," she said. "This team really surprised me this year. I had so much fun coaching them and they would always make me laugh. They worked hard and they were tough and gritty and had a lot of belief in themselves.

"They were a really great bunch and we really came together as a family."

Selkirk's Olivia Weremy (2) passes the ball to set up the offence.

The Royals' Asha Gurney (11) watches where her hit will land.

Selkirk's Kendall Sorokowski (16) goes up high for a hit at the net.

OBITUARY

Lily Safiniuk (nee Magas)

Peacefully with her family by her side, Lily passed away on December 2, 2018 at the age of 90 years.

Lily was predeceased by her loving husband John; son George; grandson Robert; son-in-law Brian; brothers Alex, Eddie and George and in-laws Hilda and Edward. She is survived by her children Shirley, Linda, Diane (Bryan); grandchildren Kimball (Brenda), Melissa (Rob), Brian, Amanda (Chris), Christopher (Chantelle), Jennifer (Billy) and Brianne (Ian); as well as 12 great-grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

Mother was born August 8, 1928, lived and raised her family in the Oak Hammock area. Lily was the eldest of eight, daughter of Alexander and Mary Magas. Born in the early depression, mother was raised and lived a farm life. She would find her love and marry John Safiniuk and together continue to farm, raise four children, have a productive farm of stock, dairy and crop. Saturdays, they would sell their wares in Winnipeg, Main Street Farmers Market. Mother raised and took pride of her gardens, canning and freezing the fruits of their labour.

Family and farm would grow, now with grandchildren, together passing on a positive Ukrainian heritage of family and hard work. Dad would pass a year shy of 40 years of marriage. Baba would convert life's focus on family and working homecare for years. Baba's stories, wisdom, morals and values now passed on to include great-grandchildren.

Baba would always share a story of her life, her honest opinion, her knowledge and her tradition. And remind you "drive safe, don't speed and wear your seatbelt" after your visit. Baba cooked great Ukrainian tradition, passed on now to three generations. After retiring with homecare Baba would share her talent selling perogies and holopchi to friends.

Baba would always be a cornerstone of her family, a woman who stood strong and proud as a mother/baba of her family and to each and every one of us.

Pallbearers will be Bryan Bowser, Chris Bowser, Chris Marten, Tyler Lamb, Kimball Lamb, Melissa Lamb and Kyla Lamb.

Funeral Services will be held on Thursday, December 6, 2018 at 10:30 a.m. in the Gilbert Funeral Chapel, Selkirk, MB. Interment will follow in the Rosedale Orthodox Cemetery.

A special thanks to Selkirk EMS and Palliative Care Unit at the Selkirk Regional Health Centre.
