Valedictorian hopes classmates embrace opportunities

By Katelyn Boulanger

Sara Crupi had the honour of taking to the stage at the 2022 Lord Selkirk Regional Comprehensive Secondary School graduation ceremony last week as class valedictorian. The future University of Manitoba engineering student made some jokes and reflected on a very interesting three years as a student at LSRCSS. The Record caught up with Crupi to see what she thought of being a 2022

"I am so excited. It's been a long time coming. The fact that we are able to have a big celebration at the Rec Complex with our whole community, is something that I'm so excited about and I'm not the only grad. I know all of us, we were discussing having a drive-thru grad and we all said that we wanted it to be in person, walking in front of everyone getting that diploma that we've worked so hard for the past 12 years for," she said.

The class of 2022 had some major upheavals with their grade 10 year being interrupted by COVID-19 partway through and having to contend with COVID-19 restrictions until recently, however, some things still remained the same.

"[A big memory for me from my time at school was] seeing how big our school is and how it's so diverse and getting to meet so many different people that Grade 10 year even though it was cut short. It was definitely an eye opener and made me realize that there are so many different types of people out there. It was such a good experience being at the comp and the teachers, are just so welcoming," said Crupi.

"Even when we were in remote [learning], they always tried their best to make sure we were up to date and included and always tried to make it as normal as possible, even though our high school experience was definitely not normal. Being back in grade 12 was so special, even though we still had to distance. It was still really nice to be there in person."

She said that like everyone else the class of 2022 she didn't know what to expect when they were sent home in March of 2020 because of the pan-

"In grade 10, we thought we were going to have two weeks extended after spring break. And we thought it was fun. And then, when we realized that we were missing out on all those times, it definitely hit us hard. As soon as we came back in grade 11, we were going halftime, we wanted to make as many memories as we could," she said.

Though it was hard for the class Crupi says it also made the classmates appreciative of what they had.

We just really enjoyed every moment that we could because we realize that for a long time it wasn't normal," she said.

Beyond COVID-19 Crupi says that one of the most positive parts of her education at LSRCSS was the people she met.

"I think one of the best things is seeing the relationships that I've formed not just with my friends, but with teachers and the community," she said.

Her best advice for future grade 10 Comp students is to embrace high

By Katelyn Boulanger

Like other events that had residents gathering in our communities, the 2022 Fair Parade has been on hold for the past two years. This year it's coming back and residents who want to put together a float or volunteer still have time to take part.

Sheri Skalesky, the executive director of the Selkirk Biz, which puts on the parade every year, says that the Fair Parade has been going on since the 1950s and always coincides with the Triple S Fair and Rodeo.

"It's just another way to celebrate everybody converging to our area for this event. A lot of people choose this time of the year to come back to Selkirk, if they are here to visit their family, or maybe they used to live here at one point. They love coming back on this weekend. It's really a great time," said Skalesky.

The 2022 Fair Parade did have a bit of a rocky start when the Biz didn't get the permits for the event before the deadline they had in place. However, an outpouring of support for the parade from residents when they found out the event was in danger of not happening and the permits coming in soon after meant that the event will be taking place.

"We were feeling that we were getting close to the cut-off point where we could ask our parade participants to still pull together an entry to be in the parade; do they have enough time and do we have enough time? And then, we need to call upon volunteers to come forward as well.

"We were getting near the end, and it wasn't looking too good. We weren't sure what was going to happen. We thought 'We're at our cut-off point and we just don't have enough time, to be fair to everybody.' And then, we were able to pull it together at the last minute, the pre-approval came in, and we thought, 'We cannot cancel the parade.' Because, every day, we heard from the community that everybody was looking forward to this event," said Skalesky.

This last-minute approval means that residents have until July 14 to officially sign up their floats for the parade.

"We typically see anywhere between 65 and 75, up to 80 entries. So, we're hoping it's going to be comparable," said Skalesky.

One major difference that this year's Fair Parade will be working around is the construction that is taking place. Because of this, an alternative route for the parade has been devised.

"Now instead of going down Manitoba Ave., straight to Eveline St., we're turning on to Main St. from Manitoba and going south on Main, down to Pacific Avenue. Then [the floats will travel] west on Pacific Ave. to Sophia St., and then north on Sophia back to Manitoba. And then, after Manitoba Avenue, the parade will disperse. That's coincidently, where all the parade participants will be staging so, it's logical, it'll take them right back to where they started," said Skalesky.

Another new part of the parade this year is that there will be a vote for the best parade float. The best float will receive a Biz Bucks gift card and one lucky person who votes for their favourite float will also receive a card. Voting takes place on the Selkirk Biz's website.

If you're planning to head down, Skalesky also wanted to share some tips for parade goers:

Parade goers are advised to respect all volunteers and barricades which have been put up to keep people safe.

Residents should keep track of children to make sure that they don't run out into the parade route or around the floats. People will be handing out treats directly to children so they won't have to run up to the floats.

Residents who drive down to the parade route are advised not to park on the parade route so that the parade can proceed unimpeded. This also means that on that day, people who visit businesses along the parade route and people who live along the parade route are asked to find parking that won't impede the parade.

Even though, there are no COVID-19 regulations at this event residents are asked to respect each other's decisions involving physically distancing or mask-wearing so that everyone can enjoy the event.

For people wanting to come out to the parade and get a front-row seat a great way to get out in front is to volunteer.

"We heard from the community that everybody loves this event, and we need volunteers to help. We need volunteers to ensure the future of it. If we can get a good volunteer base, that's going to secure the future of the parades," said Skalesky.

Volunteers and participants that want to sign up for the event are asked to visit the Selkirk Biz's website at selkirkbiz.ca to find the most up to date information about requirements and how to sign up.

The parade will take place on July 16 at 10 a.m. A parade route map is available at selkirkbiz.ca, and Skalesky encourages anyone who wants to, to come down and check it out.

"Just bring a lawn chair. I'm hoping for a nice sunny day, but the parade goes on rain or shine," she said.

LSEC hosts first adult student graduation ceremony

By Katelyn Boulanger

When a person chooses to go back and get their high school education as an adult they face very different challenges and decisions than a teenage student might. To celebrate the huge accomplishment that the adult graduates from the LSEC program achieved this year, they decided to have a separate graduation ceremony all for themselves.

Deanna Henderson, Director Adult Learning Program, started the evening's events by thanking the attendees, teachers, and graduates saying, graduation, whether you're 18 or 80 is an accomplishment to be proud of.

"Research shows that a high school graduate will make more money, live longer and have better health than someone who doesn't graduate from high school. And, your children are more likely to graduate from high school when you graduate from high school. So, that means the effects of graduation are significant and they're long lasting. Often Adult Ed. grads are embarrassed to come to graduation. But we feel that you really deserve this," she said.

She reflected on all of the additional challenges adult grads have in their lives from full and part time jobs, to illness, to parenting that teenage grads may not experience.

"You're here today because you put the time and effort to be here and because you found the motivation to complete that diploma, regardless of the reasons why you didn't finish in the first place," said Henderson.

Lena Kublick, Chair of the Board of Trustees for the LSSD spoke of the adult graduate's tenacity.

"Pressing on your graduation is a symbol of resilience, determination and perseverance, and worthy of acknowledgement and celebration. It's not just a GED. It's a deliberate decision that you made at a cost to yourself and to those around you to finish what you started," said Kublick.

Mayor Larry Johannson spoke of the day that the LSEC building opened.

"It was quite a few years ago that I stood in this building with then premier Greg Selinger, our then MLA, Greg Dewar and other dignitaries when the funding was presented for this former library from the province to make it into the adult education center. We walked out of the building and Greg and I looked at each other and we said, 'I wonder if that's going to be a successful project.' Well, guess what, it is a successful project and [the proof is sitting right here in front of us. I couldn't be prouder," he said. Johannson was followed up by current MLA Alan Lagimodiere who highlighted one special graduate in particular.

"You can lose your health; you can lose your job but your education, nobody can ever take that away. I understand that we have a graduate today. Somebody who will be celebrating their 71st birthday this year. Here's someone that shows us that education has no limits. Whatever you want to do in life, you can achieve it," said Lagimodiere.

That soon to be 71-year-old graduate was Linda Rosser. She said one of her greatest supporters throughout this was her granddaughter who joined her on stage when she received her

"I had a very excellent introduction to such a warm and friendly environment, and wonderful experience. I'm coming back in the fall to work on my physics and calculus," said Rosser.

Rosser is not the only graduate who has supportive family members in their life as Elen Sumka took to the stage on behalf of her graduating class to talk about her experience.

"I wanted to be a good role model for my daughter. So, I decided to go back to school and get my high school diploma. What I've learned from here at Adult Ed. is that if you really want something, you can achieve it. I know how busy life can be and on behalf of my classmates here at Adult Ed. I want to say thank you to the Selkirk School Division and the teachers here for making this a very memorable year. This place is a very welcoming place to learn," said Sumka.

Henderson has high hopes for all of this year's graduates.

"I hope that they realize that there are lots of people out there supporting them, and they're not alone and they should never be ashamed of coming back," said Henderson.

Soon to be 71 year old Linda Rosser receiving her diploma at the LSEC graduation.

If you or someone you know would be interested in pursuing high school education as an adult, information to sign up for next year's classes is available at the school board's website lssd.ca and online registration is available.

Young actor gets a foot in the door

Bv Autumn Fehr

For many, being creative is a way to escape the everyday, mundane realities of life.

The world of performing arts is where Ava Dewar receives this escape that drives her in her everyday life.

Ever since Dewar was very young; she has had a passion for theatre, taking classes and singing lessons.

This year, Dewar made one of her dreams come true and got a foot in the door towards her career.

On July 16 at 6 p.m. and 23 at 4 p.m. Dewar will perform Déjà Vu at the Black Box at Théâtre Cercle Molière, located at 340 Provencher Blvd as part of the Winnipeg Fringe Theatre Festival.

"It's a dream come true to be a part of a production in the Fringe show because it's always been a dream of mine so I'm happy to be pursuing it at a young age," said Dewar, a student from Selkirk, going into grade 10 in the fall.

Déjà Vu is a Meraki Theatre Productions Collective Creation about reconnecting with your inner child.

Dewar plays the protagonist of the play, Ash, who is stuck in a loop where she is reliving the same days over and over and she becomes less of herself as the days pass by. While this is happening, her inner child who has been separated from her is trying to get through to her and re-connect with her to save her from disappearing. Eventually, they reunite, and Ash becomes herself again.

"The cast is such a great community, and the directors are really nice too," said Dewar.

In the past, Dewar sang at a fundraising event for Meraki Theatre, so when the time came for the theatre to cast actors for the play, she received an email about auditions.

On May 4, Dewar auditioned for the role of Ash in Déjà Vu.

Later, on May 11, Dewar received an email confirming she got the role of Ash as part of the cast of one of the shows.

There are four shows of Déjà Vu that will be performed at the Fringe Festival, however, there are two casts for the performance.

Dewar is a part of cast one, which means she is the lead, Ash, in the performances happening on July 16 and 23.

In the other two performances, on July 17 and 24, Dewar plays a minor role, with a few lines, as her double will be the lead and vice versa on the night that Dewar is leading.

As the production is an original play, they had a writer's unit that's a part of the cast, which means all of them worked together to write the show.

Dewar has had a passion for theatre for as long as she can remember but has only started going to auditions and immersing herself in theatre within the last couple of years.

"Theatre is such a caring, loving environment that's very accepting. Also, you are working towards a big goal at the end which is something that's really fun because you get to make new relationships along the way and when you see the final product it's so rewarding," said Dewar.

Within the last couple of years, Dewar sang last summer at the Rainbow Stage benefit concert, attended theatre school at the Manitoba Theatre for Young People (MTYP) and sang at the fundraiser for Meraki Theatre.

RECORD PHOTO SUBMITTED Ava Dewar, plays the protagonist, Ash, in the Meraki Theatre Productions Collective Creation, Déjà Vu on July 16 and 23

After school, Dewar hopes to pursue a career in performing arts, whether that be acting, singing, both, or even teaching it to other people.

Rainbow Stage cast local boy new to the world of theatre it's all right here!

On a rare Sunday that Evason wasn't at the hockey rink is when the opportunity presented itself to dive deeper into the world of performing arts.

Evason said his mom was drinking her coffee and reading the news when she called him upstairs and asked him if he wanted to audition for the open casting call for a play about

Although his love for theatre didn't start as strong right away, Evason said through the course of auditions for the musical, it got better and better, and he began to take it more seriously, slowly developing his passion for theatre.

From June 30 to July 17, Evason will make his premiere performance in The Hockey Sweater at Rainbow Stage's annual show in Kildonan Park.

"It means a lot to me. Everybody is so nice, and they make you feel so included. It's just crazy because you are performing in front of many people, and you can show off your talent to them, and it might inspire them to do what you are doing," said Evason, a 12-year-old from Selkirk going to École Selkirk Junior High.

COVID booster shots recommended for fall; Doctors Manitoba revises procedure backlog

By Patricia Barrett

With the COVID-19 virus continuing to mutate and gaining traction in some parts of Canada, Canada's National Advisory Committee on Immunization (NACI) is recommending the administration of an mRNA booster shot this fall.

For some people, an additional shot of vaccine could constitute their third, fourth or fifth dose.

The recommendation comes after an expected resurgence of COVID in the fall and the possibility of stressing the health-care system.

"The likelihood, timing and severity of a future wave of COVID-19 is uncertain; however, the later fall and winter months are expected to be associated with a resurgence of SARS-CoV-2 community transmission due to indoor and seasonal gatherings," states NACI in a June 29 guidance report. "Later fall and winter is also a time when the incidence rates of other respiratory diseases are elevated, which leads to increased pressure on health systems."

It recommends that individuals aged 12 to 64 years of age be offered a fall COVID booster vaccination "regardless of the number of booster doses previously received." And it strongly recommends that the fall booster dose be given to the following:

- People 65 years of age and older
- People living in long-term care or congregate living facilities
- Children 12 years of age and older with an underlying medical condition
- Adults living in First Nations, Métis, and Inuit communities
- Adults in racialized communities and/or marginalized communities (e.g., people living with disabilities)
- People 12 years and older who are living in congregate settings such as quarters for migrant workers, shelters, correctional facilities and

NACI said the omicron subvariants BA4 and BA5 "continue to grow" in Canada while previous omicron subvariants, such as BA2, are on the decline.

In addition to the rise of the latest subvariants - which can evade natural or vaccine-induced immunity and are even more contagious than previous omicron lineages - the proportion of people who've received at least one additional dose of vaccine has "plateaued" and "infection- and/ or vaccine-acquired immunity wanes over time."

With regard to adverse side effects of [additional] mRNA booster doses, NACI said health risks are unknown in the case of some serious complications because they've been administered to a limited subset of the population, such as long-term care residents, and the monitoring of vaccine safety is ongoing.

"Booster doses were well tolerated and no new safety signal was identified. However, second booster doses have generally been administered in specific populations (e.g., LTC residents, older adults) or in small groups, therefore evidence of their safety is currently limited," states

NACI. "The risk of myocarditis and/ or pericarditis [inflammation of the heart / inflammation of the lining of the heart] following the first booster dose was lower compared to dose 2 of the primary series, which is consistent with lower risk due to extended intervals between doses. The risk of myocarditis and/or pericarditis associated with additional doses is currently unknown."

Many of the COVID vaccines approved by Health Canada are associated with a risk of serious health complications - including death which include thrombosis (blood clots), thrombocytopenia (low platelets in blood), capillary leak syndrome, Guillain-Barre syndrome (the immune system attacks the nerves and can paralyse the entire body) and Bell's Palsy (facial paralysis). The World Health Organization and researchers have also reported on multi-thousands of cases of tinnitus and hearing loss.

Health Canada has instructed vaccine manufacturers to list some warnings on their product monographs. The health agency maintains that the benefits of COVID vaccines outweigh and teammates, and is the understudy for Sylvain Langille.

Before his first audition for The Hockey Sweater, Evason had no experience whatsoever in the world of performing arts, and he had no interest in theatre, so when the opportunity presented itself, Evason thought that he would give it a shot.

"It was a bit of a long shot," said Evason.

From March 14 to 25, auditions were held for the show.

Later in late April, early May, Evason got a call-back telling him he got the part, and on May 30 they began rehearsals.

Evason said the performing cast had three previews to prepare before going into the larger performances.

There will be shows happening every night, besides Saturdays, with Sundays and Wednesday nights having two viewings, up until July 17.

After high school, Evason hopes to go to school to get a degree in teaching so that he can be a gym teacher.

"I also want to have hockey and theatre in my back pocket and do it as much as I can," said Evason.

Evason said it means a lot to him to be involved in a Rainbow Stage production, especially since he had no experience with theatre beforehand.

Evason wants to thank the creative team at Rainbow Stage for allowing him to be a part of this amazing performance.

"I want everyone as they walk out those doors to look at what they've accomplished. A lot of them a lot of time doubted themselves. I know I have too. But walking out those doors anything and everything is possible. We've learned so many lessons, not just in the classroom, but outside the classroom and [I hope we all] take those in hand, and are just excited about the future and are not scared or shy away from any challenges," she said.

Letter to the Editor

Can we hope that the Dept. of Highways and the City of Selkirk council will reconsider the new curb configuration at the west entrance to the Selkirk bridge.

Those motorists traveling north on Eveline and turning east onto the bridge are having difficulty navigating the turn and avoiding projecting into the oncoming traffic. For those towing a trailer or boat it is very difficult. This is a narrow bridge used daily by hundreds of vehicles, so please review the curb design with the criteria being to make this entrance to the bridge as safe, wide and convenient as possible.

AUDIGY CERTIFIED the risks of the disease.

A total of 85,133,726 vaccine doses have been administered in Canada as of May 27, according to the federal government. Adverse health events have been reported by 46,635 (about 6 in 10,000) people. Of those 46,635 reports, 9,627 were considered serious.

Other health news:

-The Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority's medical officer of health declared a COVID-19 outbreak June 27 at the Betel Personal Care Home in Selkirk.

"General visitation is suspended and outbreak protocols are in place," states a notice on the IERHA's website. The number of infected people was not provided.

-The provincial government's weekly COVID surveillance report for the week June 19-25 shows 157 new cases of COVID. The volume of restricted PCR lab tests for the virus decreased from the previous week's report. Provincial data is an undercount of the true number of infections.

There were also 46 new hospital admissions for the virus, of which five people required intensive care treatment, and one death was reported.

Manitoba's COVID death toll now stands at 2,043, an increase of 18 deaths from the previous week's death toll of 2,025.

-In its COVID-19 Weekly Epidemiological Update published June 29, the World Health Organization reported that the number of weekly cases "has increased for the third consecutive week, after a declining trend since the last peak in March 2022." The countries with the highest numbers of new weekly cases are the U.S., Germany, Brazil, Italy and China.

-Doctors Manitoba revised its estimate of the backlog of surgical and diagnostics procedures. As of June 28, there are between 107,111 and 130,449 procedures in the queue. The organization reported over 166,000 procedures at the end of May.

"The new estimate focuses on the work required to clear the backlog, rather than tabulating the procedures missed during the pandemic as some of those procedures are no longer required," states the physician advocacy organization on its website.

Some patients no longer need a test or a procedure because their condition has either improved or deteriorated, they died while waiting or they moved away, states Doctors Manitoba. And "alternative and sometimes less ideal tests or treatments were used instead."

-The Public Health Agency of Canada (PHAC) reported 43 additional cases monkeypox last week for a total of 278 cases as of June 29. Quebec has reported 202 cases, Ontario, 67, Alberta, five, and British Columbia, four. There was a total of 235 cases reported as of June 24.

-The World Health Organization has confirmed 3,413 cases of monkeypox and one death from 50 countries/territories between Jan. 1 and June 22. The majority of laboratory confirmed cases were reported from the WHO's European Region at 86 per cent, followed by the Region of the Americas at 11 per cent and the African Region at two per cent.

Gwen Fox Gallery explores healing beauty of art in July

Gallery open Tuesday to Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Bv Kiana Crouse

Five female artists share their art pieces for this month's showcase at the Gwen Fox Gallery. This showcase elaborately intermingles the artists' pieces which play off each other's colour schemes and themes, further complementing and accentuating each artist's pieces.

The showcase exhibits the watercolour stylings of Lillian Kazuk depicting nostalgic pieces tied to her prairie roots, the thought-provoking and detailed multi-media pieces from Erika Uustalu-Nicholson, the visually striking landscape and wildlife paintings from Judy Sutton, the topical paintings of Lydia Bartell celebrate her Ukrainian heritage and honour Indigenous art styles, and the lively and meticulous woodwork of Shirley Lawrence.

Lillian Kazuk

Kazuk is an interior designer and artist who displays her rural roots through the windows of her watercolour paintings, giving viewers glimpses of growing up in the prai-

Born and raised in Manitoba, her pieces provide a longing for a childhood cultivated by fields of wheat, architecture unique to the area, and gardens ripe with fresh fruit, veggies, and flowers. Her pieces elicit strong feelings of nostalgia from all who view her work.

"I was brought up with the beauty of living on a property where you have the space to produce your own garden with food and flowers, and it's nice to emulate all of that," said Kazuk.

The paintings depict memories of Manitoba through Kazuk's eyes and hold a lot of personal significance to her. She notes one piece titled 'Prairie Native' which displays an artful array of lilies is complemented by a painting of gladiolus flowers titled 'Glad Time' in honour of her sister Gladys' memory. Both sisters were named after their respective flowers, which further speaks to Kazuk's deep appreciation for nature and wanting to implement it as much as she can through her art.

Kazuk's favourite piece in this gallery is titled "Whispering Wheat," which portrays golden wheat gently blowing in a blue breeze. Kazuk said she was inspired to create this piece

"It's sort of a tribute to the hard work that farmers have to do to accomplish putting bread on the table for the masses," said Kazuk.

Erika Uustalu-Nicholson

Uustalu-Nicholson is an artist and retired art teacher who worked at high schools in the Interlake and Winnipeg areas. Her family originally being from Estonia, she honours her heritage through her art.

Her pieces displayed at this month's gallery have a striking juxtaposition in themes. While some of her art portrays a profound and meaningful message, other pieces have a more fun and light-hearted nature.

She isn't bound to one medium or genre of art, and her pieces vary from a variety of painting mediums, fibrework, and mixed media. With an emotion or story behind every piece, she embodies the spirit of support for causes she feels strongly about, such as forest fires affecting the natural wildlife in BC and the Russo-Ukraini-

Her piece, "02/24/22", illustrates a global view of the Earth where Ukraine is in flames. At the forefront of the painting, there is a pysanky egg with Estonian symbols representing family, resilience, and courage, harking back to Uustalu-Nicholson's heri-

One piece dear to her heart is the one she made in her mother's memory, titled "A Life in Letters." This creation shows her mother's hands, drawn in pencil, writing out letters in which she found comfort.

"She was very introverted, and wasn't really a sociable person, but she lived her life in letters. Boxes and boxes. Hundreds of letters," said Uustalu-Nicholson.

While some of Uustalu-Nicholson's pieces are deeply thought-provoking, others display a whimsy flair. Showing music. She specializes in vivid landscapes steeped in colour and palpable in movement.

"I was a music teacher in my career. So, I really look to rhythm and balance to see the completion of those musical things," said Sutton.

Sutton is known for her environmental pieces, for which she shares a deep appreciation. Viewers are taken on a melodic trip through the Canadian wilderness, showcasing our country's rich landscape and diverse wildlife.

Sutton only began painting after she retired, yet her skills look to be that of an artist with an entire lifetime of practice.

"I have been painting for over 20 years, and what you do isn't an accumulation of all that. People always ask me, 'How long does it take you to do a painting?' And in my heart? My answer is 20 years because you learn every day," said Sutton.

Lydia Bartel-Zobarich

Bartel-Zobarich is an artist who pays homage to topical world issues through her art. This showcase displays pieces paying tribute to endangered animal species affected by climate change, her Ukrainian-Polish heritage, and honouring Indigenous Specializing in acrylic, her journey in professional painting only began two years ago after she sustained a knee injury and lost her job of 22 years in the healthcare field.

"It's been quite the roller coaster ride. I had a total knee replacement at the age of 49, and at 50, I was out of work," said Bartel-Zobarich.

This year's Canada Day brought a crowd to the Recreation Complex. Due to high water levels, the event was relocated from the traditional waterfront location, but after 2 years off due to the pandemic, people were ready to have fun. Activities for kids, and the maker's market were hosted alongside Indigenous cultural learning opportunities and live local bands.

come her surgery. Along with her injury, the COVID-19 pandemic was another factor in Bartel-Zobarich's inspiration to create art.

"As with everything, the pandemic shutdown the art world, so all of us have been painting furiously," said Kazuk. "It's nice to get together and have a group show and get inspired by what other people are doing."

Not only is Bartel-Zobarich creating paintings that bring the community together after a long time in quarantine, but she also uses her talents to speak up on significant world issues.

She has three pieces in this month's gallery titled "A Tribute to Ukraine." The first piece displays a bouquet of Ukraine's national flower, the sunflower, and the second presents one of the towers from the Saint Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church in Winnipeg. The last piece pays respect to the Ukrainian-Canadian artist Leo Mol and Ukrainian bandura players. All three parts tie together to speak to Bartel-Zobarich's heritage and upbringing.

"I'm very devastated by the war, and what's happening to the economy because of the war. I never thought I would live to see it but here we are. In the middle of something that is beyond our control," said Bartel-Zobarich.

Another set of pieces by Bartel-Zobarich in this month's gallery is a homage to Indigenous peoples and their art styles. She made these pieces to honour Canada's Indigenous heritage and as a way to bring about more understanding and reconciliation when celebrating Canada Day.

"I like to pay tribute to the people that are fighting for their rights and are trying to maintain equilibrium," said Bartel-Zobarich.

Shirley Lawrence

Lawrence is a woodworking artist who carries a deep appreciation for wood and its properties. As a child, she would load wood onto a sled and carry it to her farm home. She remembers loving how the wood smelled and has associated fond memories with the material.

"I've always loved the way wood smells and just it's just a beautiful medium to work with. My father and brothers used to do woodworking making furniture. I had to try it," said Lawrence. "So, I did a little six-week course and that was it. I just haven't been able to leave it alone ever since." Lawrence has been honing her craft since she retired from her profession as a human ecology teacher 30 years ago, and specializes in creating lively nature pieces and wildlife, particularly birds.

"There's just so much possibility and so much potential with birds. There are so many different types and they're just beautiful," said Lawrence.

Lawrence opts not to paint her pieces as she likes to bring out the natural finish of wood and enjoys the mystery of not knowing how the marbling will turn out until after the piece is completed.

She likes to acquire endangered species of wood suffering from diseases such as butternut and create pieces that preserve its raw beauty for future generations to enjoy.

One of Lawrence's pieces from this gallery that hold significant meaning for her is a little wooden egg she carved that her grandson would always carry around as he loved the smooth feel of it in his palm. Another is a wren bird she made in her mother's memory, as her mom loved watching and looking after the wrens on their property.

Lawrence's woodwork displays a fine level of detail, incorporating natural elements and finishes that take her months to complete.

"I just like to do things as perfectly as I can. I get satisfaction from that," said Lawrence. "If it isn't as perfect as I can get it, then I'm not happy."

Argyle museum set to launch Platinum Jubilee exhibit

Settlers, Rails and Trails museum boasts a new crowning achievement with a special exhibition.

On Saturday, June 18, the Argylebased museum opened its doors for guests to check out a brand new exhibit called What the Crown means to us, which focuses on Queen Elizabeth II's Platinum Jubilee.

Shayne Campbell, the museum's president and executive director, said Settlers, Rails and Trails is one of only 22 organizations across Manitoba chosen to present this milestone exhi-

"The museum is very proud to have been chosen by the Department of Canadian Heritage to represent this important milestone for Her Majesty. Our volunteers created an application for funding, with a complete exhibition plan, and we were funded in full," Campbell said.

"As a small rural heritage organization, we are excited to tell the story of how we are connected to the royal family. The exhibit runs until June 2024 when the Manitoba Brick & Block Exhibition starts."

Guests can look forward to perusing a photo display depicting the royal family and the queen's visits to Manitoba over the years. Famous flags will also be on display, with a focus on ones that have a connection to royal history. As well, collectibles and royal artifacts will be displayed for all to

In addition to launching the yearlong exhibition, the museum will be planting seven large white spruce trees — Manitoba's provincial tree — on the museum's 12-acre park property, located north of Argyle.

"Each tree represents a decade of Her Majesty's reign and will be accompanied by an interpretive panel explaining important events from each decade. We are also planting three Regal Celebration Maple trees at the park. These trees were specially crossbred to combine the hardiness of western maples with the bright red fall foliage of maples from eastern Canada," Campbell said.

"Their leaves are reminiscent of the one found on the national flag of Canada. The Manitoba lieutenant-governor presents these trees to commemorate Manitobans who receive the annual Award for Historic Preservation & Promotion."

For his work with Settlers, Rails and Trails, Campbell received this award in 2015.

"The museum has invited the lieutenant-governor to officially plant these trees in the autumn of this year," Campbell said.

A plaque will accompany all the trees to indicate their connection to Platinum Jubilee.

Settlers, Rails and Trails, located in the lower level of the Argyle Community Centre on Highway 322, opened on Saturday, June 18 from 1 to 4 p.m. with free admission.

"In addition to the exhibit, our special guest Doug Adams from Brandon, Man., will be bringing important pieces of royal china from his massive collection to display that day," Campbell added.

"He has what might be the largest collection of royal china in Manitoba."

The museum is usually open the first Saturday of each month from 1 to 4 p.m. for free and by appointment by emailing argylemuseum@gmail.com.

It's my birthday!! (Keep reading for my gift to YOU.)

Happy birthday to me! I'm (almost) 42. Rather than this just being completely self-indulgent, I do have a few other reasons for sharing this 'news'.

Milestones like birthdays can be a great motivation when it comes to health goals. I currently have a client wanting to be in the best shape of her life for her 40th birthday this December, another who is using the short-term goal of his niece's wedding this August as a way to lose five pounds, and another whose husband treated her to one-on-one personal training when she turned thirty to navigate mom life without sacrificing her active lifestyle.

Having short-term goals is crucial if you want to push yourself to achieve a difficult task, like getting into better shape. There are endless benefits to maintaining a healthy weight, including increased energy, decreased feelings of depression, heart health, and anti-aging qualities, but if that doesn't convince you to get up and start moving, incentives must be created.

Treating yourself to a new dress for a party will encourage you to stick to your exercise routine to look your best. The deadline you decide on doesn't have to be a big event, either! It's true that vacations are perfect mini-goals to train toward, but a date night at a renowned restaurant would be an excellent reward too. Make the reservation and start

St. Andrews/Selkirk Mariners headed to provincials

By Brian Bowman

The St. Andrews/Selkirk Mariners U11 No. 3 baseball team is headed to the provincials in Garden City this weekend.

The Mariners earned a spot at provincials after posting a spectacular 14-0-1 record while winning the North Winnipeg Minor Baseball championship. They were one of three St. Andrews/Selkirk teams in the 10-team division.

"It was a good season and a lot of commitment from the kids," said Mariners' head coach Derek Smith. "A lot of them were excited to play and they would stay after practice. It was good that they were all loving baseball and I had some good help from the parents and coaches, too."

This Mariners' team could really hit the baseball and even had a couple of home runs. They also did an excellent job of stealing bases and being aggressive on the base path, said Smith.

Overall, it was a great season for the players, coaches, and parents. This group really gelled as a team and improved a lot over the course of the season.

"The kids worked really hard all year and deserve the extra recognition," Smith said. "The way they supported each other and kept positive made it fun to watch and fun to coach. I think we were the only team where the warmup consisted of loud music, dancing, cartwheels and one-handed pushups. What a way to get pumped before the game.

"Obviously the kids had fun winning. We played a lot of ball in a short amount of time but the kids really became good friends here so what more can you ask for?"

U18 Pirates struggling this season

By Brian Bowman

It's been a frustrating season for the North Winnipeg Pirates U18 AAA baseball team.

North Winnipeg was 4-11 and in last place in the five-team Zone 1 Division heading into last Sunday's road doubleheader with Midwest.

"We're in most games besides giving up a ton of runs in one inning. That's been the thorn in our side," said Pirates' head coach Donnie Smith. "We're competitive enough but we just don't have depth. Our lineup is inconsistent with guys missing with injuries and another group of guys that are away with Team Manitoba."

Offence has been a problem for the Pirates recently as they scored just 10 runs in its past five games of June. North Winnipeg was also shut out twice during that span.

"We're not getting the hits at the right time with guys on base," Smith said. "We've had a lot of guys being stranded so it's a matter of getting a couple of clutch hits at the right time so we start breaking the goose egg and hopefully put a bit of pressure on the other teams. We're getting on base, not as much as I would like, but we're going to have to start generating more offence. Maybe (utilizing) the short game potentially and maybe get some guys stepping up from the bottom part of the order. We're struggling with getting guys through the lineup and I think that's been the biggest factor for some of our games."

The Pirates have a lot of games postponed due to rainouts. They probably will not get to play all of those games before playoffs start in a couple of weeks

But the regular season doesn't mean much as every team makes the playoffs.

"We'll see who we line up with for the playoffs and we'll go from there," Smith said. "Hopefully we can play more consistently and have a complete game where we actually come out on top. We'll have to see and I'm just hoping our guys stay positive and we have been a little inconsistent with attendance which has hurt us a little bit. It's been a frustrating year overall."

Markusson, Soni win Selkirk Shootout

Gimli's Curtis Markusson and Winnipeg's Neel Soni combined to fire a 16-under par at last weekend's Selkirk Shootout, which is an event on the Prairie Scratch Tour.

They were eight under during both rounds of the 36-hole better ball, stroke play event.

The pair finished two strokes better than the duo of Ryden Hargeaves and Evan Nachtigall.

Rounding out the top five were the teams of Jay Doyle/Delwyn Doerksen (12 under), Colby Dudek/Ryan Sholdice (12 under), and Braxton Kuntz/Noah Fiks (12 under).

With the victory, Markusson and Soni took home $2,000 and earned 1,450 points.

The next event on the Prairie Scratch Tour is the Summer Showdown at Links @ the Lake on Aug. 27-28.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put vour sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Francis grew up in Petersfield, Manitoba working the family farm, but soon moved to Winnipeg for a work opportunity where he met his future wife, Violet. They married in 1955, and moved to Petersfield to raise five sons. Francis was a long-time employee of Brandon Asphalt & Paving, and on weekends came home to manage the farm. Francis saw a real need within the community for a plumber, and decided to take up the trade. Francis Hall Plumbing was created shortly after, which ran successfully until his retirement. Francis loved hockey, baseball, and especially curling. In 2012, Francis skipped his team to win the seniors 55+ Games in floor curling, then went on to represent Manitoba Floor Curling at the Nationals that year. Francis was honored with a lifetime membership to the Petersfield Community Club and the Petersfield Curling Club. He was renowned for his tireless volunteering throughout the community.

The family thanks all the staff and doctors from the Selkirk Regional Health Centre for the excellent care and compassion given to Francis during his stay.

Gregory Thomas Panaschuk May 4, 1958 - June 25, 2022

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the sudden passing of our dear son, brother, uncle, cousin and friend Greg. Greg went home to be with his Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ and to be reunited with his dad, Nicholas Panaschuk, his Baba and Gee Gee, and his other aunts, uncles, and cousins.

Greg is survived by his loving mom Rachel; siblings Ken and Mark, Caroline (Dale Nuspl) and Barb (Fritz) Aldinger. Lastly, his many special nieces, nephews, great nieces and nephews, aunties, uncles and many cousins.

Greg was the light in any room. His laugh and smile alone was infectious and would leave an imprint on your heart. He was a skilled and dedicated mechanic and took pride in his work and customers. Greg loved the outdoors. His passion for hunting and fishing brought him so much joy and many special memories. You could always catch Greg wearing one of his many hats or sunglasses- that was his fashion staple. He cherished his relationship with close neighbours, "Good neighbour Bob" and Christine, Karen (Bill) and Gunter (Ann), who were like family to him, and his many friends.

He truly loved his family and friends. There would not be a day that would not go by without a phone call from Greg just to check in to say, "Hi!" morning and evening to his mom and "Love you".

Our family would like to thank the kind paramedics and RCMP for their compassionate care.

There will be a private service at a later date.

We will forever love you, Greg and will miss you dearly.

Until we meet again, Greg. I'll be seeing you, son in Heaven. All my love.

Dave was born and grew up in Selkirk, Manitoba, leaving at the age of 19 to join the army. He was a decorated Korean War veteran, serving as a paratrooper with the First Battalion of the PPCLI. Having suffered serious injuries, he was in the American MASH unit in Japan, before returning to the front. Upon his return to Selkirk, he trained as a power engineer and was the Manager of Government Services for the Interlake Area when he retired at the age of 55.

Dave was a man of many interests. He enjoyed fishing trips with family and friends to the cabin at Eagle's Nest, was a skilled billiards player, a fantastic shot with a rifle, and a long-time member of the Selkirk Legion. Possessing great aptitude with numbers, he enjoyed doing friends' income tax returns. He was an avid reader, with a great interest in war history, and remained current on world events right until his death. Through his entire life, he maintained close lifelong friendships with his

In 1973 he moved to Clandeboye, and loved country life. He had great stories of the fox who would companionably lie in the sun in front of his patio door, as Dave sat reading his newspaper on the other side; his baby owls; performing CPR on birds that had crashed into his windows; and the ongoing battle between he and a raccoon as they tried to outwit each other.

He and Laura enjoyed a full life in retirement, wintering in Texas and Arizona for many years; exploring new activities, including downhill skiing, golfing and white water rafting; and travelling in England, Scotland, Europe, and Russia. Their last trip together, at age 88, was to Korea, as guests of the South Korean government, on the 65th anniversary of the armistice.

He maintained the discipline of his early army years throughout his life and stoically faced pain and discomfort. We are thankful that he had a long, full life, maintained his mental acuity until his death, and that we got to enjoy him in our lives for as long as we did. He will be greatly missed. 'Bye for now. But not forever.

In keeping with his wishes, cremation has taken place. A memorial service will be held on Friday July 8, 2022 in the St. Clement's Church, 7 St. Clement's Drive, St. Andrews, Manitoba at 1:00 p.m., A recording of the service will be available the following day on his obituary at www.gilbartfuneralhome.

Hugh Brian Smith March 15, 1958 - June 29, 2022

Brian passed after a long hard-fought battle with cancer. He is survived by his brothers, George, Johnny, Richard (Melody), and sister Joy, and many nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his parents Arthur and Margaret, sister, Susan, brothers, Jimmy and Billy. Brian is also survived by his Boilermaker Brothers from Local 555, his friends Curt (Jo-Ann), Derek (Cindy), Geoff (Cheryl), Brad (Danita), Duncan (Jan) and many friends in Selkirk and Winnipeg.

At the age of 18 Brian left school and got a job at Mandak Metal Processors, was layed-off after a year then went to work at the Manitoba Rolling Mills for two years before finding his career path with the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers.

He was a Boilermaker for over 40 years travelling from coast to coast and forging many lifelong friendships during his career. He excelled at being one of Triple Nickels best welders and was a proud Brother.

In 2016 Brian was diagnosed with Asbestosis and quickly retired from work. After retiring he finally bought his Harley Davidson that he'd been talking about since his 20's. If it was a sunny day Brian would be out on his bike visiting friends or taking a cruise down some highway in search of a new restaurant for lunch, he loved being in the wind riding his Harley.

Brian was 'Uncle Brian' to his friends' kids, and he was a special Uncle to his nieces and nephews. He spent a lot of time with his nephews Lee and Regan and their families. Some of the memories that Brian cherished recently was a trip when he went to Texas with Lee to take his cutter horses to be bred. He often spoke of the farm Lee had and how much he loved being there riding horses. This past Christmas was great for Brian, he drove to Lee's in some pretty dicey driving weather and thoroughly enjoyed the family togetherness having a great big Christmas morning breakfast, going and target practice shooting with Lee and Little Jimmy at the new house, and then coming back to the big Christmas dinner.

During a shut down in Estevan, Saskatchewan, Brian had T-shirts and stickers made with "It ain't over until the Damage is Done"!

Ride in the Wind, and Rest Easy Brother Brian, the Damage is Done.....

A memorial service will be held on Tuesday, July 12, 2022 in the Gilbart Funeral Chapel, Selkirk, MB, at 1:00 p.m. The service will be livestreamed via the link in his obituary at www.gilbartfuneralhome.
