Great Trail helps commuters connect with nature

By Maggie Wysocki

Whether you're a cyclist, cross-country skier, hiker or leisurely walker, you can now travel across Manitoba via the newly connected Trans Canada Trail (TCT).

"It's a celebration of Canada and Canadians and a wonderful connection to the outdoors and our culture," said Steve Demmings, executive director for the TCT.

Rebranding itself as The Great Trail, the TCT began as a dream in 1992 and once completed will become the longest network of its kind, running along 24,000 kilometers of multi-use recreational trail.

The 193 kilometers of Manitoba's trail is called the Red River North Trail, running throughout much of the Interlake. Local and area residents can take it from Birds Hill Provincial Park along the floodway to Lockport, north at River Road to Lower Fort Garry and throughout East Selkirk. The trail was completed on June 11.

Manitoba is the seventh province to have a connected path, following Newfoundland and Labrador, Nunavut, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan.

The Red River North Trail runs throughout much of the Interlake and is 193 kilometers long. ABOVE RIGHT: Selkirk-resident, Jesse Walker bikes along the Great Trail, previously known as the Trans Canada Trail, three times a week.

"It's a work in progress because of the nature of our country so it's really diverse. You have to appreciate that this is an inter-generational project," said Demmings, explaining the trail will continue to evolve and change over the years.

On Saturday, Aug. 26, Canadians

throughout the country will celebrate the official connection of the Great Trail from coast to coast at community-hosted events. "There will be music food trucks

"There will be music, food trucks, public figures speaking ... we really want to increase the awareness for people to use the trail," Demmings said.

Five community events will take place throughout the Interlake, including a celebration in the Lower Fort Garry parking lot from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and a celebration at the Tyndall Village Recreation Centre from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

For times and locations of all five Interlake events, visit redrivernorthtourism.com.

Though progress will continue to be made on the trail for several years, Demmings says it's a perfect route for commuters to take to work or school.

"It will connect you to nature no matter what way you like to travel," he said.

Selkirk resident Jesse Walker says the trail has become exactly that and is a safe and quick way for him to commute to friends' homes.

"I ride it at least three times a week so it's really cool to have this path that I can pretty much take anywhere I need," the 28-year-old said while biking to Birds Hill Park from Selkirk.

At some points in the trail, Walker says he has to get off his bike because of rough conditions, but The Great Trail free app on his phone has helped him to know exactly where riding will get tough.

"It's great. It shows a full GPS map of all the trails and you can track your activity too," he said.

Many Canadians have already made the pledge to cross the entire trail and Walker says he dreams of joining the pack one day too.

"It would be super cool to see our country that way," he said.

Rural residents to represent their culture at Folklorama

By Maggie Wysocki

When it comes to festivals in Manitoba, there's plenty on the calendar this summer and the largest festival of its kind in the world is about to kick off.

This Sunday, Folklorama will return to Winnipeg for its 48th year, celebrating multi-culturalism at 41 pavilions over the course of two weeks.

"Our member communities have been very busy currating all the aspects of their pavilions and I know they're all eager to share with you their ethno-cultural celebrations," the festival's executive director, Debra Zoerb said.

Within the member community Zoerb speaks of is more than 20,000 volunteers from across Manitoba.

Though the festival hosts all of its pavilions within the perimeters of the city, she says rural residents make up a large portion of the volunteers.

Take St. Clements resident Emily McIntosh for example. The 17-yearold has performed Hyland Dance at the Pavilion of Scotland for the last four years and will represent her pavilion this year as one of two Youth Ambassadors.

"I've always been involved in the Scottish community in Selkirk through dance ... but this just seemed like another really great outlet for that," she said.

McIntosh says the Scottish community in Selkirk is quite large, but she wishes they could do even more to represent their heritage throughout Manitoba.

"I think volunteering at Folklorama is a really great opportunity for rural residents," she said."I think one of the challenges is that it's quite a drive but once you get there it's worth it."

McIntosh promises driving to the Pavilion of Scotland will include eating hagus and drinking scotch while watching the heavy games competi-

Selkirk-resident Nikki Komaksiutuksak will also represent her culture as an Adult Ambassador at the First Nations Pavilion, which is returning to the festival after several years of absence.

"I'm an Inuit woman and I find a lot of time we're forgotten or not represented even though we're Canadian too," the throat singer said. "I have a passion for my culture and this just seemed like a great fit."

Komaksiutuksak often performs in Selkirk and throughout the Interlake but she said she's excited to represent her culture in front of some even larger crowds.

"It's an amazing experience. I love that a lot of people are interested in First Nations culture and how we identify ourselves in ceremony or songs. I think Folklorama is such a beautiful way for Canadians to see that," she said.

Though volunteers for the First Nations Pavilion are hoping to keep some of the events a surprise, Komaksiutuksak says people can look forward to hoop dancing performances and locally grown Indigenous food.

Folklorama runs from Aug. 6 to 19. For a full pavilion schedule and travel guide, visit folklorama.com.

Lockport dig unearths new clues about First Nations heritage

By Lindsey Enns

An ongoing excavation project is helping provide a glimpse into the way First Nations people lived near Lockport nearly 400 years before the first European settlers arrived.

Leigh Syms, Manitoba Museum curator emeritus, University of Manitoba Department of Anthropology adjunct professor and the co-ordinator behind the Lockport Heritage Park Project, says their research shows that local First Nations were far more sedentary than once thought.

"It's forcing us to completely change our understanding of First Nations," Syms said during an earlier telephone interview with the Record."These people were fishing ... but they were also planting their own crops and raising materials, digging storage pits.

"They were planting ... corn and beans and other plants and had sufficient successes that they were building storage bins."

Previously it was believed that First Nations were fishers and hunters that would follow their food sources rather than spend time in one location. But Syms says they have found evidence of the tools that were used and of the plants that were there along with proof of the storage bins.

SUBMITTED PHOTOS

University of Manitoba students take part in a dig at a site in Lockport last summer. The students helped uncover things such as clay pottery used by First Nations people 400 years before European settlers arrived, following up on research done in the eighties that showed First Nations had constructed storage bins.

"What we're trying to do is make this better known," he said. "The site itself is a very ancient site, it dates back at least three or four thousand years."

University of Manitoba students started extracting artifacts from the site, located along the river's edge in Lockport Heritage Park, last summer while following up on research done in the eighties that showed First Nations had constructed storage bins.

"This site is phenomenally important. It's just unbelievable that a site so important ... is so poorly known," Syms said, adding they have been working closely with nearby First Nations communities. "When we were excavating last spring, nobody knew about this."

Syms added their research has also helped enhance the important role of women in First Nations families. Men would hunt while women would take care of the plants, he said.

Syms said they have sent the artifacts they have uncovered so far to Lakehead University for further scientific analysis.

Once this project is complete, Syms predicts it will "completely change the general understanding and appreciation of the richness of First Nations heritage." He said they hope to wrap things up sometime this fall.

The research project is also being featured in a television documentary about First Nations agriculture that is currently underway and is expected to be released sometime this fall. He added the documentary will be made available to schools as a teaching tool.

The Selkirk and District Community Foundation provided a grant of $10,000 to the project to help facilitate scientific analysis of materials discovered at the site and the documentary. But Syms admits a project of this magnitude can be costly.

"Certainly over $100,000 worth of time and effort has gone into it when you include volunteer time," he said. "We've had just a phenomenal amount of donated time.

"It couldn't have happened without all of this work ... we've had just tremendous support."

The Selkirk Record office will be closed on Monday, August 7, 2017.

Local couple's camera collection a snapshot of history

By Maggie Wysocki

Before Tony and Barb Ryshytylo became the owners of Victoria's Flowers and Gifts in Selkirk, they worked in the arts.

Tony was a photographer, passionate about shooting portraits. Barb was a graphic artist, designing digital prints. They met working in the arts department at an advertising company.

Although they have been known for the past 30 years as "the flower people," you can still catch a glimpse of their past in the basement of their Lockport home where their collection of more than 200 vintage cameras is carefully displayed.

"Being in the flower business, I go to lots of garage sales and there's always cameras there," said Tony, adding that he never pays more than $40 for a camera.

"My dad loved garage sales and he would look for Tony ... I always keep an eye open too," said Barb.

Their current collection spans across two walls and 10 rows of shelves.

Tony says his oldest cameras are from the early 1900s and though he doesn't use them to shoot, collecting them is just as enjoyable.

"It's really just for us ... people come by now and then to see it but it's just for fun for me," he says.

"It's something Tony loves to do and that's all good for me," Barb added.

"PHOTOGRAPHY SHOULD BE ABOUT CAPTURING A MOMENT."

Now that most photography is done digitally, Tony says their collection of film cameras mean even more to him.

"I saw on TV a woman won a competition for a photo she took and she said she spent three hours manipulating it digitally but I don't like that. Photography should be about capturing a moment," he says.

When it comes to selling the collection, Tony says don't count on it. He wants to keep it for future generations and continue to watch it grow.

Though he can't decide on a favourite camera, Tony says he loves the vintage Hasselblad, which was the same type of camera used to shoot the Apollo 11 moon landing.

'Power of film' draws thousands to Gimli for annual festival

By Maggie Wysocki

Manitoba's largest film festival took over Gimli's beach-town last week, transforming it into a hub for movie lovers, makers and watchers.

"I am always amazed by the buzz and conversations in Gimli due to the power of film. Films inspire, engage, and empower," said Gimli Film Festival (GFF) director, Leona Johnson."I love the passion of not only our film fans that come every year but the passion of our volunteers and sponsors who keep giving it more and more."

From July 26 to 30, the festival played 134 films, including 72 short films, 36 narrative features and 26 documentaries.

Similar to GFF's previous 16 editions, this year's event showcased both local and international films. But there was one aspect that Johnson said made this year different than most, which was a focus on celebrating Canada.

"The additional day of screenings on Wednesday to celebrate Canada 150 not only recognized the exceptional work of Canadian filmmakers that forged the way for the film industry in Canada, but also highlighted these brilliant classic productions," she said.

Though supporting Canadian filmmakers has always been part of GFF's mandate, the festival made it an even larger focus this year, incorporating more Manitobans into the workshops and question and answer periods.

"We honoured Norma Bailey this year who is hugely successful and that was really great to see," said Amy Harrison, GFF media manager, referring to the Gimli-born director who has showcased some of her films at the Cannes Film Festival in France.

"Filmmakers being present at the screenings is where that festival magic is made," Harrison added.

In total, more than 10,800 people attended this year's event and indoorscreening ticket sales went up 12 percent from 2016.

The 18th annual Gimli Film Festival is set for July 25 to July 29, 2018.

I got out of my car and asked this fellow who looked like no stranger to the outdoors with his graving handlebar mustache, rugged features and powerful stance if he had a fishing story for us. It turned out, he, Arnie Brown, was from Rankin Inlet and remembered a close call when he and a friend had been out fly fishing. With bare rock bottoms, the waterways in Rankin Inlet are very clear. They were bringing the float plane into dock after fishing and Arnie standing on the planes' float, rope in hand, jumped for the dock missing it by "that much!" In seconds, he found himself up to his neck in ice cold water. Right beside his head was the dock and on the other side, the planes' float was coming to meet his face. Instinctively he dove under the freezing water and looking up he could see the underbelly of the plane. He swam under it to the dock, crawled up and shivering, tied the plane off. The things that happen to people when they're just trying to have a little fun fishing!

We'll see you by the water — till next week, stay cool.

Walk for Water fuels fight for a healthier Lake Winnipeg

By Maggie Wysocki

Close to 100 people in the Village of Dunnottar walked along Lake Winnipeg last Sunday, but it wasn't your typical summer beach stroll.

It was part of the Lake Winnipeg Foundation's (LWF) 10th annual Walk for Water, meant to raise awareness and support for the second largest watershed in Canada.

The five-kilometer walk raised $5,384 and was a great indication of how many more people are getting involved, said Alexis Kanu, LWF executive director.

"I asked how many people were here for the first time and dozens of hands shot up," she said referring to her opening speech before walkers set off at the Dunnottar Community Club. "I'm so encouraged by what we've done over the last 10 years. It's because of all of them that we are where we are."

Among the many new participants, were returning walkers too, including Heather Anderson who has participated in every walk since it first started in 2007.

in this amazing lake," she said.

Over the years, Anderson has watched how the walk's evolved and grown, starting off with only a dozen or so Dunnottar residents.

"It becomes more and more organized and gives us really great lake information," Anderson said.

Before the event started, LWF provided walkers with pamphlets and resources on the lake's health. A portion of this year's funds will go towards the community-based monitoring network that collects water samples and analyzes them for phosphorus concentration.

"We have six districts participating and lots of citizen volunteers who want sampling. We are super excited about this data," said Kanu.

The 2017 Walk for Water followed less than a week behind the feds announcement that it will invest $25.7 million in the Lake Winnipeg Basin Program, which is part of $70.5-million in funding allocated for freshwater protection in the 2017 Budget.

Feasibility study of Selkirk's former hospital gets underway

By Lindsey Enns

Whether or not Selkirk's former hospital will be able to house transitional care beds will depend on the results of a feasibility study currently underwav.

Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority CEO Ron Van Denakker said a request for proposals for the assessment has been issued and there have been several interested parties who have already taken site visits of the hospital. He added the request for proposals closes sometime this month.

"We've given them three months to respond so we're hoping to have responses back by the middle of November to see what the results of their review bring us,"Van Denakker said during an earlier interview with the Record. "We're hoping to be able to utilize some of the existing hospital for the purposes of transitional care beds."

Van Denakker said Selkirk's former hospital is "on life support" until the review is complete. He added they are hoping to get another three to five years of safe and useful life out of the building.

Selkirk's former hospital currently houses things such as emergency services station, materials management functions and maintenance.

Van Denakker added the hospital has security on site in the evenings.

Gwen Fox Gallery mixes it up with 'Messages' exhibit

By Lindsey Enns

Art pieces by a Selkirk woman, carvings by Iqaluit residents from all walks of life as well as works by Gwen Fox herself are all on display this month at the Gwen Fox Gallery.

The exhibit entitled "Messages," runs until Saturday, Aug. 26. An opening reception is also being held at the gallery on Sunday, Aug. 13 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Gallery board member and Selkirk resident Patricia Johnson said this month's show is all about bringing the messages to life that artists try to get across through their pieces.

"As an artist when you paint something, it's a message from you," said Johnson, whose paintings and carvings are included in the show. "It's part of you that goes into it. You are sending a message to somebody."

Johnson is an accomplished artist who has received multiple awards for her watercolours, acrylics and carvings.

She has dabbled in art her whole life and is self taught, honing her skills with the aid of workshops.

As for the carvings which were scheduled to make their way to Selkirk from Iqaluit last week, Johnson said the idea came about after a teacher from that area made a recent visit to the gallery.

"He buys soapstone carvings from the locals," Johnson said. "He has obtained carving tools and is trying to teach some of them how to carve."

Two of the carvings that are on display include a seal hunter and an owl. Johnson added for the first time in nearly 10 years the Gwen Fox collection is also on display this month.

"It's time it went up. It's a good opportunity for that," Johnson said, adding before Fox passed away she was a great supporter of the gallery that was eventually named after her. "She is one of our founders of the gallery."

A copy of Dawn MacFarland's new book, "According to me," will also be on display this month at the gallery. The Selkirk resident's book includes a story about the founding of the Gwen Fox Gallery.

The Gwen Fox Gallery, located at 101-250 Manitoba Ave. is open Tuesday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

City extends Selkirk Waterfront Market, D.O.G. Days hours

By Maggie Wysocki

Every Wednesday this month, the annual D.O.G. Days of Summer and Selkirk's Waterfront Market will take over the city's waterfront, filling it with music, food and shopping.

Sponsored by Sunova Credit Union, D.O.G. Days will feature performances by local musicians, delicious food from a handful of food trucks and an array of handcrafted and homegrown treasures at the farmer's market.

"It will be similar to what we had last year but expanded due to its popularity," said Grant Warren, the city's marketing and communications coordinator.

Warren says the event will be better because it will accommodate more resident's lunch hours, running longer from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. And with 34 vendors signing on for the farmer's market, it will be bigger too, he says.

"Last year was really successful and with five Wednesday's this year in August there will be more of everything," Warren said.

"It's going to be so exciting to see everybody again. Last year it was great to see so many happy faces," said Joy Sul, the organizer of the farmer's market.

Sul has had great success organizing the Skinner's Locks Market in Lockport and she says she hopes to have the same support again in Selkirk this year.

"It would turn into a meeting place every Wednesday, it was so amazing," Sul said referring to last August.

Last year's crowd-favourites, like fresh veggies from Jonathan's Farm and specialty-baking from Ubuntu Café, will return, she says, adding several new vendors will grace the waterfront too.

Again this year, Warren says the city has chosen to focus on sustainability, providing residents with a hydration station where they can fill up their reusable water bottles for free.

"We invite everyone to come out and visit with the many vendors who will be set up, browse around and just enjoy a few minutes in the great outdoors in this fabulous setting," said Selkirk Mayor Larry Johannson.

Memories Show N' Shine Car Show to benefit grieving parents

By Maggie Wysocki

The late Candace Morgoch would be proud if she could see how her parents' fundraiser, the annual Memories Show N' Shine Car Show has helped so many other families dealing with the death of a child.

"She'd be ecstatic. I know she would love it," said Candace's mother, Sharon Morgoch who has organized the event for the past 14 years alongside her husband, Johnny.

The annual event, which is set for Sunday, Aug. 13 this year, fundraises for The Compassionate Friends of Winnipeg, an organization that provides counselling and other resources to bereaved parents.

Over time the event has evolved from starting in the Morgoch's backyard to being hosted in Lockport and now taking place at the Selkirk Waterfront.

"More and more parents come out who have lost children so we know we're doing something right. It gives them purpose," Sharon said.

Though the event is in support of bereaved parents, Sharon says it's really just a day of fun for everyone.

"MORE AND MORE PARENTS COME OUT WHO HAVE LOST CHILDREN SO WE KNOW WE'RE DOING SOMETHING RIGHT."

Last year, the show raised more than $14,000 and she says it keeps getting bigger.

"Over 600 cars showed up last year and we even had to turn some away," Sharon said, encouraging this year's participants to show up as early as 8 a.m. to make sure they can reserve a spot.

Registration will be open from 8 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. and the show will run from 12 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. showcasing old, classic, antique and street-rod rides.

Afterwards participants are invited to enjoy a barbecue, listen to a Patsy Cline tribute by Laurie Sutherland and enter to win silent auction prizes. The show will also feature the crowd favourite"engine blow" where participants bet a toonie to see how long an old car without gas will run for.

Little Lake block party looks to bring neighbours together

By Jessica Worb

Friends of Little Lake, a committee formed by Dorchester and Grain Avenue residents, are looking to bring their neighbourhood closer together with their first ever block party.

The block party, which will close off Dorchester Street and flow into Little Lake Park, is an opportunity for children and neighbours to connect and meet each other.

"We have so many new families in the area and there are so many children who use the park," explained Linda Rosser, one of the block party's organizers."It's a wonderful opportunity to be able to put this into place."

As a part of Canada's 150th celebrations, the City of Selkirk held a contest and Dorchester Avenue was the recipient of $150 to help host their own block party.

"We were very lucky to win," said Rosser."It was a great way to get this started and we can't wait to see everything come together."

Friends of Little Lake committee members came together in front of Little Lake Park on Dorchester Avenue for their fourth meeting, where they finalized all of the details for an upcoming block party on Aug. 13.

The party, which will take place on Sunday, Aug. 13 from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m., is aimed towards children and children's activities says Carol Harvey, a member of the committee.

"We are all really excited about this," said Harvey. "It's a great way for the neighbours and children to meet and get to know each other."

The committee sees the block party as the start of something very exciting says Harvey, who has lived on Dorchester Avenue for two years. She says they want this to become a tradition for their children, something that happens each and every year.

"It's all about the neighbourhood. We want everyone to enjoy the park, the community, and their family and friends," said Harvey.

Children can enjoy face paint, tattoos, disc golf, street hockey, vollevball, and other fun activities at the party, and parents can enjoy food and live music.

The committee requests a $5 donation upon entry and for guests to RSVP beforehand. For more information or to RSVP, contact Linda Rosser at 204-482-5556 or Carol Harvey at 204-228-9461.

Ekosky wins bronze medal

Submitted by Brian Jones

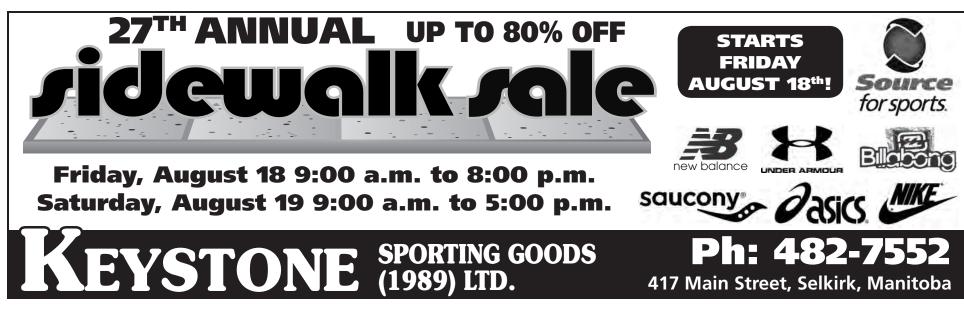

Three Selkirk Judo Club members competed at the US Open Judo Championships in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. from July 21-23. The tournament featured entries from the United States, Canada and numerous other Pan-American countries.

This year, the U18 and U21 age divisions at the US Open were designated as an International Judo Federation World Tour event.

In the U21 under 73 kg division, Damien Ekosky won three matches and lost one. He finished with an impressive bronze-medal performance in a category of 17 competitors. Ekosky also competed in the Senior Men under 73 kg division, finishing out of the medals with a 1-2 record.

Justin Ekosky and Sarah Ekosky also competed with the Manitoba team at this event but did not place in their divisions. Sarah finished fifth in U15 Girls under 53 kg after dropping the bronze-medal contest.

"The US Open is a tough competition and a good final test for these athletes as they complete their competitive season," said Brian Jones, one of the Selkirk club's coaches. "They will now take a well-deserved rest before the next season begins."

Selkirk FC stings Scorpions FC

By Brian Bowman

Selkirk FC put the sting into Scorpions FC during MMSL 2nd Division action last week at the Recreation Complex.

Tanner Markevich had a great offensive game for the winners - netting a hat trick - in a convincing 7-2 victory. Devin Racicot, Chris Szukiewicz, Ryan Coffin and Yaya Raman Ramadan scored Selkirk's other goals.

John Kyriakopoulos and Syed Naqvi replied for Scorpions FC.

With the lopsided victory, Selkirk FC improved their record to 5-5-3 on the season. That gives them 18 points, leaving them in a tie for sixth place with the Kildonan Cavaliers (6-7) in the 10-team division.

Both Selkirk and Kildonan are just a point back of Galacticos, AC Foirentina and Borussia Dortmund.

Selkirk will have an easy month of August with just two games on its schedule. The local club will host Lions FC on Aug. 14 (6:45 p.m.) and the Kildonan Athletic Club on Aug. 20 (6:30 p.m.).

Selkirk FC will then close out its regular season with two road games in September.

In 5th Division action, the Tri-S Strike Force lost a hard-fought 3-2 decision to North Winnipeg United on July 25 at the Rec Complex.

Michael Cameron and Shawn Cahoon scored for Tri-S. Darren Douglas (two) and Leonardo Marinovic tallied for North Winnipeg.

Tri-S (0-11-1) had five games in July and will play four more this month. The Strike Force will host Elmwood FC tonight (7:15 p.m.) and then will hit the road for games on Aug. 10 and Aug. 19.

Tri-S will close out August with a home game against Stonewall United on Aug. 27.

True Manitoba Lacrosse wins pair of U.S. field tourneys

By Brian Bowman

Our American friends received some great lessons in the sport of field lacrosse from a group of talented Manitobans late last month.

True Manitoba Lacrosse, which included Selkirk's Josh Poponick and Stonewall's Seth Mandryk, dominated their U.S. counterparts in winning a pair of tournaments in two different states.

The Manitoba contingent, which is a travel team, won a tournament on the prestigious University of Notre Dame campus in South Bend, Ind. and then headed west to win another event in Eden Prairie, Minn. last week.

True Manitoba defeated the Minnesota Frogs by "three or four goals" in the Notre Dame final. In the semifinals, Manitoba won in overtime over a real good Nebraska squad.

"We did very well," said Mandryk. "And the (campus) was really nice – it was really cool to play there. All of the facilities there are really nice."

Nebraska had earlier handed True Manitoba their lone loss at the tournament.

But it was Manitoba that won the important games, bringing home bragging rights for our province.

"We had a really good, solid defence and our goaltender played really (well)," Poponick explained. "Everyone did their role and just what they had to do. Our face-offs were a big thing, too, because even if our (player) didn't win the draw, we got the ground balls off it."

The American teams play a different style of field lacrosse compared to Canadians. Both Mandryk and Poponick agreed that playing box lacrosse here in Canada benefits them in the field lacrosse game.

"They're not used to the box game," Poponick said. "They stay outside so if you get them in tight quarters, they're not as good as us because we're used to box lacrosse."

"They tend to slow (the game down more) than we do," Mandryk added.

It was quite the experience of playing lacrosse on the hallowed grounds of Notre Dame. Some of the games were also attended by U.S. college scouts.

"It was pretty cool," said Poponick, 17, Monday afternoon."The first game was just on some soccer field and the second game was on an actual soccer/ rugby field, so it was on turf."

Manitoba's third and fourth games were played on Notre Dame's lacrosse field, which hosts Division I games. True Manitoba players stayed in the dorms at Notre Dame.

"(The campus) is huge)," Poponick recalled. "One walk to one of games took us 15 minutes."

True Manitoba had a much shorter walk while playing in a one-day Eden Prairie tournament on July 24. The players then participated in a showcase the next day where they were split up into separate teams.

Manitoba finished with a perfect 4-0 gel as a unit.

"We've only had a couple of guys that have come and gone," Poponick said. "We've known each other for three years now on the same team. The chemistry is a lot better than the first year that we played."

This True Manitoba team branches off into U18 and U15 Team Manitoba squads. The U18s will be headed to Saskatoon for the September long weekend. Mandryk, Poponick and Petersfield's Kaden Kotowich will represent the province in Saskatchewan.

Local players to represent Manitoba at lacrosse nationals game.

By Brian Bowman

Team Manitoba's Midget box lacrosse team has 20 players on its roster this season.

And half of them reside in the Interlake.

Two of those lacrosse players – Michael Standrick and Noah Ojala – are from our local area. Six reside on Sagkeeng First Nation while the others live in Beausejour and Pinawa.

Manitoba will be field a real good club for the nationals but the competition is expected to be outstanding.

"We're looking pretty strong," said Manitoba head coach Dustin From last week. "Our high end is very strong...and our goaltender (Standrick) is from Lockport and is very strong. He is one of the pieces that we are most looking forward to seeing out there."

Both Standrick and Ojala are younger 15-year-old players, said From. Ojala is an assistant captain on the team.

"We're really looking forward to seeing those two players," From said. "Noah is a big-body player who commands the floor. He is definitely a leader on the floor and in the locker room."

Standrick is considered an elite lacrosse goaltender in the province.

"He's a really strong goaltender positionally," From insisted. "Two weekends ago he got called up to play with the Manitoba Blizzard Junior 'B' club and got some playing time with them."

To prepare for the nationals, Manitoba has run two practices per week and has lately been getting in some exhibition games. The Midgets played against Team Manitoba's Bantam team and a senior team made up of players that have graduated from the junior program.

"Those guys will give us a really big push of real life experience of what we'll see (at nationals)," From said. Still, Manitoba will have just four games under their belt before they head to the nationals in Whitby, Ont. from Aug. 6-13.

IN MEMORIAM

Marion Noonen (Loutit) February 20, 1938 - July 29, 2012 Mom – Grandma You've been gone now for five long years, Yet we cry so many tears. We know you're safe and free from pain, But still they fall just like the rain. We miss your wisdom and your grace, Especially the smile upon your face. You gave us strength to carry on, And still we wish you were not gone. It's been a struggle with its ups and downs, Still we smile and hide our frowns. So we thank you for all you gave, And all the knowledge to be brave. You taught us what we needed to know. To listen, to love and to grow. Again, thank you, for all your love, For you will always be in our hearts. We miss you dearly.

-Forever loved, Kelly, Ria, Joshua, Justin, Chantelle, Makayla, Riley, Jordan, Emie and Chloe

Julian Wusaty

Peacefully, on July 26, 2017, with his family by his side, Julian Wusaty, aged 85 years of Libau, MB went to fly with the angels. He leaves to cherish his memory his wife of 55 years Verna; their daughters Terylene (Robert) Herda and Lenora (Edward) Vincent; granddaughters Stacey (Kevin) and Courtney (Tyler); grandsons Riley and Tyler; step-grandchildren Ray and Jade and his new great-granddaughter Brooklyn.

Dad had farming in his heart and his happiest times were spent on his tractor or tending to his crops and cattle. Dad drove bus for the Lord Selkirk School Division for over 32 years and was affectionately known to many as "Mr. Wusaty".

Once dad retired, he enjoyed spending time with mom in their perfectly manicured yard with their family. Dad was always inviting friends to "come by for a drink". He'd visit over a glass of his "medicine" while mom made lunch. He loved having company almost as much as he loved his sweetheart

We would like to thank the nurses and staff at St Boniface ICU and request that should you wish donations would be appreciated to the Asper Center at the St Boniface Hospital.

Spend time with me. I'm only here for a short while.

We wish we had more time Dad, we weren't done loving you yet. In keeping with his wishes, a private family service will be held.

OBITUARY

Thomas Frederick Cooper 'Coop

March 15, 1939 - July 19, 2017 Peacefully at his residence in Selkirk, Tom passed away at the age of 78 years. Tom was predeceased by his parents and younger brother Herb. He is survived by his longtime friend Val Duke as well as numerous other friends. Tom graduated from St. James Collegiate where he was the athlete of the year in both grades 11 and 12. He then entered into the Agriculture faculty at the U of MB. His first job was as a salesman for Heinz. He then sold medical equipment and later on he started his own business selling personal grooming and medical supplies to nursing homes and labs. Tom was an avid sportsman in his younger and middle years.

He was on Hersh Lerner's championship curling team and was an expert skier, golfer, hockey player and basketball player. His claim to fame was that he caddied for George Knudsen on several occasions.

Tom bred St. Bernard dogs for at least 20 years and was very particular about grooming them before a dog show and as a result his dogs usually won the breed competition and often placed in group. His last dog, Atlas II (Thozie) won several best in show trophies. Those dogs were the love of his life.

Special thanks to all doctors, nurses and home care providers who cared for Tom A Memorial Service was held at Faith Temple 968 Notre Dame Ave. Wpg. on Friday. July 28th, at

OBITUARY

Cynthia Anne Densley (nee Morrison) February 15, 1949 - July 27, 2017

It is with profound sadness that we announce the passing of our beloved wife, mother, grandmother, aunt and friend Cindy after her courageous battle with Cancer on July 27, 2017.

Cindy was predeceased by her parents, Elinore and Tommy Morrison as well as her wonderful sister, Paulette Maloney. Cindy leaves to mourn her husband Jim of 53 years; brother Hugh (Judy) and children Pamela (Corey) and Corey. She also leaves behind her most cherished of all, her grandchildren Connor, Adam, Easton, Hunter (Kris) and fur buddies, Benny and Abby. As well as numerous nieces and nephews, Mom will also be missed by her special friend Artelle (Mom was the top half to Artelle's Cinnamon bun).

Mom was born in Selkirk on February 15, 1949 where she lived most of her life. She was employed as a Nurse's Aide at SMHC, had spent time Guarding for the RCMP and working for the Saan and Walmart Store in Selkirk and Winnipeg, always saving money for her grandchildren.

Cindy enjoyed camping and fishing, making ceramics with her Mom and dog grooming at home. During Mom's hot run at bowling, it was unusual for her to come home without a trophy. Mom always put her family first and was ready to help out at the drop of a hat, even stepping up to co-coach her son's hockey team so they could play. Her 'Grandma Densley' buns and sweet and sour meatballs were always a hit for our special occasions and holiday dinners.

As per Cindy's wishes, cremation has taken place and she will be interred next to her mother during a private family service at a later date.

Cindy's family would like to sincerely thank the staff at the Selkirk General Hospital Medicine and Cancer Care wards for their kindness and making her as comfortable as possible during those difficult times. As well, a special thank you to Erna and Don Iwanoczko for their kindness and generosity during this difficult time.

In lieu of flowers, donations made to the Winnipeg Humane Society in Cindy's name would be greatly appreciated.
