The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 15, 2020 3 Lack of consultation over Lock and Dam repairs

Potentially three summers in a row of lost revenues a concern for businesses

By Katelyn Boulanger

Business owners in Lockport have gathered together creating the Lockport Community Development Group (LCDG) asking for more consultation after finding out that the federal government plans to do repair work to the St. Andrews Lock and Dam. This project includes a replacement of the bridge deck, which pedestrians and vehicles use to travel between the RMs of St. Andrews and St. Clements. "It became very apparent that nobody knew about [the bridge deck replacement project]. There had been no public consultation. None of the residents that I was aware of in the area knew about it, none of the business owners knew anything about it," said owner of Gaffer's Restaurant & Lounge and member of the LCDG David Truthwaite.

The work, which is planned to start in spring 2021 and is anticipated to take approximately 2 years to complete, has a projected completion date sometime in winter of 2022.

With the reduction in traffic that this project would likely cause for the next two summers, the busiest time of year for these Lockport businesses, along with the COVID-19 slowing business this previous summer, the owners are worried that this project will mean three years of lost revenues which some may not be able to come back from.

The St. Andrews Lock and Dam was formally opened on July 14, 1910, by then Prime Minister Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It is the last remaining Camerestyle dam in the world and is used to flood the Lister Rapids between May and October annually so that river travel between the City of Winnipeg and Lake Winnipeg is possible. Because the Lock and Dam is operated by Public Services and Procurement Canada (PSPC), a division of the federal government, the bridge is considered to be in their jurisdiction, which is why the federal, not the provincial government is involved with this project.

The last time that the bridge had to undergo maintenance of this magnitude was Jan. 4, 1993 when traffic was completely blocked from passing through. The official re-opening ceremony for the bridge at that time took place on Nov. 6, 1993.

In 1993, businesses also did not feel informed about the project with it being reported in the Jan. 5, 1993 edition of the Selkirk Journal that Wayne Faires, then chairman of the Lockport Bridge Committee, said that residents were confused. It was in that same edition of the paper that the notice saying the bridge would be closed to vehicle traffic as of Jan. 4, 1993 ran.

This time, businesses would like their voices heard and so have written a letter to the PSPC expressing their thoughts about the construction process.

The letter highlights the major concerns that they have as business owners in the community, but also as residents, including issues with the proposed timetable, safety, scope and designs of the work to be undertaken, as well as the fact that "there has been little to no community consultation that has been done."

"It needs to brought into the public domain so that there can be some public consultation. [There should be] an opportunity for the public to have a say with something that happens in their community whether that's a federal property, a provincial property, or a municipal property, there should be some input from the community," said Truthwaite.

In the letter, the LCDG ask that the work be condensed into a nine to twelve-month period seeing the current timeframe that will span over two summers as excessive and propose that the work start in Sept. 2021 to allow them to have one summer to recuperate from the restrictions that were put on businesses due to COVID.

They ask that the PSPC take them through the proposed traffic flow along PTH 44 during construction so that their input can be considered to mitigate some of the challenges to accessing businesses, as well as areas that fishers use when they come to the community.

They also ask that there be consultation with regards to the design of the bridge with the possibility of including rest/lookout areas for residents and tourists to stop at. In addition, they are concerned about the heritage value of the site, as the St. Andrews Bridge is a National Historic Civil Engineering Site, and would like to as far as is practical ensure that the heritage value and character-defining elements of the bridge are maintained.

PSPC has contacted both the RM of St. Andrews and St. Clements.

"The problem [with regards to receiving an announcement about the project from the RM's side] is that we don't know what to announce. When a project is announced in a Province of Manitoba news release, that is reportable. We don't have anything like that from [PSPC] in terms of definitive here is the project and here are the timelines," said Gary Marshall, Economic Development Officer from the RM of St. Clements.

"I just hope that the federal government moves forward and looks a little bit towards the concerns that this group has and takes it seriously and sees if there's something that they can do to meet these needs," said St. Andrews CAO DJ Sigmundson.

When the Selkirk Record contacted PSPC asking for an interview with Micheal Leong the Strategic Portfolio Advisor who has been in communication with the RMs about this project as well as residents, PSPC issued a statement instead.

The statement said that the deck was past it's usable life and needed to be replaced including the information that the contract for designing the new deck had been issued to Associated Engineering in the fall of 2019 to begin the first phase of the project designing the new deck, which is expected to be completed by December 2020.

The statement said, "The second phase, which is the construction of the replacement bridge deck, is planned to begin in spring 2021. This work is anticipated to take approximately 2 years to complete, with the bridge deck replacement project expected to be completed in winter 2022."

PSPC also said in the statement that they are regularly engaged with stakeholders.

"In 2018, PSPC initiated contact with the Province (Highways), the Rural Municipalities of St Andrews and St Clements, City of Selkirk, Manitoba Trucking Association (MTA), Lockport Business Association, First Nations (Peguis, Brokenhead, Bloodvein) and a number of other stakeholders and advised them of its plans to initiate this project.

"In May 2020, PSPC hosted a Zoom Meeting to update stakeholders on project progress. Designs were shared with stakeholders in order to inform them how wide road widths would increase, the separation that would be created between vehicles and cyclists and pedestrians, and the increase in sidewalk width. A PSPC Project Manager provided updates and an overview of how the project is anticipated to be delivered (alternating traffic, traffic control, etc.). The meeting was attended by MTA, local government council members, and a few stakeholders.

"In August 2020, PSPC held another Zoom stakeholder meeting, in consultation with St. Clements, as it was felt that some of the business owners required additional information on the project. The same presentation given at the May 2020 meeting was given to stakeholders."

In the statement, the PSPC says that they are currently assessing how they can mitigate some of the issues raised throughout the engagement sessions and highlighted in the letter from the business community.

"There is no real public information being circulated. In the past month or so, I'm spreading the word. I've talked to some folks that live in the condo community [by the bridge]. They're going to have a person who will represent them on this committee but all of this is going on about six months too late," said Truthwaite.

Parade of Lights prevails over pandemic

Holiday Alley and Selkirk Biz to team up for Christmas

By Nicole Buffie

While the pandemic has claimed events across province over the last eight months as COVID-19 spread throughout communities, one event in particular has prevailed over social distancing measures for the upcoming holiday season.

Holiday Alley and Santa's Parade of Lights have teamed up to bring Selkirk an event that families can enjoy from the comfort of their own vehicle.

"We decided that it was a good fit," said Sheri Skalesky, executive director of Selkirk Biz."It just made sense."

While the idea to combine the two events came before provincially mandated shutdowns and limits on gathering sizes, Skalesky said the event will work well for restrictions that may come up later in the year.

The event itself will be stationary floats set along Selkirk Park while cars do the parading. The decision to have vehicles do the legwork for the evening came from needing to find a solution to patrons crowding along sidewalks watching as floats went by them.

"People will be in their vehicles with their kids and they won't be standing outside on a dark, cold street," said Skalesky.

For those who cannot attend the event in person, Selkirk Biz will be offering a live stream of the floats and lights for folks to enjoy from their homes. Skalesky also noted the Biz is working with partners to offer alternative transportation for those who do not have access to a vehicle.

Between Holiday Alley and Selkirk Biz the partnership feels like a natural one to Skalesky and while the timing may not be ideal to some, the duo are choosing to look at the bright side of things.

"There's so much going on right now that changes are looked at in a negative way," Skalesky said. "But we're looking at this very positive, and I think it's really going to go a long way in enhancing our event."

"It's going to be the future for us."

The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 15, 2020 7 Pandemic trumps Garson's Golden Ages Club

By Nicole Buffie

After nearly 30 years, the Garson Golden Ages Club is folding their cards.

The weekly Wednesday club at Garson Hall consisting of whist drives, snacks and socialization for seniors has decided to call it quits due to declining memberships and the closure of the hall during the COVID-19 pandemic.

"A lot of people are going to be disappointed because a lot of these people that's an outing they had," said Marsha Carriere, secretary of the club. "It's sad to see it go."

Carriere said over the six years she was part of the club saw dozens of members come through the hall every week.

"It was awesome people that were there, they were all really nice," she remembers of the crew that would gather every week.

Carriere served as secretary of the club from nearly the moment she joined, helping set up tables and coordinate holiday meals, as well as help with 50/50 draws to keep the group afloat.

As the group decided to call it quits, the decision of what to do with the extra cash in their reservoir came up. They settled on donating the money to three different organizations: Selkirk Hospital, Beausejour Hospital and the Garson Hall. A sizeable cheque of $3,415 presented to the Garson Hall will go towards kitchen upgrades.

"It was nice to have the seniors using this facility because they were sort of the founders of it years ago; a lot of them that were actually participating in the group were one of the first ones that had the idea of building this hall" said Val Laurie, manager of the hall. "We're going to miss them."

Laurie said the decision to put the donation into new kitchen gear only made sense as the club members were putting the space to use, cooking for holiday celebrations and preparing coffee and dainties on those Wednesday evenings.

Cheques of $1,000 were presented to both hospitals respectively. Selkirk plans to put the cash towards palliative care and Beausejour will spend it as they see fit.

In a letter penned by Julie Kozan, the past president of the club, she took the opportunity to shout out each member for keeping the group alive and board members for the hard work.

"We would like to sincerely thank all those people that held important positions on the executive over the years and kept the club running so well, especially Helen Bretchka who has been treasurer for 25 years," read Kozan's letter.

The letter thanked the Garson Hall for providing them with a space to host every week and cited safety as one of the major reasons behind the club's decision.

"We don't feel that it is safe for our seniors to be playing cards at this time," Kozan wrote.

Carriere said while it was the right decision to make, the weekly card games will be missed dearly by her and other members. "Cards keep your mind working and it's good exercise for your brain," she said."Everybody there was sharp as a tack."

Kozan shared the same sentiments, offering some kind words at the end of her letter to members.

"Take care, we will miss you, stay in touch and stay safe."

Waste disposal day coming to St. Clements

By Nicole Buffie

Fall cleaning is well underway, and while residents decide what to do with pesticides and pool chemicals no longer needed for the colder months, the RM of St. Clements will be holding a household hazardous waste collection event for folks to dispose of their materials properly.

In partnership with Product Care and Miller Environmental, the program is designed to safely recycle and dispose of possibly toxic material, saving it from being mixed in with regular household garbage.

"These things likely end up in the landfill, which is not going to be a good thing," said Greg Elfon, manager of Public Works for the RM.

Elfon said while this is the first collection of its kind for the RM, they are working on creating a permanent site for household hazardous waste disposal at the landfill.

In Selkirk, the waste transfer station has been operating a HHW disposal site for two years. Ryan Sicinski, manager of Public Works for the City, said the site is used often by residents.

"The list of things we can't take is easier to name than the things we can take," Sicinski said.

The list of accepted materials is vast and varies from items such as flammable liquids to corrosive material to old paint and lightbulbs. The items are collected by Miller Environmental where they are processed and recycled or disposed of.

Elfon said programs like this are beneficial as businesses and public bodies are consciously moving towards environmentally friendly practices.

"We're doing this for the environment," he said. "Having these materials end up in a landfill has always been a concern."

While the depot in Selkirk is used often by residents, it's still a fairly new concept to some according to Sicinski.

"If it can't be recycled, most people just throw it in the garbage," he said. "So, once they know that they actually can take everything and put it there then they're a lot more conscious of it the next time around." Anyone wanting to dispose of waste that can't be traditionally thrown into a garbage or recycling bin can drop it off at the RM of St. Clements Public Works building on Oct. 17 from 10 AM – 2 PM. Staff ask residents wishing to drop off items that they be placed in trunks or beds of vehicles and staff will retrieve them for a contactless service.

For more information on what materials will be accepted at the event, visit www.rmofstclements.com

Walk & Jog program active once again

Selkirk runners rejoice

By Nicole Buffie

Selkirk's Walk & Jog program is up and running once again for the fall and winter.

While the public is still welcome to get their jog on at the Rec Complex between now and the end of April, the operation of the program will be a bit different.

Participants must sign up for a time slot between 8:30 AM and 1:30 PM. Time slots are one hour, and the facility is cleaned between sessions.

Vanessa Figus, director of marketing and communications for the City of Selkirk, said programs like this are integral to the health and wellbeing of residents in the community.

"More than ever, especially right now, recreation is extremely important," she said. "It's important to keep people active."

While most programs are still running during the COVID-19 pandemic, the City felt it was necessary to keep this one going.

"Exercise is known to help with mental health and keep people happy, and I think people feel isolated right now," Figus said.

One member of the program said she's very happy to have the facility accessible to walk in this year.

Audrey Farion, 56, has been running circles around the Rec Complex for nearly five years now.

The program is part of Farion's daily lunch-hour routine, which she said is a great way to keep active.

"It's relaxing," she said. "It's good exercise and good for my health."

During the summer months when the program isn't active, Farion gets her steps in by walking outdoors. In Fall and Winter, she relies on the Rec Complex to be open for a warm and safe place to make her rounds.

"You have to really bundle up [outside], and then there's a chance of slipping," she said. "On really cold days I probably wouldn't even do it."

Farion said she enjoys having the space to walk, talk with other members while doing laps and watching the Selkirk Steelers if they have a practice going at the same time.

"It's a good atmosphere here," she said."It's a really good thing."

Figus said due to the cold weather coming up in conjunction with a lack of activities due to public health protocols, she expects more attendees to the program and encourages those feeling lonely to register.

"[We're] taking these new standards seriously, and people can feel comfortable enrolling themselves or their children in other programs because we are doing everything we can to keep people safe and active at the same time," she said.

The Walk and Jog program is $40 for an annual membership or $2 for a drop-in, however, drop-ins will only be accepted if less than 25 participants are registered for the day as per health regulations put in place by the City. Arrows indicating a oneway route are marked on the floor and masks are to be worn at all times while inside the Rec Complex.

"Get outside and explore Manitoba – there is no better place to be and no better time to explore our beautiful province," said Pallister. "Our gov-

There are more than 1,700 kilometres of active transportation trails throughout the province. The Manitoba government has created three funds that will be managed by Trails Manitoba and held in trust by The Winnipeg Foundation.

"This investment by the province will allow us to leverage support for many trail projects throughout Mani-

"It provides the financial stability to ensure our organization is sustainable and able to continue supporting the construction and maintenance of recreational trails while improving our province's trail offerings and ensuring their longterm viability for future generations to enjoy."

The $1-million Trails Manitoba Operating Endowment Fund will serve as ongoing operating funding for Trails Manitoba. The $4-million Manitoba Trails Improvement Endowment Fund will support annual application based grants to create new trails or improve existing ones. The third fund, a $2-million Manitoba Trails Strategic Fund, is designed to support capital projects that advance recreational trail development in Winnipeg and will be distributed as matching grants.

Trails Manitoba will have more information on eligibility and project criteria in the coming weeks.

IERHA AGM held virtually for first time

Participants hear about fiscal year that ended with start of COVID-19

By Evan Matthews

Now in month eight of the global pandemic, with so much of the world having shifted operations online, the IERHA is not immune.

The IERHA hosted its first virtual annual general meeting on Oct 5, which saw 80 participants connect by phone or online. Much of the meeting was a summary of fiscal activities over the past year, according to an IERHA spokesperson.

"It is always a pleasure to share about the initiatives in our region, to step back and really see the positive impact on people and their families thanks to the efforts of staff, volunteers, and partners," said Glen West, the IERHA's board chair.

"With the onset of the coronavirus pandemic in March, delivery of some health care services have changed.

"But what has not changed is the goal of providing fully comprehensive, integrated and accessible health care services for all residents in the Interlake-Eastern region," he said.

With the meeting's new format, participants were able to submit questions to speakers that could be answered in real time. However, the IERHA acknowledged some participants had troubles logging in, and West apologized on behalf of the region for difficulties anyone had.

The IERHA stated retaining a virtual presence would be worth exploring for future meetings.

Meeting points West outlined continued efforts and initiatives under Interlake-Eastern RHA's points of strategic focus in the areas of health system sustainability, improved access to care, person-focused care, decreasing preventable harm, improved access to mental health resources, and partnerships with Indigenous communities.

For outgoing CEO of Interlake-Eastern RHA, Ron Van Denakker, who retires on October 15, the care of Indigenous communities has been of particular importance, according to the IERHA. Attendees at last year's AGM listened to people sharing first-hand accounts of their experiences with the health system, including Gwen Traverse, health director of Pinaymootang First Nation.

"Gwen takes advantage of the question and answer period every year to hold me and the RHA accountable for our care of Indigenous people," said Van Denakker.

"It was troubling to me as CEO to hear those stories and I thank those who had the courage to stand before strangers and share very personal stories about their health care.

"I promised then that we'd do better, I know while there is still a ways to go, together we have made progress in helping all residents access the care they deserve, closer to home," he said.

Traverse and the leadership of her First Nations community marked their thanks for Van Denakker's efforts by bestowing a parting gift of commissioned artwork to him, acknowledging his work over more than nine years as CEO.

The annual Chair's Awards for Excellence in Customer Service was awarded to staff who consistently went above and beyond in their interactions with patients and other staff. Eleven staff members were nominated this year and four of these stood out to the chair:

• Pharmacist Brad Clyde was honoured for stepping up to problemsolve to ensure that patients receive the care they need, with humour and a great attitude

• Robin Malcolm, an HR assistant, won for her efficiency, positive manner, and mentorship on her team

• Pamela Robertson, an administrative assistant with the RHA's physician services team, won for her personal and professional approach in staffing of the region's emergency departments with physicians

• Kim Scharf, facility administration at Gimli Community Health Centre, was recognized for the way she greets all visitors and patients with a friendly smile – helping people feel comfortable, often during difficult times

The 2020 CEO Award for Community Leadership went to the individuals representing communities from around the region who comprise the Primary Care Development Group.

Nominations needed for excellence in education awards

Honouring outstanding educators on World Teachers Day

Submitted by Manitoba Government

Nominations are now being accepted for the 2020-21 Manitoba's Excellence in Education Awards to recognize achievements in education, Education Minister Kelvin Goertzen announced Oct. 5.

"As we mark World Teachers' Day today, it's important to take the time to recognize and celebrate the extraordinary effort of Manitoba's outstanding educators," said Goertzen. "The Excellence in Education Awards provide a chance to thank Manitoba teachers who are making a difference in the lives of their students. I want to thank our teachers for the work they do, now more than ever, to support our children and ensure they can succeed."

The province is now accepting nominations to recognize outstanding achievement in education. Awards will be presented in the following categories:

teaching excellence (three awards);
outstanding new teacher (one award):

• outstanding team collaboration (one award);

outstanding school leader (one award); and • Premier's Award fo

• Premier's Award for Excellence in Education (one award).

Parents, students, school trustees, teachers and school or school division administrators are invited to make submissions by the Dec. 2 deadline. Nominees must be educators who hold a valid, permanent Manitoba teaching certificate at the time of nomination. They must also work directly with kindergarten to Grade 12 students in a school setting on a daily basis.

The selection committee includes representatives from Manitoba Education, Manitoba School Boards Association, Manitoba Association of Parent Councils and Manitoba Federation of Independent Schools.

"Despite these unprecedented times, many educators are having a profound impact on student learning and engagement," said Goertzen. "We hope the educational community responds to this call for nominations and takes the opportunity to recognize the individual efforts and contributions of these outstanding educators."

Information on past recipients and on the nomination process, including selection criteria and required forms, can be found at www.edu.gov.mb.ca/ k12/excellence/. Each award recipient will receive $500 and a framed certificate.

"WHAT HAS NOT CHANGED IS THE GOAL OF PROVIDING FULLY COMPREHENSIVE, INTEGRATED AND ACCESSIBLE HEALTH CARE SERVICES FOR ALL RESIDENTS," -GLEN WEST By Selkirk and District Community Foundation

When Michele Polinuk received a call from Aaron Martyniw identified himself as the "Chairman of Selkirk and District Community Foundation", Polinuk knew something was up. She, of course, recognized his voice from her six-year term on the Selkirk and District Community Foundation (SDCF) board of directors, which recently ended and it dawned on her exactly what was going on – Martyniw was calling to tell her she'd been named the 35th Citizen of the Year.

"When he started saying 'chair of the foundation', I'm thinking, 'yeah, I know that you're the chair'," Polinuk laughed.

"Right then I could tell he's doing something formal and not just phoning to maybe ask me a question. And I know the timing of everything, I know the routine, I know [the selection committee] just had their meeting on Thursday, so I thought, 'I think I know what's coming'."

Martyniw said Polinuk was gracious in accepting the honour, but made it clear she has no plans to ride off into the sunset.

"She told me during the call that she's not done, and I know she's sincere," Martyniw said.

"I got to know Michele through the Foundation, and her dedication and drive were on full display every meeting, every event and literally every day. She puts that same energy into all she does, and I, and everyone at the Foundation, absolutely believe Michele will be a force in Selkirk, St. Andrews and St. Clements for years to come."

Her nominators – Lena Kublick, chair of the Lord Selkirk School Division Board, Kathy Good, LSSD Executive Administrative Assistant, Jerret Long, LSSD Superintendent, Jack Bogaski, LSSD board member and Jean Oliver, former LSSD board member and Rotarian – are all also friends.

Each has worked closely with Polinuk, who this past summer retired from the LSSD where for the past three years she was Superintendent. They witnessed first hand her dedication to education and more importantly, her dedication to people.

In his nominating letter, Bogaski noted Polinuk's support of the performing arts in both elementary and high school, her promotion of literacy and dedication to the I Love to Read program and called it all just "the tip of the iceberg".

"I have to say that I am somewhat surprised that Michele has not been considered for the Citizen of the Year honour in the past," Bogaski wrote, sighting her leadership throughout the COVID-19 pandemic not just in the LSSD but throughout the province.

"Michele met all the challenges that COVID-19 presented head on and in a very innovative way, changing challenges into opportunities so that the education of students would not be severely interrupted."

A Selkirkian, born and raised, Polinuk's teaching career began in Winnipeg and eventually led her home to the LSSD.

Her volunteer involvement is too long to list in its entirety, but includes the Selkirk Rotary Club, where she's held the position of president twice, the SDCF, Education Research Development & Innovation Corporation, Interlake Eastern Regional Health Authority, Interlake Eastern Regional Health Foundation and the Manitoba Association of School Superintendents.

She said her commitment to community comes from her parents and grandparents who supplied a lifetime worth of good examples for her to follow.

"I learned growing up that you needed to be a part of the community, it's just what you do," she said.

Her mom, Sylvia, is an active volunteer to this day.

"My mom is still volunteering with the [Our Daily Bread] Soup Kitchen and House of Economy and doing funeral lunches and she's 78-years-old."

Jean Oliver, who has worked alongside Polinuk on the school board and in the Rotary Club, can attest to that.

"The Rotary motto of 'Service above Self' is demonstrated in all that Michele does," said Oliver.

Polinuk is honoured and humbled by her friends' and colleagues' words, and with the award, which has a special meaning to her.

"I think the word 'citizen' is the critical piece of it, and sometimes that's lost in our day and age of social media," she said.

"We need to keep the word citizen alive, it's something that we teach in the schools, the whole citizenship piece, doing what you can, rounding out your life as much as you can, helping yourself, helping your family, helping others, that's what keeps our world ticking."

Polinuk has the distinction of being named the Citizen of the Year in a year when the annual gala celebration in her honour can't take place because of a global pandemic, but for her that makes it all the more special.

COVID numbers continue to rise in Manitoba

Staff

Public health officials advise the 33rd and 34th deaths due to CO-VID-19 have been reported. One is a previously announced case, a female in her 100s from Winnipeg linked to the Parkview Place outbreak. The other is male in his 40s from Winnipeg.

The current five-day COVID-19 test positivity rate is 3.3 per cent and 77 new cases of the virus have been identified as of 9:30 a.m. bringing the total number of cases in Manitoba to 2.655.

As of Monday, Interlake-Eastern had five new cases bringing the active cases to 86 along with 138 recovered.

The current breakdown of active cases by district is as follows: Arborg/ Riverton 2; Beausejour 2; Eriksdale/ Ashern 3; Fisher/Peguis 19; Northern Remote 41; Powerview/Pine Falls 2; Selkirk 1; Springfield 3; St. Clements 1; Winnipeg Beach/St. Andews 7; Stonewall/Teulon 4 and the unknown district 1.

Oct. 12's data shows:

• five cases in the Northern health region;

• two cases in the Prairie Mountain Health region;

nine cases in the Southern Health-Santé Sud health region; and • 56 cases in the Winnipeg health region.

The data also shows:

• 1,131 active cases and 1,490 individuals have recovered from COVID-19;

• there are 25 people in hospital and four people in intensive care; and

• the number of deaths due to CO-VID-19 is 34.

Laboratory testing numbers show 1,871 tests were completed yesterday bringing the total number of lab tests completed since early February to 210,902. Case investigations continue and if a public health risk is identified, the public will be notified.

The chief provincial public health officer strongly encourages Manitobans to reduce the number of close contacts outside their household, and avoid closed-in or crowded spaces.

In addition, they should focus on these fundamentals to help stop the spread of COVID-19:

• Stay home if you are sick.

• Wash/sanitize your hands and cover your cough.

• Physically distance when you are with people outside your household.

• If you cannot physically distance, wear a mask to help reduce the risk to others or as required by public health orders.

Unless recommended by public health officials, only individuals experiencing COVID-19 symptoms should go for testing. Individuals with symptoms are asked to seek testing as soon as possible once symptoms are present. Employers are asked to only send employees for testing if they have symptoms or if testing has been recommended by public health officials.

The online assessment tool can be found at https://sharedhealthmb. ca/covid19/screening-tool/ and CO-VID-19 symptoms can be found at www.gov.mb.ca/covid19/updates/ about.html#collapse4.

East Selkirk Water Treatment plant gets upgrades

Funding from municipality and province to aid future growth

By Katelyn Boulanger

The East Selkirk Water Treatment plant is going to be able to serve more people in the community with $1,000,000 being invested by both the province and the RM of St. Clements for future upgrades.

"I was very excited [to find out we'd received the funding] because this project has been on the books for quite some time, and not that we've been stalling, but we've always looked at the funding part of it and because the funds that we have are limited it was good to find out that we're going to be having some more grant money so that it wouldn't be so much of a burden if any on our rate payers," said St. Clements Mayor Debbie Fiebelkorn.

The grant is part of the Manitoba restart program and Red River North MLA Jeff Wharton came to St. Clements's East Selkirk Water Treatment plant to announce on Oct. 9.

"Our government is committed to helping municipalities with immediate projects to help improve quality of life and help boost Manitoba's economy during this pandemic," said Wharton.

Fiebelkorn says that this project will increase the range of St. Clement's water treatment system.

"We have had some preliminary discussions with people that want to come into the municipality and I think that if we have the sewer or the water I think that that would be better to entice people to come here or developers to come here to this area," said Fiebelkorn.

She also mentioned that having fire hydrants and pressurized water keeps St. Clements competitive with neighbouring municipalities when it comes to attracting businesses to the community.

The municipality did look at other options such as connecting with the City of Selkirk for these services but Fiebelkorn says that technical limitations stopped that from being a viable option for the municipality.

This project is also part of a continued effort from the municipality to make the water their residents use more environmentally friendly.

We're protecting the environment because there aren't going to be any of the contaminants going into the water system into our rivers, creeks, lake, it's very important to protect our water," said Fiebelkorn.

Homeowners want their residences to look inviting inside and out Part Experts recommend various cleans-

Homeowners want their residences to look inviting inside and out. Part of keeping an attractive property involves addressing issues that can compromise not only the appearance of a home, but even its integrity.

People who live in regions with high humidity may find their homes are vulnerable to exterior mildew growth. Mildew is a kind of mold. Molds include all species of microscopic fungi that grow in the form of hyphae, which are multicellular filaments, according to the Environmental Protection Agency. Mold thrives on any organic matter and surfaces with moisture management problems. Mildew, in particular, lives on shower walls, windowsills and other places where moisture levels are high. Mildew also can grow on home siding as well as fences and other exterior structures. While typically gray or white, mildew can be various colors.

ers to help combat the issue of mildew on a home. One of the first products that homeowners tend to reach for is sodium hypochlorite, which is a standard bleach used in laundry and pool sanitation. While sodium hypochlorite seems to make mildew vanish, those at This Old House say that chlorine evaporates too quickly to get to mildew's roots on porous surfaces, such as wood or vinyl siding. Bleach also can stain clothing and damage foliage around the house. Hydrogen peroxide, or oxygen bleach, is less volatile, will not affect foliage and can clean mildew, algae and dirt on and below the surface.

Trisodium phosphate is another effective cleanser. Commonly known as TSP, it often succeeds where other solutions fail in regard to stubborn stains and mildew. TSP also works well on various exterior surfaces. TSP needs to be used with extreme caution. When using TSP, wear long sleeves, gloves, goggles, and a respiratory mask, says Today's Homeowner. The product also requires adequate ventilation. There also are some environmental concerns, as TSP can damage foliage. In addition, if the product ends up in lakes and streams, it can trigger an overgrowth of algae that results in the depletion of oxygen levels in the water. Eco-conscious homeowners may want to try oxy cleansers before TSP.

Mildew shies away from bright sunlight, so it tends to grow on the north side of homes. Removing trees or other foliage that can further block sunlight to areas of the house can help eradicate mildew growth and stop it before it starts. Another tactic is to clean out gutters regularly and thoroughly to reduce moisture and to prevent decomposing debris from running over the edge of the gutters. This runoff can drip down the home's siding and spread the mildew to other areas.

Mildew can be problematic any time of year. Clean up mildew when the weather cools down to spruce up the look of a home.

Safe and effective ways to clean up leaves

Removing leaves from the yard is a task that homeowners must perform each fall. Thousands upon thousands of leaves can drop from a single tree. Multiply that by the number of trees on a property, and it's no surprise the task of leaf cleanup can seem so daunting. Furthermore, not all leaves are shed at the same time, so several cleanup sessions may be necessary before the last leaf is banished from the vard.

Just like removing snow, leaf cleanup can be a taxing job if done by hand. For people unaccustomed to exercise, cleaning up leaves can turn into quite a workout. According to the Discovery Health Calorie Counter, raking leaves for one hour can burn nearly 292 calories. Shoulders and arms will feel the burn. Raking leaves is considered moderate physical activity, similar to brisk walking. Those who find themselves straining or out of breath should take a break, and these tips also make the job safer and easier.

· Wear layers when cleaning up leaves. It may be cool at first, but it's easy to work up a sweat after raking for awhile. Layers can be peeled off so as not to get overheated or risk hypothermia from sweating in chilly temps.

· Pay attention to your posture while raking. James Weinstein, chairman of the Department of Orthopedics at Dartmouth Medical School, recommends forming a wide base with the feet and holding the rake slightly toward the end of the handle with one hand three-quarters of the way down the handle from the other. Do not twist the spine; move your entire body. Avoid overuse of muscles on one side of the body by switching sides periodically.

· Do not try to rake or blow leaves on windy days. Wind will only make the task that much more difficult, which could lead to overworking oneself.

· Avoid overfilling bags. For those who plan to mulch and bag leaves, remember that compressed leaves can get heavy pretty quickly. Do not over-fill bags, as they can be hard to move or bring to a recycling center.

Using a leaf blower to push leaves into piles will reduce the strenuousness of the task, but leaf blowers can be heavy and noisy and gas-powered blowers can produce a considerable amount of exhaust.

Raking leaves can be quite a chore. It is important that homeowners take steps to prevent injury while cleaning up leaves in their yards.

Embrace your inner laziness and avoid fall's dreaded chore

Submitted by Nature Conservancy of Canada

The changing colour of leaves is one of the most beautiful aspects of the fall season, but it comes with an onerous task: raking them up once they've fallen. The Nature Conservancy of Canada (NCC), however, has some green advice for people wishing to avoid back-breaking yard work: leave the rake in the shed and the leaves on the ground. And if someone accuses you of being lazy, you can say you are helping the environment and being a conservationist!

The not-for-profit land conservation organization says leaving fallen leaves in your yard is a small act of nature conservation that can support backyard biodiversity in many ways. While some butterflies travel to warmer destinations, many native insects, including pollinators, and other backyard wildlife hibernate over the winter and can use a little neighbourly help.

Dan Kraus, NCC's senior conservation biologist, says leaves can provide important habitat for many species. "Backyard animals, such as toads, frogs and many pollinators, once lived in forests and have adapted to hiber-nate under leaves," says Kraus. "The leaves provide an insulating blanket that can help protect these animals from the cold and temperature fluctuations during the winter."

Another benefit of not raking your leaves is soil improvement. Kraus points out that as leaves break down, they also provide a natural mulch, which helps enrich the soil. Thick piles of leaves can impact the growth of grass and other plants come spring, but leaving a light covering can improve the health of our gardens and lawns.

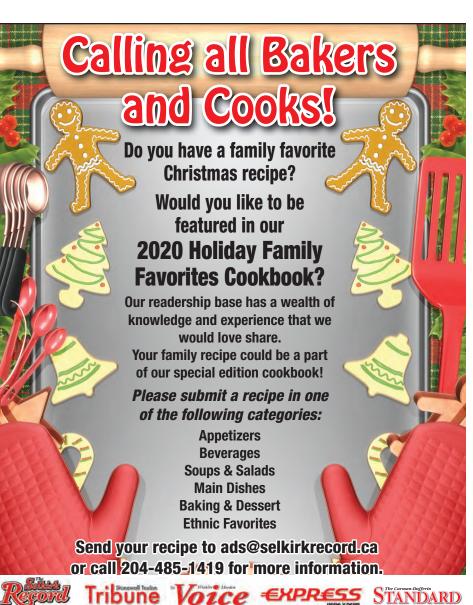

As the leaves break down, some of their carbon also gets stored in the soil."While it's great for cities to provide collection programs to compost leaves, the most energy-efficient solution is to allow nature to do its thing and for the leaves to naturally break down in your yard," says Kraus.

And it's not just leaves that are important for backyard wildlife during the winter. "Plant stalks and dead branches also provide habitat for many species of insects," says Kraus. "By cleaning up our yards and gardens entirely, we may be removing important wintering habitats for native wildlife in our communities.

"Migratory and resident birds can also benefit from your garden during the winter. Fruits and seeds left on flowers and shrubs are a crucial food source that sustains many songbirds during the winter, including goldfinches, jays and chickadees. Providing winter habitats for our native birds and insects is just as important as providing food and shelter during the spring and summer."

With about 80 per cent of Canadians now living in towns and cities, backyard biodiversity is becoming increasingly important. "One of the biggest opportunities to improve the health of nature in urban areas is through the collective action we can all take in our yards," says Kraus.

Encouraging and learning about nature around our homes can also help build a connection to our natural world."There is growing evidence that having a relationship with nature is critical for our health and well-being," savs Rebekah Neufeld, Acting Science Manager for the Manitoba Region. "As Canadians, we have some of the planet's last areas of wilderness, but for many of us and our children, finding that connection to nature starts at home."

Metis Federation to invest in housing in Selkirk

By Katelyn Boulanger

The Manitoba Metis Federation held the official groundbreaking ceremony for their housing initiative project at 911 Vaughan Avenue in Selkirk on Oct. 7.

"I would like to commend the president of the Manitoba Metis Federation David Chartrand and Minister Will Goodon because what you see is the groundbreaking today but the work that comes beforehand is tremendous," said Mona Buors, MMF Minister of Metis Child & Family Services at the ceremony.

This project will see five houses being built each with three bedrooms and attached garages. Each house will be 1,112 square feet with fully finished basements and will see an investment of $2.1 million by the MMF.

"Whenever I come to one of these [events]. I know that it's going to be a boon for the economy and a boon for the MMF. Families are going to enjoy these houses for generations to come and that's so important," said Selkirk's Mayor Larry Johannson.

He commended previous builds that the MMF have done in the community north of Manitoba Ave. and said that this new location was the perfect area of Selkirk for this type of build because of how close Vaughan Ave. is to the new regional hospital, the library, and the west end shopping complex. MMF President Chartrand also spoke at the event saying that this project wouldn't be the last as he intends to invest more in Selkirk with hopes that it will benefit everyone in the community.

"Anybody who has a house is going to buy a lawnmower, they're going to buy new furniture, they're going to buy new televisions and things for their homes so let's make sure they buy from here," said Chartrand.

MMF's Housing & Property Management Minister Will Goodon wanted to make sure to thank the people that made this project possible while also talking about what this project will bring to the community.

"I want to say that you to our team because our Metis contractors, the people that are going to continue to do this work for us and who have worked for us for the past few years continue to do excellent work and that is one of the things that we need to focus on as well is the employment that is going to be coming out of this," said Goodon.

"The MMF families that are fortunate enough to move into these homes are going to enjoy them," said Johannson.

The project is scheduled for completion in the early summer of 2021.

How to transition from natural teeth to dentures

BY ELISHA VANDOR www.vandordenturecentre.com

Do you find yourself hiding your smile from unsightly and/or decaying natural teeth? If yes, then it might be time to replace one, some, or all of your teeth. So, where do you go from here? Well, let me answer that question for you!

Once you know or have received information that you'll be needing all or some of your teeth extracted; the first step is to contact us for a free consultation to talk with our Denturists Brock or Matthew about how we can help get your smile back.

Getting dentures put in the same day the teeth are pulled is possible! Actually, it really is a preference based on the individual. Some like to wait until the extraction site is healed before they get dentures and some like to have dentures right away. For the latter preference, having a denture on the same day has some great benefits:

- 1. You can smile!
- 2. You can eat!
- 3. The denture(s) act like a bandaid[™] over the extraction site helping the gums heal.

When replacing your teeth immediately, you'll need a denture that's crafted a bit differently from a regular denture. The dentures are called immediate dentures. It's pretty simple to remember because they go in IM-MEDIATELY after your teeth are extracted. Of course, this means we have to make the denture(s) before your teeth are pulled, so we need to know as soon as possible.

Once the dentures are in, it's not the end! Immediate dentures are designed to fit over inflamed or swollen gums. As the gums start healing, the denture becomes loose. Maybe one day we will invent a way to have dentures self-mould every morning to the mouth, but until then, we want to see you more often to make sure that you're happy and loving them. So, there's a series of follow-up appointments that are necessary to keep the denture fitting, feeling, and functioning great. These appointments are included in the cost the denture(s)... thank God! At the beginning, we will see you more frequently because the gums are healing and changing. The majority of these appointments are scheduled within the first month and will extend for another 6-months to 2-years. I know what you may be thinking, 'Yikes, two years of seeing my Denturist?!' Not to worry, this time frame really depends on each individual and their gums ability to heal. It is all of these careful follow-ups that really make the difference for patients.

In a nutshell, replacing missing teeth can be a mystery and often daunting for most. There's a lot of options for replacing your teeth too, other than dentures. Immediate dentures are currently the most common and inexpensive way to replace missing teeth. If they're made right, they can work great and look very natural too! For any tooth replacement questions, call us anytime!

Recent Vandor Denture Centre patients reveal their before and after transformations. They went from decaying upper natural teeth to custom designed upper immediate dentures.

Toastmasters welcomes community in new way

Virtual meetings lead to international visitors

With gathering limits set at ten people at a time and social distancing in effect, Selkirk's Toastmasters group is still welcoming new members to learn leadership skills while having a blast.

"After a couple of meetings that we'd missed, we're pretty innovative people us Toastmasters, we began to feel that we were missing out on opportunities because everyone in our group is working on one of the Toastmaster pathways and with every meeting we missed, we missed a chance to advance on that pathway and we were also missing the fellowship," said Kay Shewfelt Boyd, Selkirk Toastmaster's vice-president of public relations.

Toastmasters is a group that believes that communication and leadership skills take practise and through a variety of fun activities, which yes may include making a speech in front of supportive people, seek to sharpen those skills in its members.

Because of that, they have now had people join them from places like India, Oregon, and California for meetings.

One of the things that Shewfelt Boyd said that she missed the most about Toastmasters was the mental stimulation.

Expert Patient Here to Help!

Susie Schwartz

"SUSANNE, I KNOW IF YOU SAY YOU NEED AN APPOINTMENT, YOU REALLY NEED ONE." - NICOLE, ASSISTANT TO MY GP

How did I earn that statement (and the appointment she squeezed in)? Future columns will cover more, but for now let's start here.

Earn your doctor's trust.

Yes, as patients who want to be taken seriously, we have to put in the work. Doctors can be jaded from people abusing the system and are so self-absorbed they're convinced their problems are top priority. Think: My nose bled in the nosebleed section at the Jets game last month and I need this checked out STAT! (Sigh. We could only wish. Stupid Covid-19.)

Of course, sometimes our problems need be top priority as they might be serious or urgent. Here's how to earn the 'in' with your doctor:

Before calling ask yourself these questions: Is my problem pressing or could I wait for a routine appointment? Is this a question a Pharmacist could answer? Have I had this health issue before? If so, how was it treated and what did I learn back then? Can I help myself while I wait to be seen? Do I tend to overreact/worry over small things or is my norm to avoid the doctor at all costs?

When you call for an appointment, aim for efficiency and list the most pertinent /bothersome symptoms. Not long ago I'd been fighting a UTI and given a prescription. I called in to say four days in of five on antibiotics, I'd felt worse not better. I mentioned ketones in my blood which can fast lead to a life-threatening diabetes complication. Being Thursday, I voiced concern about not getting treated before the weekend. That's all it took. The assistant sent a note to the doctor while still on the phone and bumped me to the top of the urgent list. I got (virtually) seen and re-treated not long after. (Bonus tip: I made a follow-up appointment for the following week knowing I could cancel if not needed.) Being self-aware both physically and emotionally (sometimes we have to dig deep!) and efficient when communicating (they LOVE this!) helps the team (that includes us!) sort out when we should be seen.

Double-bonus tip: Be on time! (Yes, even if you know they always run late. Watch this space for more on that topic!)

And...BOOM. Trust gets earned. Less health stress, yes?

Fishermen reel in season-opening victory

Staff

The Selkirk Fishermen opened their Capital Region Junior Hockey League regular season with a victory.

Selkirk slipped past the St. Malo Warriors 3-2 on Saturday evening at the Recreation Complex.

The Fishermen's Jordan Donald opened the scoring just 4:46 into the contest with a power-play goal.

St. Malo's Patrice Robidoux tied the score midway in the second period but Selkirk's Cole Wasnie replied just 3:20 later with another power-play marker.

Fishermen forward Reece Tessier and St. Malo's Evan Wuerch then traded goals late in the middle frame to close out the scoring.

Selkirk was 2-for-6 with the man advantage while St. Malo was 0-for-8.

Selkirk outshot St. Malo 39-29 as Owen Derewianchuk earned the victory.

The Fishermen are back in action on Saturday (7:30 p.m.) when they visit the Arborg Ice Dawgs. Arborg lost 5-2 to North Winnipeg in its season opener last Friday.

Selkirk's next home game is Oct. 23 when it hosts the North Winnipeg Satelites. Puck drop is 7:30 p.m.

Former Steelers' head coach hired by Spokane

Staff

The Western Hockey League's Spokane Chiefs recently announced that they have hired former Selkirk Steelers' head coach Ryan Smith as the organization's new associate coach.

Smith was previously an assistant coach with the Medicine Hat Tigers.

"We're thrilled to bring Ryan on as an associate coach," said Chiefs' general manager Scott Carter on the team's website. "He checks all the boxes we're looking for in a coach and we're confident he and (head coach) Adam Maglio will continue our organization's strong tradition of excellent coaching staffs. I'd also like to thank the Medicine Hat Tigers for permitting us to pursue Ryan for this position."

Smith replaces Adam Maglio, who was promoted from associate coach to head coach after Manny Viveiros departed to become head coach of the American Hockey League's Henderson Silver Knights.

"After the conversations I had with everyone involved in the interview process, I felt that this was an opportunity I did not want to miss," said Smith."The Chiefs are an outstanding organization with outstanding people and outstanding vision. I love to win and hope to see many victories in Spokane."

Smith boasts five years of WHL coaching experience, including the last two seasons as an assistant with the Tigers. Prior to that, he spent three years (2015-18) as an associate coach with the Swift Current Broncos, the final two under Viveiros, who was then general manager and head coach of the Broncos.

Swift Current won the WHL Championship in 2018.

Before moving to the WHL, Smith coached extensively at the Junior 'A' level, including stints with the Winnipeg South Blues and Selkirk as well as with the SJHL's Humboldt Broncos. He was the MJHL coach of the year for the 2013-14 season with the Steelers.

MJHL announces 2020-21 playoff format

Staff

The Manitoba Junior Hockey League officially announced the 2020-21 CO-VID-19 modified playoff standings and format.

The MJHL playoff standings will be based on winning percentage (three decimal points) for the upcoming season instead of overall points. This will allow for consistency throughout the season in the realistic event that all teams are not able to play an equal amount of games due to COVID-19 or weather-related scheduling implications.

Tie breakers will be decided by overall winning percentage based on games played, head-to-head winning percentage, head-to-head goal differential, and most games played.

The playoff format will follow closely to the divisional structure that has been implemented for the regular season as expected by Sport Manitoba, Hockey Manitoba and Public Health to allow for significantly reduced travel, risk of spread and/or potential exposure between teams as much as reasonably possible.

Series length will be determined prior to the start of the playoffs to allow for flexibility to adapt and for teams/ league to have a better understanding of the COVID-19 situation closer to that time. Buffer time will be applied between each round during the playoffs as has been implemented during the upcoming regular season.

All teams will make the 2020-21 playoffs, which will begin March 19, and the first two rounds will be a divisional format.

Raiders defeat Royal Knights

Staff

The Raiders Junior Hockey Club improved their preseason record to 2-0 on Friday evening.

The Raiders erased a 3-2 deficit with three unanswered third-period goals in a 5-2 victory over the River East Royal Knights in Manitoba Major Junior Hockey League action.

Austin Thorarinson gave River East a 1-0 first-period lead and then Ryan Zalitach made it 2-0 just 52 seconds into the middle frame with a powerplay goal. The Raiders got back in the game with second-period power-play goals from Carter Ives and Kyle Wiltshire just 50 seconds apart. Chase Sobey gave the Royal Knights a 3-2 lead with a goal just 1:19 of the third.

But James Barclay tied the score 1:18 later and then Travis Dech tallied the eventual game winner.

Ives closed out the scoring with an empty-net goal. Ives and teammate Riley Hall each had two points in the game.

Dylan Francis made 30 saves for the win. The Raiders' regular-season opener is this Friday (7 p.m.) when they play a road game against the Charleswood Hawks. On Sunday, they will host the St. James Jr. Canucks. Puck drop is 2:30 p.m.

The Selkirk Record Thursday, October 15, 2020 21 Steelers singing the blues after a pair of weekend losses

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Steelers had a rough start to their Manitoba Junior Hockey League regular season.

Selkirk was outscored 11-4 in a pair of losses to the Winnipeg Blues last weekend.

On Saturday evening, Winnipeg blasted Selkirk 6-1.

"It wasn't the start that we had hoped for but there were some positives even though we lost both games," said Steelers' head coach Hudson Friesen. "We're a young group and it's going to take us a little bit of time here to get things figured out to come together as a team."

Saturday's game was over early as Winnipeg took a 4-0 lead just 15:40 into the contest on goals by Aiden Bruce, Josiah Vanderhooft, Ethan Hersant, and Joe Kraus.

"Any time you spot a team a fourgoal lead, no matter who you're playing, you're going to be in tough, especially against the Blues because they have a really good goaltender," Friesen said.

Brayden Foreman made it 5-0 early in the second before Selkirk's Tristan Thompson scored on a penalty shot. Hughie Hooker closed out the scoring at 18:36 of the middle frame.

Winnipeg was 4-for-11 on the power play while Selkirk was 0-for-2.

"We couldn't stay out of the box and it really hurt our momentum," Friesen said."We couldn't get anything going. By having 11 (penalty) kills in a game, you just can't win so that's something that we're going to have to correct."

The Blues outshot the Steelers 41-33 as Cole Plowman took the loss in goal.

The Steelers opened their regular season with a hard-fought 5-3 home loss to the Blues on Friday evening in front of 228 spectators.

Tristan Thompson

Foreman gave Winnipeg a 1-0 lead with a late first-period goal and then he made it 2-0 early in the second. Selkirk's Adam Ingram cut that deficit in half just 2:13 later but Mathieu Moreira put the Blues up 3-1 with a power-play goal.

Thomas Colter made it a one-goal game at 12:14 of the middle frame before Vanderhooft and Ingram traded goals late in the third period. Ethan Hersant sealed the Blues' victory with an empty-net goal at 18:50 of the third with Steelers' goaltender William Desmarais pulled for an extra attacker. Desmarais, a Sherbrooke, Quebec product, made 32 saves in the losing cause.

Selkirk and Winnipeg will face off this Friday at the RINK Training Centre and then again Saturday at the Recreation Complex.

Both games will start at 7:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, the Steelers recently acquired Thompson, a 2001-born forward, from the Virden Oil Capitals in exchange for the MIHL List Rights to forward Jackson Sirrell and future considerations.

Thompson, a Winnipeg product, scored 25 goals and had 44 points in

112 regular-season games over two full seasons with Virden.

"Tristan is a great add for us," Friesen said. "He brings some experience to the lineup. He's a guy that we know can score goals and he's a great skater. He competes, plays with jam, all the things that we're looking for in our guys. He's a guy that we're excited to have in the fold and we think he'll be a big producer offensively for us."

Winnipeg Avros down Interlake Lightning

The Winnipeg Avros defeated the Interlake Lightning 5-1 in Manitoba Female Hockey League U18 "AAA" action on Saturday afternoon at the Winnipeg tallied twice in the second period and added three more in the third.

Ella Friesen (two), Rachel Gottfried, Trinity Grove, a St. Andrews' product, and Maeryn Rempel scored for the Avros.

Kenady Christensen netted Interlake's lone goal in the third period.

The Avros will play the Pembina Valley Hawks on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Morden.

Royals working hard in practice on the volleyball court

By Brian Bowman

The Selkirk Royals' varsity boys' volleyball team is one loaded with talent this season.

But, unfortunately, they haven't had the chance to show off that talent to other teams.

With no competition currently allowed by the MHSAA due to COV-ID-19, Selkirk has been hard at work practicing for, what they hope, will be a KPAC season.

"No one really is sure what the year is going to look like but the motivation has been really good for a while," said Royals' head coach Jeff Scarcello last weekend. "But the later you get into October and November they have to make a decision because as volleyball goes, basketball goes, and I don't think they would run the two at the same time."

With no games in sight, Scarcello said they have been working on different skills in practice to get each player better.

"But when you don't have that competition to either confirm or deny your success of progress it makes it really hard," he said.

Still, Scarcello really likes the multidimensional talent his 11 players bring to the court.

"We have had good teams most years for the longest time and we've been fortunate with that," he said. "But this would have been one of the top teams that we've had in a while. The experience these Grade 12s have with what they saw last year, it was almost a completely Grade 11 starting squad last year, so a lot of them have in-game experience. All of these guys are multi-talented. We really don't have middle hitters and outside hitters because everyone can do everything. It's a really interesting mix of talent."

The Royals were able to livestream a recent practice to the parents so that they could get their first look at what the team looks like and to watch their sons play for the first time in a long time.

"As much as the kids are missing their sports, the parents are missing it, too," Scarcello said. "They're sending their kids off to practice and they don't know (what's going on). We normally would have already been at four tournaments and played either six or eight league games by now. Parents would come to practice and be at all of those games watching their kids. They're not getting any of that so they were very thankful to be able to (watch the livestream) and we're going to try to do that once a week."

Though your smile is gone forever,

And your hand we cannot touch;

Still we have so many memories,

Of the ones we loved so much.

Your memory is our keepsake,

And we have you in our hearts.

With which we'll never part;

God has you in his keeping, friends in the area held a special place in his heart. But Dad had a big enough heart for everyone. His 6 kids, 11 grandchildren, growing number of great grandchildren, and the rest of our family knew him to be very loving, supportive, and fun, Generous to a fault, and a complete push over, he never said no to anything we asked of him, day or night. He was quick to help us and to hug us.

Dad had many friends. It was a long-standing joke that he could not leave the yard without running into someone he knew and he needed to visit before we went on our way. He worked at the brick plant, Selkirk Rolling Mill and drove heavy equipment in many remote places before driving literally millions of miles in a semi. Owning a small trucking company; Mack trucks were seen in our yard for decades. All of his kids have many truck stories with Pop and he had many more tales of ice roads and highways. Dad could tell a good story and loved to do so over food and beer. He loved to laugh and was always one to do something silly just to get you to smile. Whether it was a joke, a funny hat or a silly dance, he just wanted you to be happy. His smile was a genuine one that he wanted to share. We loved his long list of "Popisms' or little sayings that were always based in humour and usually a little inappropriate. All these traits showed Pop's quiet wisdom; have a good time with those you care about and show them you care.

Above all things Dad loved, Dad loved Mum. He showed it when he loved and it always showed that he loved her. As the decline of dementia overtook Dad in his last years, and slowly took away aspects of his life, his adoration of her remained and shone through. Our family takes solace in knowing they are together again.

Predeceased by his loving wife Joan, daughter Lori, grandson Devon, siblings and parents, he is survived by his children, Bill, Val, Heather, Scott and Trevor, and their spouses and children and their children. Due to COVID event restrictions and the size of our big family, the celebration of life and interment are yet to be planned. Details will be communicated once arrangements have been made. The family would like to express a special thank you to the wonderful team at Actionmarguerite where Dad spent his last months. Their compassion, care and understanding of Dad's gentle nature made these last few months as easy as possible for him and our family, and for that we are truly grateful. In lieu of flowers the family asks that you donate to Actionmarguerite. http://www.actionmarguerite.ca/
